Rationale: As set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code, each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

- Applications and Licensure

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

- (a) The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

Rationale: Improving efficiency and expediting license processing are key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A consolidated report will not provide adequate transparency and detail, given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council shall may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster;

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

(bd) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(ce) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

(df) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

• Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shed some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. This rule, as published, removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The proposed revision addresses these concerns by codifying current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, they could have the opportunity to be issued an emergency license during a declared disaster.

To: "open.records@tsbep.texas.gov" <open.records@tsbep.texas.gov>

My name is Jenifer McLuskie I am a licensed social worker (LMSW) and I am a supervisor of four caseworkers who all work within social services to help undocumented children who have left immigration detention facilities and one caseworker who assists families who have exited family or other immigration detention facilities as they seek asylum in the United States.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Jenifer McLuskie, LMSW (Texas) and LGSW (District of Columbia)

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

My name is Ginger Chun and I am a student working on a master's degree in social work. I am already working in the social work field providing case management and mentorship to individuals experiencing homelessness as well as to families and individuals experiencing hardship.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Ginger Chun

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

(b)(d) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(e)(e) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

(e)(f) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(f)(h) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

ADVOCACY ALERT – Improve the Licensing Board!Submit Comments before May 22, 2020

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) established in HB 1501 (86R) will become fully operational on September 1, 2020. All behavioral health licensing boards – including the Texas State Board of Social Work Examiners – will be housed at BHEC which will be responsible for the administrative management of each board, including processing licenses, managing complaints, and overall operations.

The proposed rules are extensive because they establish all functions for a brand new state agency. It is essential that these rules be carefully vetted to ensure they align with the legislative intent of HB 1501 and preserve the authority of each independent licensing board housed at BHEC.

The National Association of Social Workers - Texas (NASW-TX) along with the Texas Society for Clinical Social Work (TSCSW), the Texas Counseling Association (TCA), the Texas Association of Marriage and Family Therapists (TAMFT) and the Texas Psychological Association (TPA), was provided a preview of the proposed rules and an opportunity to provide stakeholder input at the December BHEC meeting. Many of our suggestions were adopted and are reflected in the published rules. However, several important revisions were not made, including licensure fees.

NASW/TX, in partnership with TCA, TSCSW, TAMFT and TPA, did a thorough review of the published rules and will be submitting a unified statement requesting additional, important changes.

We need your help!

A large volume of comments is needed. It is essential that all licensees review the proposed rules and submit comments.

The proposed rules were published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register.

Please feel free to use the email template at the end of this email as well as any other revisions that you identify.

My name is Susan Harnden, I am a Licensed Clinical Social Worker at the University of Texas at Austin Employee Assistance Program. I serve the employees of the university.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.

2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Susan Harnden, LCSW

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

(bd) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(ee) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

(df) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

(e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out of state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

My name is Laurie Stephens, LMSW-IPR and I am a hospice social worker in the Houston Area.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Laurie Stephens, LMSW-IPR

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)d~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(ef)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

~~(e)~~ For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(g)~~ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. Please consider making the following changes to the proposed rules for the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council

General Provisions SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING §881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council (b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council must may only also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns. (d) (pick up from notebook)

Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance. As proposed, §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. Replacing “must also” with “may only” reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent. • Complaints and Enforcement

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS §884.12 Complaint Disposition. (c) The Council shall may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council shall may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule. Rationale: As set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code, each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays. • Applications and Licensure

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS §882.9. Established Application Processing Time (a) The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis. Rationale: Improving efficiency and expediting license processing are key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A consolidated report will not provide adequate transparency and detail, given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category. SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY

TEMPORARY LICENSE §882.70. Emergency Temporary License. (a) For purposes of this section, the term “good standing” means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration. (a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if: (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state. (c) The Council shall may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if: (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster; (2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and (3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below. (bd) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first. (ce) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor. (df) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must: (1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and (2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing. (e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term “good standing” means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration. (g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date. (fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must: (1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client; (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules. (gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license. • Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shed some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. This rule, as published, removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The proposed revision addresses these concerns by codifying current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, they could have the opportunity to be issued an emergency license during a declared disaster.

The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

Good afternoon,

My name is Natalie Beck and I am a Licensed Clinical Social Worker and Board-Approved Supervisor. I am a social work professor at a university here in Austin.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Natalie Beck

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

~~(a)~~ For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(bd)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(ef)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

~~(e)~~ For purposes of subsection ~~(d)~~ of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(g)~~ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

Suggested Comments on BHEC Rules

- General Provisions

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20

Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

(d) (pick up from notebook)

Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance. As proposed, §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. Replacing “must also” with “may only” reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

- Complaints and Enforcement

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12

Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

Rationale: As set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code, each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

- Applications and Licensure

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9.

Established Application Processing Time

(a) The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

Rationale: Improving efficiency and expediting license processing are key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A consolidated report will not provide adequate transparency and detail, given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

- (a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.
- (a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:
 - (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.
- (c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:
 - (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster;
 - (2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and
 - (3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.
- (bd) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.
- (ee) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.
- (df) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:
 - (1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and
 - (2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~
- (e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(h) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

- (1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;
- (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
- (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(i) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shed some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. This rule, as published, removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The proposed revision addresses these concerns by codifying current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, they could have the opportunity to be issued an emergency license during a declared disaster.

The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may ~~only also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Diane M. Benefiel and I am a licensed clinical social worker with supervision. I work at a psychiatric hospital in an inpatient unit. I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Diane M. Benefiel

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

• Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council shall may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

(bd) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(ce) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

(df) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. I also bring to your attention that social worker's salaries are not adequate so any increase in licensing rates impact the decisions of trained social workers to remain in the profession as opposed to entering another sector of employment for better pay.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

~~(e)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:~~

~~(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and~~

~~(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.~~

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

~~(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;~~

~~(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster~~

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(bd)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(df)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

- (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
- (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.
- (g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

To: "open.records@tsbep.texas.gov" <open.records@tsbep.texas.gov>

My name is Elizabeth Hummert and I am a Licensed Clinical Social Worker.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Hummert

LCSW - Supervisor #40267

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

~~(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

Comments on BHEC Rules

• General Provisions

SUBCHAPTER B - RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance. As proposed, §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

• Complaints and Enforcement

SUBCHAPTER B - INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council shall ~~may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council shall ~~may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

Rationale: As set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code, each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

• Applications and Licensure

SUBCHAPTER A - LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

(a) The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

Rationale: Improving efficiency and expediting license processing are key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A consolidated report will not provide adequate transparency and detail, given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

My name is Emma Taylor and I am an LCSW. I work as a therapist for children and adolescents with chronic illnesses, and I am also a faculty member and lecturer in an MSW program.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

~~(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

~~(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:~~

~~(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and~~

~~(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.~~

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

~~(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;~~

~~(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster~~

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(ef)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

To: "open.records@tsbep.texas.gov" <open.records@tsbep.texas.gov>

Good afternoon,

My name is Ann Marie Haney, and I am a licensed clinical social worker. I provide outpatient behavioral health services at Hope Clinic, a Federally Qualified Health Center in Waxahachie, TX. We serve patients regardless of their ability to pay, providing increased access to care for our community.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Ann Marie Haney, LCSW

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURESUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS*§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

- a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

- (a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.
- (a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:
- (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.
- (c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:
- (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster
 - (2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and
 - (3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.
- (b d) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.
- (e e) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.
- (e f) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:
- (1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and
 - (2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.
- (e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~
- (g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.
- (f h) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

- (1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;
 - (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
 - (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.
- (g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

My name is Linda Knewton and I am a licensed clinical social worker employed at The Menninger Clinic in Houston. We serve patients with psychiatric illness.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature is a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Linda Knewton, LCSW

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURESUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS*§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. ~~These~~ figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

~~(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

~~(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:~~

~~(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and~~

~~(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.~~

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

~~(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;~~

~~(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster~~

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(e)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(d)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensee, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

(e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) _____ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

- (1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;
- (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
- (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Shannon Huggins and I am a licensed clinical social worker and supervisor in private practice where I treat children and families as well as adults with psychiatric illness. I appreciate being able to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use this opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all social workers in the state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help social work professionals meet the many needs of Texans, especially during the time of COVID-19.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points.

1) BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License - COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing.

2) Licensing Rates - It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate has increased. Social workers already struggle with immense backlogs and delays with licensing applications and renewals. As rates have increased, board responsiveness to critical licensing needs has decreased. I ask that BHEC rules keep social work licensing rates unchanged.

Thank you for allowing me to provide feedback on the BHEC rules. I look forward to working together to improve board processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,
Shannon Huggins, LCSW-S, BCD

Suggested Comments on BHEC Rules

- General Provisions

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

(d) (pick up from notebook)

Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance. As proposed, §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. Replacing “must also” with “may only” reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

- Complaints and Enforcement

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council shall ~~may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council shall ~~may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

Rationale: As set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code, each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

- Applications and Licensure

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

(a) The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

Rationale: Improving efficiency and expediting license processing are key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A consolidated report will not provide adequate transparency and detail, given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

- (a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.
- ~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:
 - (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.
- (c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:
 - (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster;
 - (2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and
 - (3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.
- ~~(b)(d)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.
- ~~(c)(e)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.
- ~~(d)(f)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:
 - (1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and
 - (2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~
- (e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(h) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

- (1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;
- (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
- (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(i) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shed some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. This rule, as published, removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The proposed revision addresses these concerns by codifying current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, they could have the opportunity to be issued an emergency license during a declared disaster.

Deeter, Anastasia L. <aldeeter@texaschildrens.org>
To: "open.records@tsbep.texas.gov" <open.records@tsbep.texas.gov>

Thu, May 7, 2020 at 11:33 AM

Good morning,

My name is Anastasia Deeter and I am a Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW). For the past five years I have worked at Texas Children's Hospital providing services to children and families. In my role I often provide crisis intervention, supportive counseling, psychosocial education, case management, and complete a variety of assessments. I also serve on our leadership team and assist with ensuring best patient practices, as well as coordinate all of our social work internship opportunities. In addition, I also serve as a Board Approved Clinical Supervisor.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommended and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points.

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID 19 has shown that social work licensure across states can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing rates – it is incredibly disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. For instance, I have one supervisee who is still waiting to hear back from the board on acknowledgement of their completion of LCSW supervision and approval to sit for their exam; it has been nearly four months. The students I work with often report it taking between two to six months, four months appearing to be average, to receive approval to sit for their LMSW examinations. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any changes to show for it. If I am to read the proposed rules correctly, I can assume that my renewal rates as an LCSW-Supervisor will increase by $113 per renewal period, that is over $55 increase per year. We ask that the BHEC rules to keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Anastasia

SUBCHAPTER A- License Applications

882.9. Established Application Processing Time

A. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of the periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- a. Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G- Emergency Temporary License

882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a-b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) The Governor declares a disaster under Government Code 418.014; and

(2) The person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) the Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) The Governor declares a disaster under Government Code 418.014;

(2) The person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under 418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with the Government Code 418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(3) The Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(4) The applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b d)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(e e)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work with in the disaster designated by the governor.

~~(d f)~~ to be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) Submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

~~(2)~~ Submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in another jurisdiction and the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(f h) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) Display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiation services with a patient or client;

(2) Provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) Comply with all other applicable Council rules.

~~(g i)~~ There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light on appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language referring to practical agency discretion is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicting with Government Code 418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying the license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, the BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B- Investigation and disposition of complaints

884.12 Complaint Disposition

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care of ethical practice showed by the licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in 507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practices required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standard therefore must be required to consult with member boards when these issues arise in context of enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays. _

881.20- Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each separate member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns

Rationale: 507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance. As proposed 881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as the legislative intent.

My name is Ronald W. Prieto and I am a Licensed Clinical Social Worker. I have just retired my position as Director of Case Management from an acute inpatient physical rehabilitation hospital, which I held for the past 20 years. Prior to that, I had ten years experience working in both inpatient and outpatient psychiatric settings. I began my work experiences before there was any licensure by the state of Texas. Thus, I am keenly aware of the need of having an efficient licensing board who is aware of the functions and scope of services for social workers.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Ronald W. Prieto, LCSW

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURESUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS*§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)~~ (d) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(e)~~ (e) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(f)~~ (f) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(f)~~ (h) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying ~~would~~-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes ~~would~~ require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

~~(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;~~

~~(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster~~

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)d~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(ef)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

- (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
- (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.
- (g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may ~~only~~ also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

To: open.records@tsbep.texas.gov

My name is Tara Ayala_and I am a licensed social worker.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Tara Ayala

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

~~(a)~~ For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; ~~the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster~~

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b d)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e)~~ For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(g)~~ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

Improving the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC)

1 message

Monica McCarthy <mrmccarthy4@gmail.com>

To: open.records@tsbep.texas.gov

To Whom it May Concern,

My name is Monica McCarthy I am a Licensed Master Social Worker. I currently work as a Program Specialist to the Texas Section 811 Project-Based Rental Assistance Program, which provides rental assistance to over 400 adults with disabilities and their households, allowing them to live in the community instead of an institution.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Monica McCarthy

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURESUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS*§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

~~(a)~~ For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(bd)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(df)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

~~(e)~~ For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(g)~~ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: § 507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

Suggested Comments on BHEC Rules

- General Provisions

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

(d) (pick up from notebook)

Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance. As proposed, §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. Replacing “must also” with “may only” reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

- Complaints and Enforcement

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ ~~may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ ~~may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

Rationale: As set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code, each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

- Applications and Licensure

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

(a) The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

Rationale: Improving efficiency and expediting license processing are key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A consolidated report will not provide adequate transparency and detail, given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

- (a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.
- (a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

 - (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.
- (c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

 - (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; ~~the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster;~~
 - (2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and
 - (3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.
- (b)(d) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.
- (e) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.
- (d)(f) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

 - (1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and
 - (2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~
- (e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(h) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

- (1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;
- (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
- (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(i) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shed some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. This rule, as published, removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The proposed revision addresses these concerns by codifying current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, they could have the opportunity to be issued an emergency license during a declared disaster.

For your consideration regarding the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC), I recommend the following changes:

Regarding 881.20, change "must also" to "may only" ; This will better align with 507.153 of the Occupational Code §881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council (b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

Regarding 884.12, Change "may" to "shall"; The member boards are the best source of ethical complaints and have the knowledge of the specific profession. Member boards shall be consulted. I realize this may delay processing, however, it is important to consult the member boards.

§884.12 Complaint Disposition. (c) The Council shall ~~may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council shall ~~may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

Regarding 882.70, Please make the changes as recommended by The Texas Counseling Association, National Association of Social Workers - Texas (NASW-TX), Texas Society for Clinical Social Work (TSCSW), the Texas Association of Marriage and Family Therapists (TAMFT) and the Texas Psychological Association (TPA),

These are all outstanding organizations that support the professions of mental health counseling. Heed their recommendations.

Thank you for your consideration.

Warmly,
Rebecca Lincoln, LPC-S #17816

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Joseph Hartsoe and I am a social work student who has graduated and waiting for my license to be issued any day. My previous experience and future area of practice is working with youth in the school setting to provide social and emotional support with education to enhance their functioning, increase matriculation, and entrance into the Texas society as contributing members to our communities.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. Our profession continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. I ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.
 1. The renewal fee on LMSW/LCSW licenses is of particular concern when compared to the renewal fee of LPC's. LMSW practitioners do not have the same independent practice authority as LPC holders but yet, your proposed plan outlines that the two be charged the same rate for their license renewal each cycle.
 2. Further, it is unfortunate to see that LCSW practitioners are required to pay more than LPCs for their license renewal. LCSW's traditionally offer comparable services in psychotherapy and independent practice authority, yet, the board's current proposal state that LCSW's be charged more for their license renewal compared to their LPC colleagues.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Joseph Hartsoe

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(bd)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(df)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another

jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

(e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) _____ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

(c) The Council shall ~~may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council shall ~~may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONSSUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING*§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

Coalition Comments on Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council DRAFT RULES

The mental health professional associations listed above represent Licensed Marriage and Family Therapists, Licensed Professional Counselors, Psychologists and Social Workers. The comments herein reflect our collective efforts to ensure the successful launch and functioning of the newly created Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC).

We appreciate the legislative leadership and thoughtful emphasis on strengthening the mental health infrastructure in Texas and applaud the many hours of implementation work in connection with establishing a well-functioning and responsive BHEC. BHEC is an innovative strategy to create operational efficiencies while maintaining the integrity of the respective member boards' appropriate regulatory authority over what makes each mental health professional licenses unique. The regulatory authority delegated to BHEC is explicitly limited to establishing operational efficiencies and ensuring that any rule promulgated by a member board does not violate federal antitrust laws by limiting competition or impacting prices charged by persons engaged in a profession or business the executive council regulates. This ensures active state supervision while protecting the state's sovereign immunity.

Our associations appreciate the opportunity to participate both informally and formally in the process to adopt the rules that will govern BHEC's operating procedures and relationship with our respective licensing boards. Many of the proposed rules reflect the comments and recommendations delivered by us at your last meeting, but there are additional rules we would respectfully submit for your consideration, such as those allowing for emergency licenses, that reflect the current health crisis and should provide for a much swifter state response in the future.

We welcome your favorable consideration and encourage the agency to adopt the language recommendations listed below to ensure the rules as finally adopted are consistent with Chapter 507 of the Texas Occupations Code, as well as current and best practices.

Applications and Licensure

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

- (a) The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating BHEC is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

- (a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.
- (a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:
 - (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.
- (c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:
 - (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster;
 - (2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and
 - (3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.
- (bd) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.
- (ee) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.
- (df) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:
 - (1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

- (2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~
- (e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~
- (g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.
- (fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:
 - (1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;
 - (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
 - (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.
- (gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shed some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The published language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested new language addresses these concerns by codifying current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

Complaints and Enforcement

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12

Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. BHEC does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

General Provisions

SUBCHAPTER A – GENERAL PROVISIONS: Add a new §881.14 as follows:

§881.14 Impartiality and Non-discrimination

(a) The BHEC board members will make decisions in the discharge of its statutory authority without regard to a person's age, race, religion, ethnicity, sex, gender, affectional orientation, disability, national origin, or genetic information.

(b) Any BHEC board member who is unable to be impartial in the determination of disciplinary action against a licensee or who is determined to have a conflict of interest as set forth in §881.5 will declare this to the board and will not participate in any board proceedings involving that licensee.

(c) A person needing accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act (42 U.S.C. §12101 et seq.) in order to access BHEC board services must request reasonable accommodations in writing and may be required to provide verification of the person's disability and recommendations for appropriate accommodations from a medical, mental health, rehabilitation, or educational professional or specialist qualified to make such recommendations.

Rationale: Each of the member boards housed at BHEC have similar language currently in their rules. It appears that due to the role BHEC has in issuing licenses and administering the complaint process, those specific rules are being removed as the individual member boards propose rules changes to align with HB 1501 and the creation of BHEC. These protections, however, should be maintained by BHEC. We anticipate that the omission of this important language is an oversight since these rules were developed prior to the rule reviews undertaken by the individual member boards.

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

(d) Member boards must submit a new draft rule or rule change to the Council for consideration by submitting a draft of the rule with any deletions crossed through and additions underlined. The draft must also contain each of the notice components required in a preamble (e.g. §2001.024 of the Government Code) when proposing a new rule or rule change to the Council, member boards must also submit any information or comments received from the public in connection with the proposed rule. The Council shall limit its review of proposed rules to questions regarding anticompetitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by BHEC only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed, §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words “must also” implies that the authority of BHEC to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing “must also” with “may only” reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

Dear Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council staff,

I am writing to provide feedback on the recently proposed rule. By way of background, I am a Licensed as a Professional Counselor, although in addition to my Master's in Counseling I also hold a Doctorate in Social Work. Having studied in multiple professional disciplines I appreciate the challenge that BHEC has in working with member boards of different backgrounds. After beginning my career with Child Protective Services I transitioned to working for Dallas County Family Court Services providing child custody evaluations and other services. Although I have transitioned from public service to private practice, over the last two decades I have focused on forensic mental health services. In that time I have published articles in academic and professional journals and amongst my academic work I serve on the Editorial Boards of the journal Family Court Review and the Journal of Family Trauma, Child Custody & Child Development. Locally, I have worked with the Family Law Foundation to help draft and pass various pieces of legislation that impact Texas families, including various revisions of Section 107, Subchapter D of the Texas Family Code regarding child custody and adoption evaluations. Thanks to more than a decade of work by the family law and mental health communities, Texas has some of the most rigorous laws in the nation regarding to professional practices and requirements for evaluations.

I appreciate this opportunity to share my thoughts and feedback on the recommended changes. I have outlined specific rules below for ease of review. I want to lead off by clearly noting that I support the passage of these rules, and my feedback is intended to build constructively from what has been proposed. It is critical to both licensees and the public that these initial rules be passed in a timely manner; hopefully my feedback is helpful as future iterations develop, refine, and improve regulations for behavioral health professionals in Texas.

From the Texas Register, April 24,2020 issue:

§882.1 "Application process" subsection (3) proposes standards regarding application timeframes that give concern for arbitrary differences drawn between member board types. There appears to be no explanation in the proposed rules as to why one of the licensee types is given only 90 days to complete applications, where the other licensee types have one year. It appears best that there be a single administrative standard regarding application timeframes provides equitable treatment of licensees from all member boards.

§882.30 “Display of License” subsection (b) proposes different standards regarding licensees of different member boards. This again causes concern regarding disparate treatment without any apparent explanation in the proposed rules as to why two of the licensee types may meet this requirement through an alternative method, but the licensees of the other two member boards cannot. As with the issue noted above, it again appears best if there was a single administrative standard applicable toward all licensees.

§882.32. “Duty to Update Name and Address” subsection (a) appears to require a licensee to be responsible for ensuring adequate record keeping for the licensing boards and Executive Council. It has been my experience that member boards seem to struggle to track submissions and process administrative paperwork in a timely fashion. To more clearly reflect the apparent intent of this rule it should be modified for the last sentence to read “It is the responsibility of the individual to provide agency the correct contact information for that individual.” A licensee can demonstrate they have provided information, they cannot make sure the agency does the right thing with it.

§882.36. “Compliance with State and Federal Law” seems to omit Family Code Chapters 104 and 107, both of which have provisions applicable to licensees of all member boards. While such forensic services are rarer, all licensees should be required to comply with all laws of the State of Texas. I fear without specifically naming these Family Code sections BHEC may run the risk that this goal will not be enforceable.

§882.50. “Continuing Education and Audits” subsection (b)(1) causes some significant concerns. An audit each month of 10% of all licensees will mean that, across the course of a year, essentially every licensee will be sampled (statistically many will be sampled more than once, with an outside chance some will not be sampled at all). This seems likely to create an unnecessary burden. It appears one option would be for BHEC to instead require annual submission of continuing education information if the goal is truly to audit at such a level. It may be this section was intended to establish a random audit, in any given year, of 10% of all licensees which seems like a far more reasonable process, and a simple edit is required.

§884.3. “Special Requirements for Complaints Alleging Violations Related to Court Ordered Evaluations” is a section that has been needed for some time and I am pleased to see this included. The proposed changes should be adopted, and I am hopeful that future updates to rules can go further in addressing the complex adversarial nature of working with court-involved clients in areas other than evaluative work.. That said, it also appears some of these rules set an overly-high bar in some circumstances for clients who have been harmed by licensees.

In this difficult task BHEC should be commended for taking this first step to protect the public by insuring that competent forensic mental health professionals will be available when needed by court-involved clients. Too often complaints are used as “preemptive attacks” against professionals not because they have committed a licensing violation but because the litigating client is attempting to gain some sort of strategic advantage in court. The cost of such a scorched earth approach to litigation (in time, effort, and expense) drives many competent professionals to avoid any type of interaction with court-connected clients. This has the knock-on result of creating a shortage of well-trained professionals willing to take on forensic work, forcing some clients to seek out subpar providers and the subpar work they perform. In order to ensure the public has access to quality providers willing to work with court-connected clients I am hopeful in the future BHEC will expand these rules to apply to all licensees working under court appointment.

That said, I am also hopeful in the future BHEC will look at expanding the options, particularly under Subsection (f), for client complaints to be heard as I fear what has been proposed currently may be overly restrictive. As someone who has served as an expert witness in scores of hearings, including many cases reviewing the work of court-appointed evaluators, in my experience it is very rare to see a court disqualify or strike an expert after having appointed them. Even when the expert has blatantly failed to meet not just the standard of care, but basic requirements set out in the Family Code and court appointment order, this impacts the weight the court gives to the expert rather than resulting in disqualification. When courts permit an expert to correct a defect by supplementing a report (a common cure when there is a deficiency found) or otherwise mitigating their errors, this does not remove the expert's failure to meet their ethical duty to have performed a competent job the first time around.

At a minimum I believe the language found in proposed 884.5(a) regarding a court finding of violation or other deficiency by the licensee should be incorporated as one of the possible criteria under Subsection (f). This, and other future additions, should maintain a focus on the appropriate primary location for litigants to address issues with experts – the court where their case is being heard – while providing better options to protect the public when there is a true error worthy of a licensing complaint.

✓ §884.12 “Complaint Disposition” is section I believe should be modified to require that BHEC shall solicit input from its member boards, rather than “may” do so. §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code, each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. From my understanding, BHEC was not developed to have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards, and I believe therefore must be required to consult with the member boards regarding such issues.

I again appreciate all your hard work and effort on behalf of the citizens of Texas and those of us licensed to serve them. Even if my suggested revisions are not immediately possible, I encourage BHEC to pass the rules as drafted and implement updates in a subsequent iterations.

Sincerely,

Comments on BHEC Proposed Rules_04.24.20.docx

• General Provisions

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

(d) (pick up from notebook)

Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance. As proposed, §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. Replacing “must also” with “may only” reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

• Complaints and Enforcement

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

Rationale: As set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code, each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

• Applications and Licensure

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.6 Limitations on Number of Examination Attempts

~~(a) An applicant may take an examination administered or required by the Council no more than three times. Failure to pass an examination subject to this rule within three attempts, will result in an automatic denial of an application. The number of examination attempts allowed for applicants will be determined by the member board authorized to set those requirements.~~

Rationale: The examination required for each specific licensure are created using independent norming groups and have varied difficulty levels and expected pass rates. Consequently, each independent licensing board should retain the right to set rules regarding the number of times licensees are allowed to sit for the exams before they are denied application and therefore entrance into the field.

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

(a) The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

Rationale: Improving efficiency and expediting license processing are key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A consolidated report will not provide adequate transparency and detail, given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster;

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)~~ (d) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(c)~~ (e) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(d)~~ (f) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

~~(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

• Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shed some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. This rule, as published, removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The proposed revision addresses these concerns by codifying current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, they could have the opportunity to be issued an emergency license during a declared disaster.

The 61 % increase in license renewal fees is excessive, a 25% increase would be more appropriate (107.00). Current renewal for LMSW is $86.00 and proposed rates are $ 141.00.

All other changes proposed seem in line with current practices.

Thanking you in advance for reviewing my comments.

In reviewing the proposed rule changes for the newly established BHEC I noticed that Psychologists are required to pay $412 per biennium where LPAs pay $230, LPCs pay $106, LCSWs and LMSWs pay $106, LMFTs pay $136. Im concerned that psychologists are paying disproportionately more for to fund BHEC despite being the minority of licensees under BHEC. I'm concerned this can have a particularly inequitable impact in small business run by Psychologists, who are already impacted more due to COVID19 than other behavioral health providers due to the fact that only we are trained and required to perform many assessments and testing that require in-person examination. Please consider reviewing this issue-

In the Texas Register, the proposed rules for BHEC note Mr. Spinks determined no additional economic costs for the first 5 years. However, licensure fees for psychologists are substantially disproportionate and have a negative impact on every psychologist in practice in Texas. Psychologists are required to pay $412 per biennium with upwards of $200 for specialty certification in comparison to: LPAs $230, LPCs $106, LCSWs and LMSWs $106, and LMFTs $136.

Why are psychologists paying disproportionately more for to fund BHEC when we are an extreme numerical minority of licensees under BHEC? Until the fees are equalized, the proposed BHEC rules do have a negative impact on small businesses by charging psychologists considerably more than other licensees.

Thank you for your consideration.

In the Texas Register, the proposed rules for BHEC note that Mr. Spinks referenced a benefit to licensees due to greater efficiency that will not have adverse economic effect on small businesses. At the same time, Mr. Spinks determined no additional economic costs for the first 5 years. However, I contend that the licensure fees are currently disproportionate and have a negative impact on every psychologist in practice in Texas. Psychologists are required to pay $412 per biennium where LPAs pay $230, LPCs pay $106, LCSWs and LMSWs pay $106, LMFTs pay $136. Why are psychologists paying disproportionately more for to fund BHEC when we are an extreme numerical minority of licensees under BHEC? I think that everyone paying the same fees to fund BHEC and our various Boards is an equitable measure that should be instituted. Until the fees are equalized, the proposed BHEC rules do have a negative impact on small businesses by charging psychologists considerably more than other licensees.

Mr. Spinks suggest there will be no increase in cost during the first five years. So why is the licensing cost going up precipitously for all licenses? Fred J. Hansen, LPC 16694

Comments on Proposed Rules 22TAC Chapter 881.

My name is Janet Finch, PhD, LCSW, and I am a licensed social worker. I have been in practice in Texas since 1982. I am also an LCSW Supervisor and a retired Faculty in the School of Social Work at UT Arlington.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Janet Finch, PhD, LCSW

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

(b) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(e) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

(e) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(f) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(e) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

- ~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:
- (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.
- (c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:
- (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster
 - (2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and
 - (3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.
- ~~(bd)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.
- ~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.
- ~~(ef)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:
- (1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and
 - (2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.
- ~~(e)~~ For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.
- (g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.
- ~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

- (1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;
 - (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
 - (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.
- (g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

My name is Kayla Sohns and I am a licensed social worker in Texas.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Kayla Sohns, LMSW

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(e)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

My name is Steven Parks, LCSW-S and I am a licensed clinical social worker and supervisor.

I specialize in treating children and adolescents with a severe trauma history. I also provide clinical supervision to licensees.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

ADVOCACY ALERT – Improve the Licensing Board!Submit Comments before May 22, 2020

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) established in HB 1501 (86R) will become fully operational on September 1, 2020. All behavioral health licensing boards – including the Texas State Board of Social Work Examiners – will be housed at BHEC which will be responsible for the administrative management of each board, including processing licenses, managing complaints, and overall operations.

The proposed rules are extensive because they establish all functions for a brand new state agency. It is essential that these rules be carefully vetted to ensure they align with the legislative intent of HB 1501 and preserve the authority of each independent licensing board housed at BHEC.

The National Association of Social Workers - Texas (NASW-TX) along with the Texas Society for Clinical Social Work (TSCSW), the Texas Counseling Association (TCA), the Texas Association of Marriage and Family Therapists (TAMFT) and the Texas Psychological Association (TPA), was provided a preview of the proposed rules and an opportunity to provide stakeholder input at the December BHEC meeting. Many of our suggestions were adopted and are reflected in the published rules. However, several important revisions were not made, including licensure fees.

NASW/TX, in partnership with TCA, TSCSW, TAMFT and TPA, did a thorough review of the published rules and will be submitting a unified statement requesting additional, important changes.

We need your help!

A large volume of comments is needed. It is essential that all licensees review the proposed rules and submit comments.

The proposed rules were published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register.

Please feel free to use the email template at the end of this email as well as any other revisions that you identify.

My name is Susan Harnden, I am a Licensed Clinical Social Worker at the University of Texas at Austin Employee Assistance Program. I serve the employees of the university.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

(bd) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(ee) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

(df) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

(e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(e)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(e)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e)~~ ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

~~(g)~~ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(f)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Canning

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURESUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS*§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

(b)(d) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(e) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

(e)(f) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

(e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(f)(h) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(g)(i) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

Hello,

My name is Haley Williams and I am a licensed social worker. I work with college students, particularly those with learning disabilities and mental health issues.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Haley Williams

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURESUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS*§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

(b)(d) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(e) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

(e)(f) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

(e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(f)(h) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(g)(i) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may ~~only~~ also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

To whom it may concern,

Good morning. My name is Mikayla Knight and I am a licensed social worker. I am a Social Services Director at a Nursing and Rehabilitation facility in College Station, serving our community's vulnerable older adults, ensuring they rehab successfully and have a good quality of life as they live in our facility.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.
3. Licensing Times: As already mentioned, social workers experience extreme backlog on the licensing application and renewal process. This delay in timeliness results in loss of income, loss of opportunity, and also loss in motivation to pursue social work employment. We also ask that BHEC address timeliness issues when granting new licenses and renewals, as this directly hurts our vulnerable populations who need social workers.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Mikayla Knight, (she/her/hers), LMSW

Comments BHEC draft rules

To: open.records@tsbep.texas.gov

My name is Rose Mary Rodriguez from El Paso, Texas, and I am a Licensed Clinical Social Worker. I have been working with the Las Palmas Kidney Transplant Center for the last 3 years serving patients who are being evaluated for a kidney transplant or have already received a transplant. I have 40 years post-graduate experience in the areas of vocational rehabilitation, medical social work, and school social work addressing individuals with special needs.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged. I also bring to your attention that social worker's salaries are not adequate so any increase in licensing rates impact the decisions of trained social workers to remain in the profession as opposed to entering another sector of employment for better pay.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely

Rose Mary Rodriguez, LCSW/ C-ASWCM

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(e)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(d)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e)~~ For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(f)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

- (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
- (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.
- (g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying ~~would~~-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes ~~would~~ require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary ~~flexibility~~ to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ ~~may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ ~~may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ ~~may only~~ ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

5/11/2020

Texas State Board of Examiners of Psychologists Mail - Comments BHEC draft rules

In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: § 507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed § 881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

To: "open.records@tsbep.texas.gov" <open.records@tsbep.texas.gov>

Good afternoon,

My name is Ann Marie Haney, and I am a licensed clinical social worker. I provide outpatient behavioral health services at Hope Clinic, a Federally Qualified Health Center in Waxahachie, TX. We serve patients regardless of their ability to pay, providing increased access to care for our community.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Ann Marie Haney, LCSW

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURESUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS*§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

- a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

- (a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.
- ~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:
- (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.
- (c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:
- (1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;
 - (2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster
 - (2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and
 - (3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.
- ~~(b)(d)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.
- ~~(e)(e)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.
- ~~(e)(f)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:
- (1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and
 - (2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.
- ~~(e)~~ For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.
- ~~(g)~~ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.
- ~~(f)(h)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

- (1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;
 - (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
 - (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.
- (g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

(c) The Council shall ~~may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council shall ~~may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

My name is Linda Knewton and I am a licensed clinical social worker employed at The Menninger Clinic in Houston. We serve patients with psychiatric illness.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature is a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(e)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(f)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

(e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) ~~_____~~ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying ~~would-current~~ practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes ~~would~~ require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary ~~flexibility~~ to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ ~~may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ ~~may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

To: open.records@tsbep.texas.gov

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Shannon Huggins and I am a licensed clinical social worker and supervisor in private practice where I treat children and families as well as adults with psychiatric illness. I appreciate being able to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use this opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all social workers in the state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help social work professionals meet the many needs of Texans, especially during the time of COVID-19.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points.

1) BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License - COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing.

2) Licensing Rates - It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate has increased. Social workers already struggle with immense backlogs and delays with licensing applications and renewals. As rates have increased, board responsiveness to critical licensing needs has decreased. I ask that BHEC rules keep social work licensing rates unchanged.

Thank you for allowing me to provide feedback on the BHEC rules. I look forward to working together to improve board processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,
Shannon Huggins, LCSW-S, BCD

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) ~~the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster~~

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)(d)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(d)(f)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e)~~ ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(f)(h)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

~~(g)(i)~~ There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

To: "open.records@tsbep.texas.gov" <open.records@tsbep.texas.gov>

Good morning,

My name is Anastasia Deeter and I am a Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW). For the past five years I have worked at Texas Children's Hospital providing services to children and families. In my role I often provide crisis intervention, supportive counseling, psychosocial education, case management, and complete a variety of assessments. I also serve on our leadership team and assist with ensuring best patient practices, as well as coordinate all of our social work internship opportunities. In addition, I also serve as a Board Approved Clinical Supervisor.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommended and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points.

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID 19 has shown that social work licensure across states can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing rates – it is incredibly disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. For instance, I have one supervisee who is still waiting to hear back from the board on acknowledgement of their completion of LCSW supervision and approval to sit for their exam; it has been nearly four months. The students I work with often report it taking between two to six months, four months appearing to be average, to receive approval to sit for their LMSW examinations. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any changes to show for it. If I am to read the proposed rules correctly, I can assume that my renewal rates as an LCSW-Supervisor will increase by $113 per renewal period, that is over $55 increase per year. We ask that the BHEC rules to keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Anastasia

My name is Ronald W. Prieto and I am a Licensed Clinical Social Worker. I have just retired my position as Director of Case Management from an acute inpatient physical rehabilitation hospital, which I held for the past 20 years. Prior to that, I had ten years experience working in both inpatient and outpatient psychiatric settings. I began my work experiences before there was any licensure by the state of Texas. Thus, I am keenly aware of the need of having an efficient licensing board who is aware of the functions and scope of services for social workers.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE
SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS
§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

~~(a)~~ For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)d)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(ef)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.

~~(e)~~ For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(g)~~ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may ~~only~~ also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than

Dear Texas State Board representative,

My name is Carol Ann Ross and I am a licensed social worker. I work for a small group practice that serves individuals, couples and families impacted by addiction.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Carol Ann Ross, LMSW, CSAT, CMAT

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(bd)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(df)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g)_____An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

~~(gi)~~ There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying_would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes_would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary_flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. Regarding New Rules for the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council

To: open.records@tsbep.texas.gov

My name is Catie Munguia and I am a licensed social worker in Nacogdoches, TX. I currently practice in a public elementary school, and am in the process of completing the supervision and practice requirements for the LCSW clinical license.

I really appreciate the opportunity to provide comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans. It should be noted that current processing times are unreasonably slow, which affects the availability of qualified professionals where we are needed in our state. I am hopeful that this new board will prove to meet the stated goals of drastically improving efficiency of license-related matters

I would like to highlight two important points:

BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion. This has become an extremely pertinent issue in the context of the current pandemic, in which "normal" provision of services has been turned on its head and the need for the services provided by mental health professionals has skyrocketed.

Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Catie Munguia

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURESUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS*§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(e)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

(ed) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(ee) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

(ef) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

(e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

- (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
- (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.
- (gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may ~~only~~ else review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Tara Ayala

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURESUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS*§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(a)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(e)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(d)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e)~~ ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(f)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ ~~may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ ~~may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ ~~may only~~ ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed.

Re: BHEC Proposed Rules, published April 24 in the Texas Register

Dear Ms. Skiff:

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the Behavioral Health Executive Council's (BHEC) proposed rules currently pending in the Texas Register. In addition to the joint letter provided by the mental health associations regulated under BHEC regarding applications, licensure, complaints, and enforcement, the Texas Psychological Association (TPA) expresses concern regarding the proposed fee structure.

TPA acknowledges the proposed fee structure largely mimics psychologists' current fee structure. However, the current fee structure funded its stand-alone regulatory agency. With the creation of BHEC, disproportionate fees are no longer justifiable. Multiple mental health provider groups now fall under BHEC's regulatory umbrella, and economies of scale should have reduced costs. Yet these proposed fees require psychologists to bear a disproportionate portion of the cost.

While the proposed fee structure was not proposed with anticompetitive intent, the proposal will nevertheless have an anticompetitive impact. Requiring psychologists, in some cases, to pay quadruple what other providers will pay in fees disproportionately increases overhead costs for psychologists, which in turn will get passed to the client. Furthermore, the Executive Council is composed of individuals who represent the remaining mental health professional boards whose licensed providers would directly benefit from psychologists' high fees, which would keep their fees low.

It has been explained that changing the fees substantially at this time may trigger Administrative Procedures Act provisions that would require the rule to be proposed again. We do not want to create a situation where the agency is unable to collect fees at the time of its establishment. However, given that this rule would have an anticompetitive effect, result in an administrative inconsistency, and raise concerns relating to good governance practices, we ask that BHEC make the equalization of fees a priority after these rules are adopted. We appreciate the Executive Council's intent to examine this issue in subcommittee.

A copy of this letter will be submitted to the Governor's Regulatory Compliance Division, which has commenced review of this particular rule and is currently accepting public comments. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Jessica Magee

To Whom it May Concern,

My name is Monica McCarthy I am a Licensed Master Social Worker. I currently work as a Program Specialist to the Texas Section 811 Project-Based Rental Assistance Program, which provides rental assistance to over 400 adults with disabilities and their households, allowing them to live in the community instead of an institution.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Monica McCarthy

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURESUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS*§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

(b)(d) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

(ee) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

(df) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

(e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

Subsection 882.1(1) appears to conflict with subparagraph 885.1(a)(1), presuming the "incorrect fee" in 882.1(1) is "returned to the applicant" along with the application.

§882.1 Application Process

Applications for licensure are processed in the following manner:

(1) Applicants must submit for review an official application form, the corresponding application fee, and all information required by law to the Council. The responsibility for submitting a complete application resides solely with the applicant. An application submitted with the incorrect fee amount will be returned to the applicant.

§885.1 Executive Council Fees

(a) General provisions.

(1) All fees are nonrefundable and cannot be waived except as otherwise permitted by law.

Hello,

My name is Monique Rodriguez and I am a Licensed Master Social Worker licensed in Texas. I have recently been promoted to the El Paso Regional Manager as our organization has expanded from Houston to the El Paso community. The clients I serve include active duty service members, veterans, Reservists, National Guardsmen, caregivers, and their families (SMVF). I also serve organizations that serve SMVF from nonprofit, local, state, and federal agencies. We are a backbone collaborative organization that connects clients to quality organizations that can meet their needs. Furthermore, I work on several committees that focus on addressing veteran suicide and have written reports on veteran issues.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

- BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
- Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with an intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Re: BHEC Proposed Rules, published April 24 in the Texas Register

Dear Ms. Skiff,

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the Behavioral Health Executive Council's (BHEC) proposed rules currently pending in the Texas Register.

As a Clinical Psychologist licensed to practice in the Great State of Texas, I will admit to being stunned upon review of the fee structure proposed by the BHEC both for Application for Licensure and for Renewal of Licensure. Having never looked at the fees paid by other mental health professions, I was not aware of the large difference between psychologists and non-psychologists.

Upon looking at the fee structure, the application fee to become licensed as a psychologist is two - three times higher for prospective psychologists than for other professions governed by BHEC. The fee to renew a license as a psychologist is over three (3!) times the cost to renew any other license. WOW!

The fact that this discrepancy has existed for a long time escaped my notice. I (naively) assumed that the mental health professions all paid the same fee to renew a license, and I never looked at what other professions are taxed.

Having seen this discrepancy, I now ask, "Why?" BHEC performs the same oversight for all mental health professions. Do psychologists somehow receive three times the services of other professions? I thought that a central purpose of forming BHEC was to standardize the operations of these professions which should equalize fees. Why should psychologists bear a heavier load?

It is time, at the start of BHEC, for these inequalities to be erased.

Respectfully yours,

My name is Katherine Rosato and I am a licensed social worker.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Katherine Rosato LMSW

§881.13. Conduct and Decorum. (Would strike all three provisions)

~~(a) Persons having business with or interacting with the Council, member boards, or agency staff shall conduct themselves with proper dignity, courtesy, and respect. Disorderly or disruptive conduct will not be tolerated. (This does not define "dignity, courtesy, and respect. All of which, can vary by cultural orientation. This is too vague)~~

~~(b) The presiding officers for the Council and member boards may, in their own discretion, exclude from a meeting or proceeding, a person who, with intent to prevent or disrupt an agency meeting or proceeding, obstructs or interferes with the meeting or proceeding by physical action or verbal utterance. A person excluded under this rule may be excluded for the remainder of the meeting or proceeding or for a shorter period of time as is deemed just and reasonable by the presiding officer. (This restricts a citizen's right to participate based on undefined terms.)~~

~~(c) Conduct or language directed at agency officials or staff by applicants or licensees that a reasonable person would find abusive or threatening is considered unprofessional conduct and may serve as grounds for a Council-initiated complaint and disciplinary action. (Too much discretion to act based on an undefined criteria.)~~

§882.26. Authorized Practice of Psychology Without a License.

(a) Notwithstanding Rule §882.23 of the chapter, the activities or services described in §501.004 of the Psychologists' Licensing Act are exempt from the Council's jurisdiction and do not require a license.

(b) The activity or service of a post-doctoral fellow or resident in psychology is exempt from the Council's jurisdiction pursuant to §501.004(a)(2) of the Psychologists' Licensing Act if all of the following criteria are met:

(1) The person is enrolled in a formal post-doctoral program that is:

(A) accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA) or is a member of the Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers (APPIC); or

(B) substantially equivalent to a program described in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph ;

(2) The activities or services take place under qualified supervision and are part of the formal post-doctoral program; and

(3) The person is designated as a psychological intern or trainee, or by another title that clearly indicates the person's training status.

(c) A formal post-doctoral program which meets the following criteria will be considered substantially equivalent to an APA accredited or APPIC member program:

(1) An organized experience with a planned and programmed sequence of supervised training experiences.

(2) A designated psychologist responsible for the program who possesses expertise or competence in the program's area.

(3) ~~Two or more~~ At least one licensed psychologists on staff, at least one designated as supervisor with expertise in area of practice. A designated supervisor may be the only psychologist on staff. (Having at least two psychologists on staff guarantees no greater learning than one. Improves access to healthcare for citizens if an internship can occur in a program that only has one supervisor on staff and that person may supervise post-doctoral training through creating opportunity for more internships. It does not eliminate the need for the training program to be formal. As originally written, this limits opportunities for post-doctoral training)

(4) A minimum of 2 hours per week of ~~face-to-face~~ supervision. (effective supervision can occur through the use of technology assisted interactions)

The increased costs are of concern: The council is raising the cost across all licensees to cover costs generated specifically by the Psychology Board. The Psychology specific expenses should stay contained within those licensees.

This proposed rule will increase application fees for the following license types: Licensed Baccalaureate Social Worker (LBSW) and Licensed Master Social Worker (LMSW) applications will increase by $29; Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW) applications will increase by $29; Social Worker supervisor status applications will increase by $30; initial Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist (LMFT) associate applications will increase by $29; LMFT by endorsement applications will increase by $31; LMFT supervisor status applications will increase by $30; Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC), LPC intern, and provisional license applications will increase by $31; and LPC supervisor status applications will decrease by $50. This proposed rule will increase renewal fees for the following license types: LBSW and LMSW renewal applications will increase by $61; LMSW advanced practitioner and LCSW renewal applications will increase by $63; LMFT and LMFT associate renewal applications will increase by $11; LPC renewal applications will increase by $41; LPC supervisor status renewal applications will decrease by $50; and Licensed Specialist in School Psychology renewal applications will increase by $21. This proposed rule will create a new fee for the renewal of supervisor status for social workers which will be $50.

Dear Ms. Skiff,

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the Behavioral Health Executive Council's (BHEC) proposed rules currently pending in the Texas Register.

As a Licensed Psychologist in Texas and as President of the Fort Bend Psychological Association, I am expressing our concerns about the fee structure proposed by the BHEC both for Application for Licensure and for Renewal of Licensure. The current fee structure originated from funding its past stand-alone regulatory agency (Texas State Board of Examiners of Psychologists). However, now that Psychologists are subsumed under BHEC, we should have the same application and renewal fees as other professionals regulated by the agency.

Presently, the application fee to become licensed as a Psychologist is two - three times higher for prospective Psychologists than for other professions governed by BHEC. The fee to renew a license as a Psychologist is over three times the cost to renew any other license which is clearly not equitable.

We ask that you review our concerns and adjust the fee structure to be fair to Psychologists.

Kind Regards,

BHEC Proposed Rules, published April 24 in the Texas Register

Dana B. Turnbull <Dana@drdanaturnbull.com>

To: Open.Records@tsbep.texas.gov

Dear Ms. Skiff:

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the Behavioral Health Executive Council's (BHEC) proposed rules currently pending in the Texas Register.

I am concerned about the proposed fee structure. With the creation of BHEC, disproportionate fees are no longer justifiable. Multiple mental health provider groups now fall under BHEC's regulatory umbrella, and economies of scale should have reduced costs. Yet these proposed fees require psychologists to bear a disproportionate share of the cost. WHY???

The answer is clearly anticompetitive intent with an anticompetitive impact. Requiring psychologists to pay double, triple, and quadruple what other providers will pay disproportionately increases overhead costs for psychologists. Psychologists ALREADY have to pay more for school and attend longer with more supervision. WHY CONTINUE THIS DISCRIMINATION?

CLEARLY, someone OTHER THAN PSYCHOLOGISTS will benefit! The Executive Council is composed of individuals who represent the remaining mental health professional boards whose licensed providers would directly benefit from psychologists' high fees! It has been explained that changing the fees substantially at this time may trigger Administrative Procedures Act provisions that would require the rule to be proposed again. NOT MY PROBLEM!! THIS DISCRIMINATION SHOULD HAVE BEEN CAUGHT AT THE OUTSET!!

Still- why weren't the fees of the other professions INCREASED to match the fees of Psychologists?? Then the support of the BHEC would be an equal investment for all licensees. TSBEP was the only board who wasn't BANKRUPT! Wouldn't it make sense to use TSBEP's fee structure as an example for the other boards to MATCH?? How is this not ANTI-COMPETITIVE DISCRIMINATION???

Moreover, why aren't the fees of psychologists LOWER than the fees of the other licensees? One could argue that we have a reduced risk of violation of rules because our education and experience is so much higher! We are already double and triple vetted by our educational and experiential standards which are DOUBLE that of master's level providers. One could argue that because there are only 4,775 psychologists in Texas compared to 53,804 other licensees under BHEC umbrella (20,933 counselors; 5,900 LCDCs; 2,813 LMFTs; 11,134 LMSWs; 4,516 LBSWs; and 8,508 LCSWs among others) we would receive proportionally FEWER SERVICES than the other agencies regulated by BHEC and so therefore should PAY LESS because we RECEIVE LESS!!

Given that this rule would have an anticompetitive effect, result in administrative inconsistency, and raise concerns relating to good governance practices, I ask that BHEC make the equalization of fees a priority NOW. If not NOW, then IMMEDIATELY after these rules are adopted!!

Sincerely,

Dana Turnbull, Ph.D.

Re: BHEC fee discrepancies

From: Jo Ann Formby, PsyD, Licensed Psychologist, joannformby@hotmail.com

Date: 5/18/2020

Dear Ms. Skiff:

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the Behavioral Health Executive Council's (BHEC) proposed rules currently pending and published in the Texas Register.

I am a Clinical Psychologist licensed to practice in the State of Texas. Upon recent review of the fee structure proposed by the BHEC, both for application for licensure and renewal of licensure, I was quite surprised to see the significant fee disparity between psychologist fees and those of other licensed mental health professionals. Upon looking at the fee structure, the application fee to become licensed as a psychologist is two- three times higher for prospective psychologists than for other professions governed by BHEC. And the fee to renew a license as a psychologist is over three times the cost of any other license renewal. The fact that this discrepancy has existed for some time had escaped my notice. Licensed psychologists, and those applying for licensure, are significantly overcharged.

The current fee structure funded the stand-alone regulatory agency for psychologists, namely, TSBEP. With the creation of BHEC, disproportionate fees are no longer justifiable since the purpose of BHEC is to standardize operations of these mental health professions. A logical next step would be to equalize fees.

Now, at the inception of the BHEC, is a good for these inequalities to be eliminated. My request to TSBEP and BHEC is that fee discrepancies be erased and that psychologists' fees be lowered and made equally proportionate to the other licenses regulated by the BHEC.

Respectfully yours,

Jo Ann Formby, PsyD

Dear Ms. Skiff,

I appreciate the opportunity to comment on the BHEC proposed rules currently pending in the Texas Register.

As a licensed psychologist in Texas and a former president of the Houston Psychological Association, I am expressing concerns about the fee structure proposed by the BHEC for both application and renewal of licensure. This fee structure was in place when TSBEP was a stand alone regulatory agency (TSBEP). However, now that psychologists have been subsumed under BHEC, the fees should be brought in line with the masters' level mental health professionals. It makes no sense for psychologists to be carrying the financial burden of the entire group by paying two to three times as much in licensure fees, especially when the psychologists' and TSBEP was the board that has been streamlined in the past by being efficient and not having any issues prior to being forced to operate under BHEC's umbrella.

I would deeply appreciate strong consideration being given to making the fees more consistent among the various mental health groups. Thank you in advance for your consideration of this request.

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Joseph Hartsoe and I am a social work student who has graduated and waiting for my license to be issued any day. My previous experience and future area of practice is working with youth in the school setting to provide social and emotional support with education to enhance their functioning, increase matriculation, and entrance into the Texas society as contributing members to our communities.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. Our profession continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. I ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.
 1. The renewal fee on LMSW/LCSW licenses is of particular concern when compared to the renewal fee of LPC's. LMSW practitioners do not have the same independent practice authority as LPC holders but yet, your proposed plan outlines that the two be charged the same rate for their license renewal each cycle.
 2. Further, it is unfortunate to see that LCSW practitioners are required to pay more than LPCs for their license renewal. LCSW's traditionally offer comparable services in psychotherapy and independent practice authority, yet, the board's current proposal state that LCSW's be charged more for their license renewal compared to their LPC colleagues.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Joseph Hartsoe

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(e)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(f)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another

jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

(e) ~~For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) _____ An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(fh) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

(gi) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying ~~would-current~~ practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes ~~would~~ require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary ~~flexibility~~ to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall may~~ solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall may~~ specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONSSUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING*§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

~~(e)(b)~~ A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(bd)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(ee)~~ An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(ef)~~ To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e)~~ For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

~~(fh)~~ An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

- (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
- (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.
- (g) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

- Rationale: The unprecedented severity and magnitude of the current outbreak has shown some light onto appropriate disaster response provisions for health care providers. The proposed language removes practical agency discretion, is far more restrictive than current practice, and arguably conflicts with Government Code §418.117. The suggested language addresses these concerns by codifying would-current practice, which is to allow out-of-state licensees in good standing to practice without an emergency license. The recommended changes would require a licensee who is not in good standing to seek approval from the BHEC for an emergency, temporary license. This is a practice adopted by the Board of Nursing, and it provides some discretionary flexibility to the agency to allow providers who are not in good standing to practice in Texas. For example, if a provider has a preexisting relationship with a patient who has returned to Texas during a disaster, and the provider is not in good standing because of some minor administrative violation, BHEC would have the ability to provide the person with an emergency license during a declared disaster.

COMPLAINTS & ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B – INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

§884.12 Complaint Disposition.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering a contested enforcement matter if there are concerns about the standard of care or ethical practice shown by a licensee. The Council ~~shall~~ may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- Rationale: One of the over-arching intents of the Legislature was to maintain the integrity and independence of each licensing board in establishing standards of care and ethical practices as set forth in §507.306 of the Texas Occupations Code. Each licensing board retains the authority to establish the standard of care and ethical practice required for their respective professions. The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council does not have any authority related to standard of care or ethical standards and therefore must be required to consult with the member boards when these issues arise in contested enforcement matters. The benefits of engaging each board outweighs any potential processing delays.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B – RULEMAKING

§881.20 Rulemaking by Executive Council

(b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council ~~must~~ may only ~~also~~ review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.

- Rationale: §507.153 of the Texas Occupations Code, enacted by the 86th Legislature, specifically limits review of member board rules by the Texas Behavioral Executive Council only for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency and good governance. As proposed §881.20 (b) appears to be inconsistent with this statutory requirement. The words "must also" implies that the authority of the Council to review member board rules is broader than statutorily allowed. Replacing "must also" with "may only" reinforces and better aligns with the statute as well as legislative intent.

To: open.records@tsbep.texas.gov

My name is Jillian Bissar, LCSW and I am a licensed social worker/social work student. I work with cancer patients at one of the top cancer hospitals in the country right here in the great state of Texas. Our patients are come from all over the country and world to receive care at our facility.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide the following comments on the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council (BHEC) draft rules. I want to use the opportunity to improve the licensing board to better serve all licensed social workers in our state. We need an efficient and skilled board to function at its highest capacity to help the social work workforce meeting the needs of Texans.

Below my signature are a list of specific changes I am recommending and the sections covered. I would also like to highlight two important points:

1. BHEC Discretion re: Emergency License – COVID-19 has shown that social work licensure across state lines can impact whether someone receives timely mental health treatment. I believe that BHEC should immediately grant a license to someone from another state during the time of a disaster and have the discretion to grant emergency licenses to social workers licensed in other states who are not in good standing at their own discretion.
2. Licensing Rates: It is disappointing to see that our social work licensing rate increased. Social workers already deal with intense backlog with our licensing application and renewal process. We continue to see licensing rates grow without any change to show for it. We ask that BHEC rules keep our rates unchanged.

I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback on the BHEC rules and look forward to working together to improve processes for social work licensure.

Sincerely,

Jillian Bissar, LCSW

APPLICATIONS & LICENSURE

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

§882.9. Established Application Processing Time

a. The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum and median times for processing applications by each license type during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.

- Rationale: One of the key features contemplated by the Legislature in creating the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council is to improve efficiency and to expedite license processing. Collecting data by each license type will help evaluate the achievement of that goal and promote the appropriate allocation of BHEC resources. A composite report will not provide adequate and appropriate transparency given the historical delays in the processing of each license type for each mental health professional category.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

§882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.

(a)(b) A person may practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in this state to render aid in an emergency or disaster if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014; and

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state.

(c) The Council ~~shall~~ may issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:

(1) the Governor declares a disaster under Government Code §418.014;

(2) the person has a license, certificate, or registration that is not in good standing issued by any state or political subdivision of any state; the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with of the Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster

(2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and

(3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.

~~(b)~~ (d) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.

~~(e)~~ (e) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.

~~(f)~~ (f) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:

(1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and

(2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice psychology, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, or social work in another jurisdiction ~~and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.~~

~~(e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on that out-of-state license, certification, or registration.~~

(g) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

(f) (h) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:

(1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;

(2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and

(3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.

Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council
via email: Open.Records@tsbep.texas.gov

Dear BHEC Public and Professional Members,

My name is Christy Bradshaw Schmidt, and I am a Licensed Professional Counselor in the state of Texas. I have worked in the field of family law forensics conducting Child Custody Evaluations for over twenty years, and I work extensively as an expert witness in family law matters assessing the work of other Child Custody Evaluators throughout our state. I am also a member of the Family Law Section, and I serve as the Mental Health Liaison to the Family Law Foundation; where we have worked actively to pass legislation that impacts Texas families and mental health professionals who find themselves involved in family law matters.

It is in my role with the Family Law Foundation that I believe provides you with the most helpful information from my perspective in my support of the Council's approval of the complaint process related to Child Custody Evaluations proposed by the Texas State Board of Examiners for Psychologists.

Child Custody Evaluations in the state of Texas are governed under the Texas Family Code, Section 107, Subchapter D. This statute has been in effect since 2015, and it is one of the most stringent in the nation as to its requirements for Child Custody Evaluators to follow best practice in their work with the families whom they serve. This law took six years of work to draft and pass through the legislature, and it was fully vetted through numerous interested parties, including members of the public who had experienced subpar Child Custody Evaluations in their own cases.

When the original legislation was drafted, it was fifty-nine pages, and I will spare you the details of each and every aspect of this extensive law, but I thought it would be helpful to give you an idea of what each portion of Chapter 107, Subchapter D, of the Texas Family Code covers so that you have a clear understanding as to the rules and regulations for Child Custody Evaluators in Texas that already exist. I have briefly outlined each section below:

- Section 107.101 – This portion of the statute provides a definition of all of the important aspects listed in the statute itself.

- Section 107.102 – This section of the statute denotes that a Child Custody Evaluation does not include services provided by the Department of Family and Protective Services.
- Section 107.1025 – This section of the statute details the difference between a Child Custody Evaluation and a Mental Examination as defined in the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.
- Section 107.103 – This section of the statute details when a Court may and may not order a Child Custody Evaluation, as well as what must be included in the order appointing a Child Custody Evaluator, i.e. the name of the evaluator, the purpose of the evaluation, a list of the basic elements required, a list of the additional elements required of the evaluator, a list of specific questions for the evaluator to answer, and a statement that the evaluator is qualified.
- Section 107.104 – This section of the statute provides a detailed description of the qualifications required to conduct Child Custody Evaluations, which are extensive and detailed.
- Section 107.105 – This section speaks to the specialized training that is required of Child Custody Evaluators.
- Section 107.106 – This section speaks to the exceptions to the qualifications to conduct a Child Custody Evaluation to ensure that citizens in the more rural areas of Texas have access to services. However, everyone who conducts a Child Custody Evaluation must comply with the basic and additional elements outlined in their court order.
- Section 107.107 – This section of the statute details the issues related to conflicts of interests and bias and how evaluators are to address these issues to protect the public whom they serve and to ensure that they maintain their neutrality.
- Section 107.108 – This section provides a detailed list of the general provisions related to how a Child Custody Evaluation is to be conducted and how the report is to be prepared. This section specifically speaks to the requirements that an evaluator follow their licensure; follow local rules related to the jurisdiction that they serve; follow evidence-based practice methods; use current best evidence; maintain transparency in their communication with attorneys; verify statements of facts; state the sources of the verification in their report; state the basis for their conclusions and recommendations in their report; etc.
- Section 107.109 – This section speaks to the basic and additional elements that must be completed in the evaluation. The basic elements include the following: a personal interview of each party; interviews of the child or children in question over the age of four; observations of the child in question and the parties to the suit; observations of the child in question, the parties, and any other children who reside in the home on a full-time basis; and the obtaining of information from relevant collateral sources, i.e. schools, physicians, mental health records, Child Protective Services' records, criminal history information, etc. Evaluators must also assess the relationship between each party and the child or children of the suit, and there is a clear statement that if an evaluator has not completed these basic elements (and provided a valid reason as to why that element was not completed), that evaluator may not make a recommendation related to possession and access.

In addition, this section also includes a list of additional elements that the Court can order the evaluator to complete. These additional elements include: balanced interviews and observations with the child or children in question; individual interviews of everyone who lives in either party's home on a full or part-time basis over the age of four; a home visit of each residence; an observation of the child or children in question with all of the adults who live in both homes; psychometric testing; and other tasks requested by the evaluator.

- Section 107.110 – This section provides details about how psychometric testing may be used in an evaluation and by whom.
- Section 107.1101 - This section of the statute provides direction to the evaluator about how to address issues in their evaluations regarding potentially undiagnosed serious mental illness.
- Section 107.111 – This section provides the evaluator the means to acquire the records from Child Protective Services, as well as outlines the consequences to the evaluator if those records are reproduced without a court order.
- Section 107.1111 – This section of the statute provides the evaluator the means to acquire law enforcements records and outlines the consequences to the evaluator if those records are reproduced without a court order.
- Section 107.112 – This portion of the statute outlines how evaluators are to keep records in addition to the requirement that their records be maintained according to their licensure.
- Section 107.113 – This section of the statute speaks to the requirements of a Child Custody Evaluation Report. An evaluator must specifically detail in their report their findings, opinions, and recommendations, and answers to specific questions posed by their court order. This portion of the statute also addresses how evaluators are to notify the Court that their evaluation is complete.
- Section 107.114 – This portion of the statute speaks to how a Child Custody Evaluation Report is to be published and to whom.
- Section 107.115 – This portion of the statute speaks to how the Child Custody Evaluation fee is to be paid.

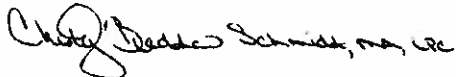

I believe that this law as a whole has helped the families in the state of Texas because it identified for the evaluators, the Court, the attorneys, and the litigants, the elements of a competent Child Custody Evaluation, and it provided the litigants an opportunity to more readily address any concerns in the report through their attorney at trial if their evaluator has not followed the guidelines that have been established.

I understand that you have heard from a number of members of the public who are in opposition to this newly proposed complaint process, but I believe that their concerns about the lack of guidelines regarding Child Custody Evaluators and evaluations have already been addressed in the law that exists in Section 107 of the Texas Family Code. I also believe that it is important to remember that Child Custody Evaluators do not make decisions in family law matters. As denoted above, Child Custody Evaluators are only allowed to make recommendations to the Court after they have completed all of the required elements for a Child Custody Evaluation, but the final decision lies with the parties if they are able to agree, an arbitrator, or the Judge. Any concerns about a Child Custody Evaluation, and especially its outcome, are best addressed with the Court presiding over their case or through the appellate process.

With that said, I am in full support of the complaint process regulations that have been passed and proposed to you by the Texas State Board of Examiners of Psychologists. I believe that these rules allow TSBEP to continue their work of protecting the public; while ensuring that subpar evaluators are held accountable when they do not follow the Family Code, their ethical code, and the orders of the Courts appointing them. I can only hope that the other Mental Health Boards under your purview will follow suit for the benefit of the few remaining evaluators in Texas so that we can grow our field and ensure better availability of these important services to the citizens of Texas.

I appreciate your time and your continued efforts and hard work in these difficult endeavors.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, reading "Christy Bradshaw Schmidt, MA, LPC". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Michael Puhl <michael@myfamilylawyer.net>

To: "Open.Records@tsbep.texas.gov" <Open.Records@tsbep.texas.gov>

I am a former public member of the Texas State Board of Examiners for Marriage and Family Therapists and also had the honor to serve as Chairman of that board from 2012 through 2106. I am certified by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization in Family Law and have been in practice for nearly 40 years. I would first like to thank the Board for their continuing efforts to protect the public.

I submit this letter to urge the Board to support the complaint process for child custody evaluations as drafted by the Texas State Board of Examiners for Psychologists. In my opinion, these rules will simultaneously protect the public while ensuring that evaluators who fail to follow these rules and the laws that govern their work as child custody evaluators will be held accountable.

In contested custody proceedings the court routinely relies on the services of child custody evaluators to provide a thorough and objective view into the lives of families to assist the Court to evaluate the best interests of children. The rules as drafted clarify the complaint process and provide guidance to the litigant for making a complaint. Yet, child custody evaluations are only one element used by the court and the parties to decide very difficult custody issues.

Custody disputes are frequently contentious and highly emotional. Though there are strict statutory rules regulating both the qualifications to serve as an evaluator as well as how those evaluations must be conducted, high conflict cases such as these make it nearly impossible for litigants to form an accurate and balanced perception of what occurs in the courtroom. Even though there are many courtroom rules which allow both parties to thoroughly vet the basis for any recommendation by the evaluator, at least one of the parties walks away with less than what they wanted. This disappointment results in numerous complaints being filed against the evaluators who choose to accept appointments in these types of cases which results in fewer child custody evaluators taking on these responsibilities. It is also financially and emotionally devastating to have a child custody evaluator removed from a case in the middle of an evaluation due to a Board complaint being filed by an unhappy litigant.

As a former Board member I understand that it is essential to protect the interests of the public from inadequate and unqualified mental healthcare professionals. However, in recent years I have noticed that several excellent child custody evaluators have decided to stop accepting these appointments because of the certainty they will be forced to defend multiple Board complaints filed by any party who receives an unfavorable recommendation from that evaluator. The constant stress of defending these allegations together with the skyrocketing cost of defending their licenses make it necessary to abandon their positions as child custody evaluators. As an attorney, I know that the evaluator is frequently the only objective voice in the courtroom. Board members must balance the need to protect the public with the recognition that the role of the child custody evaluator is monumentally important to the process of providing closure to families in these high conflict situations.

For these reasons I urge the Board to support the complaint process for child custody evaluations as drafted by the Texas State Board of Examiners for Psychologists.

Texas Behavioral Health Executive Committee

Dear BHEC Public and Professional Committee Members,

I am a Licensed Master Social Worker in the State of Texas with Independence Practice Recognition. I began working as a Child Custody Evaluator in a rural area of East Texas in 2006. I was contacted at that time by a local judge with a plea to assist the Court in conducting custody and adoption evaluations based upon the lack of qualified mental health professionals in the area. In the last fourteen years, my practice has grown from part-time to full-time in which I serve numerous rural counties and consistently have a high number of cases on my caseload. I find that the need for qualified and competent evaluators continues to be an issue, especially in small towns.

My role as a Child Custody Evaluator is to be neutral and unbiased, in which I essentially function in a limited capacity as the eyes and ears for the Court so to speak in order to assist in providing information that will help the Court in determining of the best interest for the children involved. My thorough reports provide information that the clients and/or parents might not have the chance to share in court, as well as important collateral data, and my evaluations are based upon current peer-reviewed research to aid the court in understanding child development, family systems, and other family law areas involving high conflict families. Although older children are often interviewed by the Court, within my role, I am often able to be a voice for the children, which prevents them from being pulled further into litigation and the family conflict since I am able to interview them in a more comfortable environment at their home.

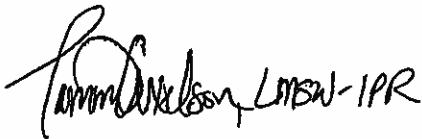

In addition, in my practice a high percentage of Child Custody Evaluations actually assist the families in settling their disputes without proceeding to court, thus reducing the cost of litigation and protecting the family unit from further conflict. Divorce and issues regarding custody of children frequently result in families and children experiencing strong emotions and distress, which makes this field of work difficult for mental health professionals who have to navigate the balance between protecting families while also maintaining the focus on the best long term outcomes for the children. When recommendations about children are made to the Court, it is common for one parent to become distraught and at times outraged with the evaluator because of their disagreement with the evaluator's findings. Often times, this leads to child custody evaluators becoming the focus of one parent's negative perceptions, even in situations in which the evaluator has followed best practices and the Court agrees with the recommendations as being in the best interest for the children involved.

I have found that many mental health professionals, especially those within the field of social work, do not fully understand the benefits of family law forensics and are driven from this area of expertise by the litigious nature of the legal system. The lack of mental health professionals willing to train and work in this field has created issues within our Court system. I am thankful to practice within a state that has specific guidelines that are clearly detailed within the Texas Family Code in order to govern who is qualified to conduct evaluations, the type of training required and all of the specific elements mandated to be performed by the evaluator. The detailed statutes that were adopted in Texas in 2015 have unified the standards of practice for child custody evaluators and resulted in higher accountability for those conducting evaluations. In addition, the statutes in the Texas Family Code protect families from evaluators who do not follow best practice standards. I am truly grateful to those who have lobbied for higher standards for evaluators and for licensing boards and committees who continue to formulate laws and guidelines to ensure that child custody evaluations are conducted by ethical and competent professionals. It is important for our community to recognize that while evaluators have the ability to impact the outcomes for children, a child custody evaluator has no authority to make decisions as this rest solely with the judicial system.

I want to personally thank you for the time you have committed to understanding the field of child custody evaluations and the development of guidelines in the complaint process. It is important that our mental health professionals be held to a high standard of practice to protect the public from those mental health professionals who do not adhere to the statutes in Texas or follow best practice standards. Our state and communities are in dire need of competent and ethical mental health professionals willing to work in this difficult field of practice, and I believe that specific guidelines and processes are the key to acquiring and training more professionals into this area of practice. I fully support the complaint process that has been adopted by the Texas State Board of Examiners of Psychologists and hope that the other boards, such as the Texas Board of Social Work Examiners, will also adopt guidelines and processes that will result in more qualified mental health professionals entering this field while protecting the children and families involved during a difficult time in their lives.

Sincerely,

Dear Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council:

Thank you for the opportunity to provide my perception and concerns regarding the current Psychology Board's child custody evaluation complaint process and my support for the recommended changes which have already passed the Texas State Board of Examiners of Psychologists. I have a unique context of having gone through two Dallas area child custody evaluations in 2.5 years (from the start of the first to the conclusion of the second). These two experiences were distinctly different.

The first evaluation was a disaster, as was the evaluator herself. The entire process (from the first meeting with the evaluator until the report was submitted) took scarcely three months, which seemed quite short considering what I had been told to expect by my attorney. The report was inappropriate and contained extensive information that was not factual. I felt I was reading a report about someone else. This could not have been about me or my family as the information was not based on facts. It was not an accurate picture of my ex-husband or myself. Conclusions were drawn not from evidence (which was submitted), but by stories which were not substantiated. Most of the things my ex-husband said about me were not verified. Additionally, my concerns about him were not investigated, and thus, the report portrayed my concerns as baseless and not so egregious.

I later learned through my legal team that the evaluator did not follow the Texas Family Code. As I am not trained as a custody evaluator, I could not have known this. I do know that both my own therapist and one of the children's school counselors were misquoted. I also do know that following the release of the report, I requested that my psychological evaluation be sent to my therapist. I signed the appropriate forms and called to follow up. More than three years later it has still not been sent. To this day, I am not sure of all the infractions in this first child custody evaluation, but I do know that this report did not comply with the Family Code, as well as this evaluator's ethical requirements.

As my ex-husband is a now proven parental alienator, my children were clearly coached before meeting with the evaluator. Much of what the children told the evaluator was not truthful; however, there was absolutely no follow-up to assess if the information they relayed was factual. This includes, but is not limited to: no third-party corroboration, no checking of records, and no confirmation by teachers or others involved.

This first evaluator asked for personal references, but never called one of these people. She did call my mother and then spoke to my ex-husband's mother, father, and sister (who discussed not only me, but responded to what the evaluator told her my mother had said).

There is also a "story" in the report (referenced two places, pages apart) about the "mother" (implying me) blacking out while driving, hitting a tree, and totaling her car. It was never determined why this incident happened. This event did happen; however, it was not me; it was my ex-husband's "mother" (i.e., my former mother-in-law). Something this simple, and easy to fact check, was inappropriately repeated.

Despite knowing the report was inaccurate, at mediation I followed the evaluator's recommendation and agreed on 50/50 custody. My ex-husband was continually taking me to court. I could not afford to continue to fight (emotionally or financially) as the system (i.g., "the evaluation") seemed so flawed. The decision to agree to 50/50 custody, based on a report that did not meet the standards of Texas Family Code, proved to be disastrous for my children and for me.

Six months after mediation (and a month before our divorce decree would be signed), the alienation had so increased that on the second day of school, one of my children walked into the school counselor's office (different person than mentioned above) and falsely accused me of beating him and asked her to report me to CPS.

This intensified alienation and undermining led to the next eight months of verbal, emotional, and physical abuse against me and my property by all three of my children. My ex-husband's continued inability to follow the decree (specifically in relation to the standard orders not to disparage the other parent, etc.) had catastrophic consequences. He was ultimately granted a TRO against me on false allegations and he tried to get a protective order. The children lied to police, doctors, therapists, teachers, and administrators. Eventually two of my children were sent to therapeutic wilderness programs by the Associate Judge per the recommendation of their therapist and the amicus attorney. Everything my ex-husband was doing he had done before, but greatly intensified.

I expect this description will demonstrate the severity of consequences when a child custody evaluation is not done according to the Texas Family Code. The evaluator performed unprofessionally and unethically. The result was fateful. We are real people and the consequences are grave. The emotional and mental damage the children and I endured cannot be measured. I have spent (literally) millions of dollars trying to get help for my family and continue to fight to undo the harm that was caused.

With that said, it is important to state that the second child custody evaluator and evaluation were remarkably different. Yes, my ex-husband and I now knew the basics of what to expect in terms of forms and interviews; however, it was more than having an understanding of the process. Both the evaluator and the evaluation itself were as I expected and completed within the time frame I was told (which was approximately seven months).

It should be emphasized that I have not read this second report (it is 283 pages and was completed in June 2019) as there is a confidentiality order surrounding it; however, parts of it have been read to me (as is legally allowed) and I heard what the evaluator testified to in court. This report is reflective of our family (people and events are consistent with the factual events that happened). It does describe my ex-husband as a parental alienator who undermined my parenting. It further states he has no insight into his behavior or how that may affect the children. My ex-husband has now taken to vilifying this evaluator. Based on his past behavior, I am concerned about my ex-husband's next steps, up to and including how the evaluator might keep herself professionally safe. (I know that one of the rules for the new complaint process is to have the parent making a complaint provide a copy of their court order, the evaluation, and their final order. My understanding is that my case is very rare in that I am not allowed to have a copy of the evaluation, but I also would have the means to get that information to the Board through my attorney if needed, which in no way makes this additional requirement overly burdensome to the public in my opinion.)

There is one other very important point to make to compare both evaluators involved in my case that I think demonstrates the unprofessional and unethical behavior of the first evaluator. There was a week-long trial last September (2019), after the second evaluation was completed. On the first day of trial I was surprised (and confused) when I saw the first evaluator in the courtroom even though this person had not been involved in my case since she turned in her report in March 2017. Apparently, my ex-husband's attorney asked that she be part of the trial (even though she was not on the witness list). For four days, this first evaluator – a court-appointed evaluator required by law to be a neutral party - attended the trial as part of my ex-husband's attorney's plan for her to testify as a rebuttal witness against the second court-appointed neutral evaluator. I now understand this is another ethical violation. The first evaluator never took the stand, but certainly demonstrated that she was not a neutral party as I expected an evaluator would (and should) be.

I have not made a board complaint against the first evaluator, although it remains an option. I have been focusing on my children and trying to repair the years of damage to our relationship. I believe four years of our lives have been stolen from us. Additionally, I work extra hours each week ensuring that I communicate with my ex-husband, even if he chooses to not respond and to continue to alienate.

I do not think anyone would believe going through a child custody evaluation is pleasant, but the process should be professional and ethical. Of course, every parent wants his or her "side of the story" to be heard and understood. After going through my first evaluation, I realize it is essential to trust not just the evaluator, but also the process. Allowing a poor evaluator to continue in this position with no consequences for unprofessional behavior undermines the entire process. For those of us who are dealing with any kind of abuse, it also gives false hope that our abusers will get help or be stopped.

With that said, I also believe that professional, competent evaluators who follow the law established in the Texas Family Code and who comply with their ethical rules also need to be protected from frivolous complaints made by litigants who do not like the report. Litigants should not be able to utilize the complaint process to have a competent evaluator removed from their case. I believe that the complaint process that has been proposed addresses the issues I experienced in my first evaluation. It holds evaluators accountable when they do not follow the Texas Family Code and the statute that governs and regulates the work they do, which protects the public and Texas families. It also ensures that our competent professional evaluators are protected from frivolous complaints that often come with high conflict families.

Sincerely,

Krista Farber Weinstein

Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council

Dear Council Members:

I am a licensed psychologist in Houston, and I have conducted more than 550 court-ordered child custody evaluations over the past 32 years. I can think of relatively few family experiences that are as stressful as going through a contested child custody dispute. It is undoubtedly devastating to parents when they genuinely believe that the outcome of the litigation is extremely detrimental to the welfare of their children. Furthermore, it can be infuriating if it appears that the outcome was influenced by a seriously flawed child custody evaluation. Clearly, litigants in this scenario are entitled to sufficient recourse and the public needs to be protected from incompetent evaluators.

Fortunately, there are numerous checks and balances in the family law system that protect the welfare of those undergoing a child custody evaluation that are not in place for the recipients of most other psychological services. Custody evaluations are routinely reviewed by attorneys and judges, and in certain cases by national experts in the child custody arena. There is now a statute in the Texas Family Code which regulates the procedures employed by custody evaluators. Litigants have ample opportunity through legal counsel to challenge the professional conduct and findings of the evaluator through cross examination. A litigant's attorney can even challenge the admissibility of a custody evaluator's testimony if they feel proper procedures were not employed or if the evidentiary reliability of an evaluator's findings is in question.

Despite these safeguards, a highly disproportionate number of Board complaints involve child custody evaluations, and I am concerned about complaints of questionable merit that are based strictly on the outcome of the litigation rather than the quality of the evaluation. The virtual inevitability of a Board complaint has dissuaded newly licensed psychologists from specializing in this area, and the cumbersome and burdensome process of undergoing multiple Board complaints has experienced custody evaluators questioning whether they want to continue on this career path. The net result has been a serious lack of qualified evaluators, which is delaying the resolution of contested custody cases by several months, sometimes upwards of a year. This is clearly not in the best interest of these families, both emotionally and financially. The public deserves the availability of high-quality evaluations conducted in a timely manner, and modifying the procedure for resolving Board complaints is an important component of achieving this goal.

I strongly believe that the Special Requirements for Complaints Alleging Violations Related to Court Ordered Evaluations that the Texas State Board of Examiners of Psychologists has approved and proposed to BHEC for consideration address the aforementioned concerns in a manner that will protect the public and resolve these complaints in a much more efficient, timely, and transparent manner. The proposed rules will allow complaints to be triaged based on the information and documentation that is provided. The information that is required in subsection (d) is extremely reasonable and should be readily accessible to the complainant. Dismissing complaints that do not comply with this subsection will be time and cost effective and will allow investigators to focus their resources on the complaints that warrant the most attention. The elements in subsection (f) are an excellent way of differentiating legitimate complaints from complaints that are based strictly on the outcome of the litigation and not on the quality of the evaluation.

Some may view these elements as hurdles or barriers that will make the complaint process more difficult for the complainant. On the contrary, I believe that subsection (f) provides the complainant with clear guidelines regarding the type of supporting evidence that is considered to be important, and element (5) ensures that all legitimate complaints that are factually based will be investigated. Furthermore, the elements in this subsection provide investigators with a clear set of guidelines for how to proceed with the investigation. The entire process becomes more objective, more data-driven, more transparent, and more efficient.

I firmly believe that the proposed rules reflect the Board's sensitivity to all of the stakeholders who would be affected by them, while maintaining the primary objective of protecting the public and ensuring that evaluators who are not following the rules and laws that govern their practice will be held accountable. Consequently, I strongly support their adoption.

Sincerely,

Dear Members of the Behavioral Health Executive Council,

My name is Victoria Harvey and I am a psychologist who has been licensed by the Texas State Board of Examiners of Psychologists since 2012. I received my graduate training at the University of Alabama where I was privileged to receive specialized training in forensic assessments as a member of the Clinical Psychology and Law track. I continued my forensic training in my predoctoral internship with the Federal Bureau of Prisons and a postdoctoral fellowship with the Dallas VA Medical Center. I had the honor of serving our nation's veterans as the Dallas VA's inpatient psychologist until 2016 when I made the decision to return to my passion, which is and always has been, forensic assessments. I currently work as an independent practitioner who primarily conducts child custody evaluations and forensic psychological evaluations for the Family Court and am a member of the Family Law Foundation, the American Psychology-Law Society, and the Association of Family and Conciliation Courts.

As I transitioned to conducting child custody evaluations, I vividly remember many of my colleagues repeatedly asking me if I was really sure I wanted to do this kind of work and noting the lack of practitioners willing to conduct forensic assessments. I finally worked up the nerve to ask the obvious question: why are so few psychologists willing to do this very important work? The response was almost unanimous: board complaints and harassment. Although this letter is not intended to address the harassment piece, I will say that, as a clinician who has worked in private practice, on an inpatient unit and in maximum security federal prisons, doing custody evaluations has proven to be the most dangerous for both me and my family.

I initially brushed off the warnings of my colleagues, but then I witnessed my colleagues receive board complaints even though no rules had been violated. I saw them spend time and money defending themselves against these complaints; time that could have been used helping other families. I was disheartened when I then watched some of them decide it was no longer worth it and either retire or decide to practice in a non-forensic capacity. Others had the decision made for them when their malpractice insurance decided to drop them or reduce their coverage even though all the complaints against them had been dismissed.

The result is an absolute dearth of qualified practitioners willing to take the risks associated with this type of work. Prior to speaking to the Psychology Board in May 2019, I had received a call from an attorney asking me if I was still conducting child custody evaluations. The judge had given her a list of seven names, but only I and one other person on that list (who was conflicted out of the case) were still willing to accept court appointments. Since that time, the list of available evaluators has only grown shorter. I regularly receive calls from counties outside of DFW asking me to conduct child custody evaluations because there is no one locally available to do so. Conducting out-of-town evaluations cost significantly more to the litigants and take more time to complete.

The public needs and deserves to have a reservoir of competent child custody evaluators. Evaluators who do not follow the Texas Family Code or the rules of their licensing board need to be identified and reprimanded accordingly. After reading the changes to the complaint process that have been adopted by the TSBEP, I want to express my full support of those changes. I firmly believe that the proposed rules will help the board identify and investigate the allegations against custody evaluators more effectively by eliciting from the complainant the information the board needs to do its job. It will also no longer allow litigants or attorneys to abuse the complaint process to have evaluator's removed from cases while the case is ongoing; this tactic is unfortunately used when an attorney/litigant believes the evaluation is not going in his/her favor.

I thank you for taking the time to read my letter and I am happy to provide clarification or answer any of your questions. The work child custody evaluators do is grueling, oftentimes thankless, but so important. It would be truly a harm to public should our courts no longer have qualified professionals willing to do this work.

Sincerely,

Dear Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council members,

I am writing in advance of the BHEC meeting on June 16th. I know there will be a lot of information reviewed at the meeting and I hope by highlighting a few issues now, I can avoid adding to information overload at the meeting. I have previously submitted detailed public comments regarding many of the rules that have been proposed; today, I want to focus on the proposed rules related to complaints regarding child custody evaluators. I greatly appreciate the time and effort BHEC has spent to address this issue and to protect the public from evaluators who fail to comply with the Family Code or their licensing requirements. I believe these rules will help ensure that evaluators who are complying with professional practices and helping courts and families will be able to continue this challenging and unfortunately necessary work.

I am a Licensed Professional Counselor who specializes in working with court-connected clients. For over two decades I have counseled and assessed children and parents dealing with issues of abuse, neglect, and other serious family systems dysfunction. My doctoral degree is in Social Work, and my academic area of interest is the intersection of law and mental health, particularly in regard to high-conflict families. I have authored various professional articles in both legal and mental health journals, and currently serve on the editorial boards of the journal Family Court Review and the Journal of Family Trauma, Child Custody, and Child Development. Across the course of more than a decade I have worked with NASW, TCA, and the Family Law Foundation (among others), on legislative updates to the Family Code regarding forensic mental health services which have now placed Texas in the forefront, nationally, in rigorous requirements for courts and the evaluators they appoint.

From both academic study and professional experience, I know how difficult it can be when parents turn to the courts to resolve parenting disputes. This emotionally fraught environment often leads to dissatisfaction for many reasons. The proposed rules protect the public by holding evaluators accountable for maintaining professional procedures, while leaving it to the family courts to address the complex issue of resolving child custody disputes. The rules provide clear guidance to a litigant making a complaint, and direct them to the licensing issues member boards are charged with regulating. The information the proposed rules require be provided when making a complaint are documents that litigants have easy access to, and which will allow investigators to make important initial assessments in order to rapidly address the most critical cases. For cases where litigants have not been able to hire their own experts, or even attorneys to represent them in court, these documents allow investigators to examine if there were violations of administrative rule for which sanctions could be upheld at the State Office of Administrative Hearings. This issue is critical to licensing boards, as their function is not to serve as oversight of the judiciary or legal outcomes in a court case; licensing boards regulate licensees and remediate deficiencies when licensees fail to comply with professional requirements. While requirements in the rules might be expanded in future iterations to include broader issues, a future fine-tuning of rules should not stop BHEC from adopting these initial rules in order to advance regulation of all of the behavioral health professionals.

Thank you again for your time and attention to these difficult issues. I look forward to BHEC passing these rules as an initial step forward for all of the behavioral health professions.

Sincerely,

RE: §884.3.Special Requirements for Complaints Alleging Violations Related to Court Ordered Evaluations.

Behavioral Health Executive Council Members:

I am a Clinical Social Worker, a Mediator and have previously conducted Child Custody Evaluations in Denton County. I am writing in support of the rules proposed for "Complaints Alleging Violations Related to Court Ordered Evaluations" (§884.3.).

Thank you for your service on this board and the job that you do in protecting the public.

The current best practices for conducting Child Custody evaluations is guided by many sources:

1. The state of Texas has a number of laws about who can conduct the evaluations, how they are conducted, and how the findings and recommendations are provided to the court.
2. Some of our professional associations provide additional guidance toward what they see as a model practice. The Association for Family and Conciliatory Courts also publishes "Model Standards."
3. Courts have the ability to, and have adopted local rules to further protect the public during the performance of child custody evaluations. Courts also control who is appointed to conduct the evaluations, further protecting the public.

Despite all of this guidance and structure, I am certain that evaluations are conducted that are not performed well, reports are submitted that are inaccurate or incomplete, and recommendations made that are not in a child's best interest. I have likely done all of these things. Likewise, there has certainly been instances where despite good intentions, the judicial system has failed to serve some child's best interest. I am confident that you will hear about that during this public comment period. Some of those concerns about specific cases have some validity. Some of those commenting will suggest to you that the solution lies with you; that if the board would intervene further into the court's jurisdiction, the public would be better protected. I don't believe that's true.

An evaluator's report is just another piece of data for the decider, the judge to consider. There are myriad rules about admissibility, and each party in the case has the opportunity to present arguments about that before the evaluator's report is ever considered. If it is admitted, each party has further opportunity to cross-examine the methods, findings and recommendations carried in the report. They can present evidence and testimony that collaborates or disputes the content of the report. After hours or days of deliberation, the Judge decides what weight, if any, that data should be given and then considers it, along with all of the other testimony and evidence presented to them. It is only after all of that examination that the court may make a ruling, however imperfect such a ruling may be. Even that ruling is not necessarily final, as it can be appealed to higher courts.

If licensing boards with good intentions interfere in this process, by accepting and taking action on a complaint in the middle of this process, the complaining party may feel better protected. But assuredly, the other parties to the case are not better protected. They have to start the process over financially, emotionally and legally.

You will likely also hear about the imperfection of our legal system and the legislation that structures and supports it. Again, I am certain those imperfections are there. Every two years, thousands of us take to our keyboards and spend hours educating and advocating with our representatives about ways that we believe that the system could be better structured to the benefit of Texas' children. Like the Judge, the legislators have to listen to all of the pros and cons associated with our proposals and then, in another imperfect system, decide to enact, delete, or modify legislation. During this public comment period, some of those comments will suggest to you that the solution to this imperfection lies with you; that if the board would intervene further into the legislator's jurisdiction, the public would be better protected. I don't believe that's true.

Our licensing boards' job is to protect the public, but to do that best, the board does that in the board's area of expertise, which is about professional practice. After the legislators go home and judges rule, it is THEN the board's job to consider if there is a specific licensing rule that was violated and if that violation requires some action by the board to protect the public.

I think the proposed rules contained in Section §884.3 will provide the Council with the best tools for protecting the public, without inadvertently interfering with the ongoing work of our local judiciary or our legislature.

Thank you for your attention to this issue.

Dear Council Members-

I am writing this letter to express my support for the proposed complaint process for child custody evaluations as drafted by TSBEP. As a licensed psychologist since 2009, I provide child custody evaluations, as well as other assessment and treatment for those involved in family law litigation. I am one of a handful of known psychologists who regularly conduct child custody evaluations in the city of Houston and surrounding counties. As you may know, families involved in contested child custody cases make up a minority of the divorcing families with children but utilize a disproportionate amount of family court resources. This population consists of parents who are battling for their children and the stakes are high, resulting in high levels of stress and conflict. These parents can often struggle with mental health issues, substance abuse, domestic violence, and a plethora of other psychological issues, requiring the expertise of a mental health professional who has familiarity with these areas of practice. The children involved are often struggling with high levels of parental conflict and they deserve to have their cases examined and resolved by the courts with the hope that they can overcome their unfortunate and undeserved circumstances. These are the families we serve. This is the vulnerable population so few of us are trained and/or willing to work with, and although we only make recommendations for the court to consider in their final decision for the family, we play an important role in assisting the courts and families. These families deserve nothing less than high quality work from high quality professionals.

I am also a member of a vulnerable population: early-to-middle career child custody evaluators at risk of stopping this work. I was fortunate to have prior experience of graduate school training in custody evaluations, and I was fortunate to be qualified to do this work prior to the statute (Texas Family Code, Subchapter D) being instituted, outlining the stringent criteria we need to meet just to provide this service. I was also fortunate to have gone into this field with the understanding that a board complaint is 100% likely for a custody evaluator. Fear of a board complaint was the reason I waited multiple years before conducting custody evaluations in private practice, and it is also the reason that many of my equally trained peers have decided not to conduct them at all.

Sadly, complaints are only a portion of the stress in relation to this work. We have a demanding job to begin with: we conduct a large-scale assessment of a family in a horrible situation and make recommendations to the court that are high-stakes and have serious repercussions. We must maintain a high standard of practice, not only because we want to strive to be the best we can be, but because we are held accountable by the litigants, their legal representatives, and the courts we serve. We also must operate with the knowledge that one, if not more of our clients will be upset with the outcome of the evaluation. In essence, we must practice defensively and under a great deal of pressure. When frivolous complaints are filed by angry litigants, often disenfranchised by the legal system and seeking justice, there can be an unintended consequence of burdening the evaluators who are doing high quality work.

Unsurprisingly, the numbers of evaluators are dwindling and there are even fewer new evaluators to meet the demand. With so few of us willing to provide these evaluations, there are simply not enough of us to provide quality evaluations in a timely manner. Many of us have long wait lists, contributing to longer litigation periods for these families. Additionally, the dearth of highly trained evaluators leads to an obvious but detrimental consequence of courts and families receiving services from poorly trained or unqualified evaluators. This is a threat to the public.

I have become actively involved in this issue over the past year and have been to multiple TSBEP meetings to make public comments and to listen to those made by others. I have reviewed the proposed rules and believe that they reflect TSBEP's thorough job of reviewing the complaint process for court-ordered cases. I believe these rules will assist in protecting the public and ensuring that evaluators not following the rules and laws that govern their process will be held accountable. I also believe these rules provide important guidance to the complainant to provide more specific information, which in turn allows the board to more efficiently gather data to determine if there has been a violation. Undoubtedly, improvements to the complaint process will pave the way for us to engage new evaluators and provide more services to the public. It is my hope that the implementation of these rules will assist our vulnerable field in meeting the demands of the child custody population while maintaining the high quality these families deserve.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter.

TITLE 22. EXAMINING BOARDS

PART 41. TEXAS BEHAVIORAL HEALTH EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

CHAPTER 881. GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER A. GENERAL PROVISIONS

22 TAC §§881.1-881.13

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §§881.1-881.13, relating to general provisions for the Executive Council. Except for §881.2, the new sections are adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2640) and will not be republished. In response to changes being proposed in 22 Tex. Admin. Code Ch. 681, where the term Licensed Professional Counselor Intern (LPC-I) is being changed to Licensed Professional Counselor Associate (LPC-A), the Council adopts the corresponding name changes in rule §881.2, as a non-substantive change, which is republished below.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rules are needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Sections 507.151 and 507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to administer and enforce Chapters 501, 502, 503, 505, and 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code, as well as adopt rules as necessary to perform the Executive Council's duties and implement Chapter 507. Section 2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures. These new rules are the general framework regarding the Executive Council's operations and the implementation of its statutory duties.

Summary of comments against the rule.

A commenter recommended deleting all of proposed rule §881.13. The commenter believed the rule was too vague, restricts citizen's rights to participate in public meetings, and provided too much discretion for the agency to act based upon what the commenter believes is undefined criteria.

Agency Response.

Texas Agencies have the inherit authority to not only conduct meetings and other operations but also control how to conduct such proceedings. Rule §881.13 insures that all participants, including the agency and the public, are treated fairly and respectfully so that agency business can be conducted in an orderly fashion. The rule aids and promotes respectful participation in meetings and put those on notice that if they choose to be threatening or abusive such conduct has no place before this agency. For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rule with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rules are adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

The access granted under this subsection is limited to official agency business only.
- (c) A request for access to information or records by a Council or board member must be directed to the Executive Director. If the request for access relates to the Executive Director, the request may be directed to the presiding officer for the Council and the General Counsel.
- (d) Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Council or board member may not access any confidential, non-public, or proprietary examination materials if the member intends to apply for or is a current applicant for licensure with this agency.

- 881.12. Statutory or Rule References. Unless expressly provided otherwise, a reference to any portion of a statute or rule applies to all reenactments, revisions, or amendments of the statute or rule.

Conduct and Decorum.

- (a) Persons having business with or interacting with the Council, member boards, or agency staff shall conduct themselves with proper dignity, courtesy, and respect. Disorderly or disruptive conduct will not be tolerated.
- (b) The presiding officers for the Council and member boards may, in their own discretion, exclude from a meeting or proceeding, a person who, with intent to prevent or disrupt an agency meeting or proceeding, obstructs or interferes with the meeting or proceeding by physical action or verbal utterance. A person excluded under this rule may be excluded for the remainder of the meeting or proceeding or for a shorter period of time as is deemed just and reasonable by the presiding officer.
- (c) Conduct or language directed at agency officials or staff by applicants or licensees that a reasonable person would find abusive or threatening is considered unprofessional conduct and may serve as grounds for a Council-initiated complaint and disciplinary action.

CHAPTER 881. GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBCHAPTER B. RULEMAKING

22 TAC §§881.20-881.21

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §§881.20-881.21, relating to rulemaking for the Executive Council. The new sections are adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issues of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2643) and will not be republished.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rules are needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Sections 507.151 and 507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to administer and enforce Chapters 501, 502, 503, 505, and 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code, as well as adopt rules as necessary to perform the Executive Council's duties and implement Chapter 507. Section 507.153 Tex. Occ. Code limits the ability of the Executive Council to adopt rules pertaining to qualifications for licensure, the scope and standards of practice, continuing educations requirements, and a schedule of sanctions unless such a rule is first proposed by a member board. Additionally, §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures. These new rules are the general framework regarding the Executive Council's rulemaking procedures and proceedings.

List of interested groups or associations against the rule.

The American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy

The Texas Psychological Association
The Texas Association of Marriage and Family Therapy
The National Association of Social Workers - Texas Chapter
The Texas Society for Clinical Social Work

Summary of comments against the rule.

Commenters suggested changes to rule §881.20. Many requested grammatical changes, such as changing "must also" with "may only" because they felt §507.153 of the Tex. Occ. Code would require such a change. Generally, the commenters were concerned that rule §881.20 does not appropriately delineate the roles the Council and each underlying board will play in the rule making process or does not align with statutory intent.

Commenters suggested changes to rule §881.21. A commenter requested grammatical changes for the purposes of clarity. Other commenters requested the rule allow for petitions for rulemaking to be submitted directly to the appropriate boards instead of directly to the Council.

Agency Response.

The agency disagrees that rule §881.20 usurps the authority of an underlying board or does not align with statutory intent. Sections 507.151 and 507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code make it clear that all authority to administer, enforce, and adopt rules regarding the regulation of marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers resides with the Council. While §507.153(a) of the Tex. Occ. Code does require that all rules concerning qualifications for licensure, scope of practice, continuing education requirements, and a schedule of sanction be first proposed by the applicable board; §507.153(c) and (d) of the Tex. Occ. Code states the council retains authority for final adoption of all rules and may adopt rules prescribing the procedure by which rules may be proposed to the Council. Rule §881.20 comports with this statutory mandate; and the commenters requested changes to this rule would impose limitations and restrictions upon the Council's review of rules proposed by boards that is not required by the Texas Occupations Code. The Council is required by law to review the rules proposed by boards and the agency disagrees that it should further restrict or limit its ability to do so, therefore the Council declines to make the requested changes.

Because the statutory authority for the adoption of all rules resides with the Council, then it is necessary for rule §881.21 to require all petitions for rulemaking to be directed to the Council. If a petition addresses a subject matter that by statute must first be proposed by a board, then under §507.151(b) of the Tex. Occ. Code the Council may request input or assistance from the applicable board. The Council also declines to make the requested grammatical changes because the rule, as drafted, does not appear to create any confusion or misunderstand to the general public.

For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rules with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rules are adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

The Executive Council also adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts part of these new rules under the authority found in §2001.021 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to prescribe by rule the form for a petition for adoption of rules by interested persons and the procedure for its submission, consideration, and disposition.

SUBCHAPTER B - RULEMAKING

881.20. Rulemaking by the Executive Council.

- (a) The Council shall adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507 of the Occupations Code. When carrying out its rulemaking functions, the Council shall abide by the requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act found in Chapter 2001 of the Government Code.
- (b) The Council shall have exclusive rulemaking authority for the agency, including rules governing general agency operations, administration of licensure, investigation of complaints, and sanction procedures. In connection with this rulemaking authority, the Council must also review draft rules proposed by each member board for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns.
- (c) The Council may propose and adopt a rule governing those matters set forth in §507.153(a) of the Occupations Code if a draft rule has been proposed by the member board for the profession. Member boards may not propose new draft rules or changes to rules except as authorized by §507.153(a).
- (d) Member boards must submit a new draft rule or rule change to the Council for consideration by submitting a draft of the rule with any deletions crossed through and additions underlined. The draft must also contain each of the notice components required in a preamble (e.g., §2001.024 of the Government Code) when proposing a new rule or changes to an existing rule. When submitting a new draft rule or rule change to the Council, member boards must also submit any information or comments received from the public in connection with the proposed rule.
- (e) When reviewing a draft rule proposed by a member board, the Council may:

 - (1) Request additional information relevant to the rule from the member board;
 - (2) Require the member board to conduct new or additional analysis of possible implications of the rule;
 - (3) Solicit public comment or hold public hearings, or alternatively, request the member board do so; and
 - (4) Make non-substantive, editorial changes to the rule as necessary.

- (f) Following the review of a draft rule submitted by a member board, the Council shall either accept the draft rule as proposed and initiate formal rulemaking proceedings or return the draft rule to the member board for revision. When returning a rule for revision, the Council must include an explanation of the decision to reject the rule as proposed, and may recommend changes that would make the rule acceptable to the Council.
- (g) The Council shall, with regard to rules proposed pursuant to §507.153(a) of the Occupations Code, share with the appropriate member board any public comments received following publication of a proposed rule in the Texas Register. Following publication of a proposed rule and review of any public comments received, a member board shall suggest any changes needed to the proposed rule or vote to recommend adoption, tabling, or withdrawal of the rule and advise the Council of such. Thereafter, the Council may adopt the rule as proposed, withdraw or table the rule in accordance with the member board's recommendation, or return the rule to the member board for further revision. When returning a rule for revision, the Council must include an explanation of the decision to not adopt the rule as proposed, and may recommend any changes that would make the rule acceptable to the Council.
- (h) The Council may make non-substantive, editorial changes to a draft rule as necessary.
- (i) The Council shall consider each of the following factors when reviewing a draft rule submitted by a member board:
 - (1) Whether the proposed rule promotes a clearly articulated and affirmatively expressed policy as established by the legislature to displace competition with government action, or whether the proposed rule reflects the exercise of discretion or implied authority by a member board;
 - (2) Whether absence of the proposed rule poses a significant risk of harm or danger to the public health, safety, or welfare of the residents of the state that is easily recognizable and not remote or dependent on tenuous argument;
 - (3) Whether the proposed rule seeks to regulate activities or services requiring specialized skill or training and whether the public clearly needs and will benefit from the proposed rule;
 - (4) Whether the proposed rule would have the effect of directly or indirectly increasing the cost of mental health services and, if so, whether the increase would be more harmful to the public than the harm that might result from the absence of the proposed rule;

- (5) Whether the proposed rule would significantly reduce market participation or competition in the state and, if so, whether the reduction would be more harmful to the public than the harm that might result from the absence of the proposed rule; and
- (6) Whether the residents of the state are or may be effectively protected by other means.

881.21. Petition for Rulemaking.

- (a) Any interested person may petition for rulemaking in accordance with §2001.021 of the Government Code by submitting to the Council a written request for the adoption of a rule or rule change. The written request must contain a return mailing address for the agency's response.
- (b) The written request must, at a minimum, set forth or identify the rule the petitioner wants the Council to adopt or change, reasons why the petitioner believes the requested rulemaking is necessary, and include a copy of the proposed rule or any proposed changes with deletions crossed through and additions underlined. Additionally, the written request must affirmatively show that the requestor qualifies as an interested person under this rule. Requests which do not affirmatively show that the requestor qualifies as an interested person under this rule may be denied.
- (c) The written request should also address the economic cost to persons required to comply with the rule, the effects of the rule on small or micro-businesses or rural communities, and the impact the rule would have on local employment or economies, if such information can be derived from available sources without undue cost or burden.
- (d) The Council will respond to a written request for adoption of a rule from an interested person in accordance with §2001.021 of the Government Code.
- (e) The term "interested person" as used in this rule, shall have the same meaning as that assigned by §2001.021(d) of the Government Code. Additionally, a person who submits a petition under this rule must affirm that they qualify as an interested person in the petition. Petitions which do not contain such an affirmation may be denied.

CHAPTER 882. APPLICATIONS AND LICENSING

SUBCHAPTER A. LICENSE APPLICATIONS

22 TAC §§882.1-882.13

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §§882.1-882.13, relating to license applications. Except for §882.6, the new sections are adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2649) and will not be republished. In response to non-substantive changes being requested by the Office of the Texas Governor, §882.6 is being changed and adopted as republished below.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rules are needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Section 507.254 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to issue a license, which must also include the name of the applicable board. Generally, these new rules implement the application process and procedures which will be used by the Executive Council.

Summary of comments against the rule.

A commenter requested rule §882.1 be changed to no longer require a letter be sent notifying the applicant of the agency's determination and instructions for next steps. The commenter suggests replacing letters with email notifications. Another commenters recommends that the processing time periods for all applications be made the same. One commenter believes this rule conflicts with the rule pertaining to fees, rule §885.1, because this rule states applications with the incorrect fee amount will be returned while the fees rule states fees are non-refundable.

A commenter questioned whether rule §882.2, which requires transcripts be sent to the agency directly, will still allow for applicants that are students to still be able to be approved to take certain licensure exams prior to conferral of a degree. Another commenter requested the deletion of the requirement to use DHS-USCIS Systematic Alien Verification of Entitlements (SAVE) Program for the verification of immigration status of applicants because the commenter felt it was unnecessarily and burdensome.

A commenter requested changes to rule §882.3 for the purposes of clarity, to include the possible denial of an application for examination as well as an application for licensure.

A commenter requested rule §882.6 be changed to allow for a board to set the amount of times an applicant may retake an exam. Another commenter requested the rule be changed to allow an applicant that has failed an exam to practice under supervision of a licensed practitioner for several years to then make a recommendation regarding the candidate's licensure. A commenter also requested changes for the purpose of clarity.

Commenters requested changes to rule §882.9, they want the rule to state that the Council will publish processing times of applications for each license type.

List of interested groups or associations for the rule.

Summary of comments for the rule.

Agency Response.

The Administrative Procedures Act, Chapter 2001 of the Tex. Gov't Code, requires notification by certain means; therefore rule §882.1 must comport with these requirements and require notification by letter, although this rule does not prohibit the use of email when corresponding with applicants. Rule §882.1 does not conflict with rule §885.1 because the Council will not process an application until it is complete, which requires the Council to receive the correct fee amount. Once the correct fee amount is received it is non-refundable, and the application will be processed, but if the wrong amount is received it will be returned to the applicant to submit the correct amount. Rule §882.1 specifies different processing time periods for different license types because that is the current practice in place, in the future the Council may reevaluate whether to make all the same but, due to data base restrictions, for the time being this rule will maintain the same time periods for the completeness of an application submission that currently exist.

Rule §882.2 must require that transcripts come directly from a verified source in order to ensure the authenticity of the submission. Depending upon a particular board, there may still be procedures for an applicant to be approved to sit for an examination prior to graduation but a license cannot be issued until the Council receives an official copy of a transcript verifying the conferral of a degree. The Council believes the utilization of the SAVE Program will make the application process easier for the verification of immigration status of applicants, additionally the use of the SAVE Program is required by federal law.

The Council declines to amend rule §882.3 as requested because the requested edits to add denial of exam applications to the rule appears unnecessary to the agency and does not appear to add any additional clarity to the rule.

Rule §882.6 is authorized and required, as written, because §507.253 of the Tex. Occ. Code states the Council shall, by rule, establish a limit on the number of exam retakes and the requirements for retaking an exam.

The Council declines to amend rule §882.9 as requested. While the Council's intent is to provide the public as much information as possible about processing times for licenses, depending upon what information and how it is stored by all the boards will determine what the Council will be able to publish. The rule as written will more accurately demonstrate the agency's workload. The agency does not see the need to include these requested changes in the rule, as the Council believes the general language currently in the rule is sufficient.

For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rules with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rules are adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

The Executive Council adopts these new rules in part under the authority found in §§2005.003 and 2005.006 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules for processing applications and issuing licenses, as well as complaint procedures for the same.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

SUBCHAPTER A – LICENSE APPLICATIONS

882.1. Application Process. Applications for licensure are processed in the following manner:

Applicants who qualify for expedited processing will have their applications processed as soon as practicable. The Council will notify applicants of any deficiency in their application.
- (3) Applications for licensure under Chapters 502, 503, and 505 of the Occupations Code which are incomplete will be held open for one year from the date of receipt, after which, if still incomplete, they will expire. Applications for licensure under Chapter 501 of the Occupations Code which are incomplete will be held open for 90 days from the date of receipt, after which, if still incomplete, they will expire. If licensure is sought after an application has expired, a new application and filing fee must be submitted.

882.2. General Application File Requirements.

- (a) To be complete, an application file must contain all information needed to determine an applicant's eligibility to sit for the required examinations, or the information and examination results needed to determine an applicant's eligibility for licensure. At a minimum, all applications for licensure must contain:

 - (1) An application in the form prescribed by the Council based on member board rules and corresponding fee(s);
 - (2) An official transcript from a properly accredited institution indicating the date the degree required for licensure was awarded or conferred. Transcripts must be received by the Council directly from the awarding institution, a transcript or credential delivery service, or a credentials bank that utilizes primary source verification;
 - (3) A fingerprint based criminal history record check through the Texas Department of Public Safety and the Federal Bureau of Investigation;
 - (4) A self-query report from the National Practitioner Data Bank (NPDB) reflecting any disciplinary history or legal actions taken against the applicant. A self-query report must be submitted to the agency in the sealed envelope in which it was received from the NPDB;
 - (5) Verification of the citizenship and immigration status information of non-citizen, naturalized, or derived U.S. citizen applicants through the DHS-USCIS Systematic Alien Verification for Entitlements Program (SAVE). Applicants must submit the documentation and information required by the SAVE program to the Council;
 - (6) Examination results for any required examinations taken prior to applying for licensure;

 - (8) Any other information or supportive documentation deemed relevant by the Council and specified in its application materials.
- (b) The Council will accept examination results and other documentation required or requested as part of the application process from a credentials bank that utilizes primary source verification.

882.3. Review and Appeal of License Denials.

- (a) If an application for licensure is denied at the staff or committee level, the applicant will have 30 days from the date of denial as shown on the letter to submit a written request to the Council for review by the member board. The written request must be received on or before the 30th day following the date of denial for the request to be timely. If a timely written request for review is not made, the denial is final.
- (b) If an application for licensure is denied by a member board, the applicant will have 30 days from the date of denial as shown on the letter to submit a written request to the Council for a hearing at SOAH. The Council must receive the written request on or before the 30th day following the date of denial for the request to be timely. If a timely request is made, the Council shall refer the contested case to SOAH for a hearing. If a timely written request is not made, the denial is final.
- (c) The Council shall render a final decision on an application for licensure based upon the record following an appeal at SOAH. The final decision shall be in writing and shall be signed by the presiding officer for the Council or the Executive Director.

882.4. Assistance in Licensing Determinations.

- (a) Each member board shall be responsible for reviewing any licensing matters and questions raised or brought to it by agency staff regarding an application or renewal. The member boards may utilize committees to address application or licensing matters, and shall provide the Council with a recommendation as to any licensing matters or questions raised or brought to it by agency staff regarding an application or renewal.
- (b) The Council shall review all licensing matters for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns. The Council may not substitute its judgment in licensing determinations for that of a member board where, in its sole determination, none of the aforementioned concerns are present.
- (c) The Council shall solicit input from and request the assistance of a member board when considering an application for issuance or renewal of a license if there are concerns about an applicant related to the standard of care or professional qualifications. The Council may specify the format of the input and assistance requested to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

- 882.5. Jurisprudence Examination Requirement. Applicants must take and pass the jurisprudence examination no more than 6 months prior to submitting an application for licensure to the Council.

882.6. Limitation on Number of Examination Attempts.

- (a) An applicant may take an examination administered or required by the Council no more than three times. Failure to pass an examination subject to this rule within three attempts, will result in an automatic denial of an application.
- (b) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, an ~~An~~ applicant whose application is denied under this rule may reapply for licensure, but will not be allowed or approved to sit for the exam again until the applicant has submitted a detailed study plan designed to address the known or suspected areas of deficiency. The study plan must be approved by the relevant member board before authorization will be given to retake the examination.
- (c) Examinations which do not require pre-authorization by the Council to take, are not subject to this rule.

882.7. Reasonable Accommodations for Persons with Disabilities and Dyslexia.

- (a) The Council shall comply with applicable provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) in its applications procedures by providing reasonable accommodations that do not violate or undermine the agency's mission or state law.
- (b) It is the responsibility of the individual applicant to inform the Council in advance of any reasonable accommodations needed during the application process, including any examinations conducted by the agency. Only requests which give the Council sufficient notice and opportunity to provide reasonable accommodations without disrupting the normal business of the agency will be considered.
- (c) Requests for reasonable accommodations under this rule must contain each of the following:

 - (1) a written description of the disability, as well as the functional limitations resulting from the disability;
 - (2) the specific accommodations requested;
 - (3) a description of any accommodations received in the past for the disability; and
 - (4) a formal medical or mental health diagnosis made or confirmed within the last five years by a licensed professional qualified to make the diagnosis describing the need for specific accommodations. The diagnosis must have been made or confirmed within the last 12 months for psychiatric disabilities. This requirement does not apply to physical or sensory disabilities of a permanent or unchanging nature.
- (d) The Council will provide reasonable examination accommodations to an applicant who has been diagnosed as having dyslexia, as defined in §51.970 of the Education Code. When requesting reasonable examination accommodations under this subsection, the applicant must comply with subsection (c) of this section.

882.9. Established Application Processing Times.

- (a) The Council shall publish the minimum, maximum, and median times for processing applications during the preceding 12-month period on its website, together with a justification for each of these periods. These figures will be updated on an annual basis.
- (b) Applicants whose application processing time exceeds 90 days or the maximum processing time published on the agency's website, whichever is greater, may submit a written complaint to the Executive Director requesting a timely resolution of any dispute arising from the delay.
- (c) The Executive Director shall, upon receipt of a proper complaint, review the matter to determine whether the agency has good cause, as that term is defined in §2005.004 of the Government Code, for exceeding the maximum application processing time. If the maximum application processing time was exceeded and good cause is not found, the Council shall refund any application fee paid in connection with the delayed application.
- (d) There is no appeal of the determination made by the Executive Director under this rule. A complaint is waived if not filed within 30 days of licensure.

- 882.10. Applicants with Pending Complaints. The Council may hold an application in abeyance up to 180 days if there is a complaint pending against the applicant concerning an alleged violation listed in §507.301 of the Occupations Code. A final decision on the application may not be rendered until the Council has made a final determination on the pending complaint. The applicant will be permitted to take all required exams while the complaint is pending, but will not be licensed unless approved by the Council.

882.11. Applicants with Foreign Degrees.

- (a) An applicant with a foreign degree must submit an official transcript and certified translation when applying for licensure. - (b) An applicant with a foreign degree must have the degree evaluated to determine if it is comparable to the degree required for the particular license sought. Foreign degree evaluations must be sent directly to the Council from the evaluation service, submitted by the applicant in the sealed envelope in which they are received from the evaluation service, or be submitted as directed by agency staff.
- (c) Foreign degree evaluations must be conducted by a foreign degree evaluation service that is a member of the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES). Alternatively, the Council will accept foreign degree evaluations from the National Register of Health Service Psychologists for persons applying under Chapter 501 of the Occupations Code and the International Social Work Degree Recognition and Evaluation Service for persons applying under Chapter 505 of the Occupations Code.
- (d) The Council retains the exclusive authority to determine whether a foreign degree is comparable to the degree required for licensure.

882.12. Refusal to Issue License for Failure to Pay Child Support.

- (a) The Council shall, in accordance with §232.0135 of the Family Code, refuse to issue a license to an individual if the Council receives notice from a child support agency that the applicant has failed to pay child support under a support order for six months or more and the child support agency requests the Council to deny issuance of a license.
- (b) Following receipt of notice from a child support agency, the Council may not issue a license until the child support agency has notified the Council that the applicant has met one or more of the requirements set out in §232.0135(b) of the Family Code.
- (c) The Council may charge the applicant a fee equal to the application fee for a refusal under this rule.

- 882.13. Protections Based On Affiliation with Religious Organizations. In accordance with Chapter 2400 of the Government Code, the Council may not deny an application or renewal of a license based wholly or partly on a person's membership in, affiliation with, or contribution, donation, or other support provided to a religious organization.

CHAPTER 882. APPLICATIONS AND LICENSING

SUBCHAPTER B. LICENSE

22 TAC §§882.20-882.27

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §§882.20-882.27, relating to license. Except for §§882.22-882.23, the new sections are adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2652) and will not be republished. In response to non-substantive changes being requested by the Office of the Texas Governor, §882.6 is being changed and adopted as republished below.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rules are needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Section 507.254 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to issue a license, which must also include the name of the applicable board. Generally, these new rules provide the form and function for the licenses issued by the Executive Council.

Summary of comments against the rule.

A commenter requested changes to rule §882.22(a) for consistency reasons. The commenter believes previously licensed marriage and family therapists seeking to reinstate a revoked license should be excepted from this rule to be consistent with §502.252(b)(7) of the Tex. Occ. Code.

A commenter requested edits to rule §882.26(c). The commenter believes the requirement that two or more psychologist be on staff limits opportunities for post-doctoral training and does not guarantee greater learning than if there was just one. Additionally, the commenter believes the minimum two hours per week of face-to-face supervision does not allow for supervision by technology or electronic means.

Agency Response.

The lack of an exclusion or exception in rule §882.22(a) for LMFTs is unnecessary. Rule §881.10(a), pertaining to conflicts between other laws and council rules, would dictate that if a Council rule conflicted with a statute in the Texas Occupations Code, the statute would control. In this instance, rule §882.22(a) allows those with a prior license to apply for reinstatement with the Council. This does not guarantee that all prior revoked licensees will be reinstatement. An individual who had an LMFT revoked may still apply for reinstatement, but pursuant to §502.252(b)(7) the Tex. Occ. Code the Council would not be able to reinstate the license. Therefore rule §882.22(a) does not conflict with the Texas Occupations Code.

Rule §882.26(c) pertains to the criteria for a post-doctoral program to be considered substantially equivalent to an APA accredited or APPIC member program. An individual may always apply with the Council for licensure and once approved the individual may conduct a post-doctoral program required for licensure as a psychologist that is not APA accredited, an APPIC member program, or substantially equivalent. Therefore this rule does not limit the opportunity for post-doctoral training, it defines the pathway to complete this training prior to an application for licensure. Additionally, other rules, such as 22 Tex. Admin. Code §465.2, allow for supervision by electronic means.

For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rules with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rules are adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

SUBCHAPTER B - LICENSE

882.20. Form of License.

- (a) Each member board shall be responsible for the content and design of its licenses, subject to the approval of the Council. A license issued by the Council shall prominently reflect the member board for the profession and reference the board being a member of the Council.
- (b) A license shall include the full legal name of the license holder at the time of licensure and the unique license number assigned to the license.

882.21. License Statuses.

- (a) Active Status. Any licensee with a license on active status may practice pursuant to that license, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Council. Active status is the only status under which a licensee may engage in the practice of the licensee's respective profession.
- (b) Inactive Status.
 - (1) A licensee with an unrestricted active license may elect inactive status through the Council's online licensing system. A licensee who elects inactive status must return the licensee's current renewal certificate for the license to the Council, and pay the associated fee.
 - (2) A licensee with an inactive license is not required to comply with continuing education requirements while the license is inactive.
 - (3) The inactive status period for a license shall coincide with the license renewal period. At the end of the renewal period, if the inactive status has not been renewed or the license returned to active status, the license will expire.
 - (4) In order to continue on inactive status, an inactive licensee must renew the inactive status each renewal period. Licensees may renew their inactive status through the Council's online licensing system by completing the online renewal requirements and paying the associated fee.
 - (5) A licensee with a pending complaint may not place a license on inactive status. If disciplinary action is taken against a licensee's inactive license, the licensee must reactivate the license until the terms of the disciplinary action or restricted status have been terminated. Failure to reactivate a license when required by this paragraph shall constitute grounds for further disciplinary action.
 - (6) An inactive license may be reactivated at any time by submitting a written request to return to active status to the Council's office. When reactivating a license, a licensee must pay the renewal fee associated with the license. A license that has been reactivated is subject to the standard renewal schedule and requirements, including renewal and late fees. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a license that is reactivated within 60 days of its renewal date will be considered as having met all renewal requirements and will be renewed for the next renewal period.

- (7) Any licensee reactivating a license from inactive status must provide proof of completion of the continuing education requirements for renewal of that particular license before reactivation will occur.
- (8) A licensee wishing to reactivate a license that has been on inactive status for four years or more must take and pass the relevant jurisprudence exam with the minimum acceptable score, unless the licensee holds another license on active status within the same profession.
- (c) Delinquent Status. A licensee who fails to renew a license for any reason when required is considered to be on delinquent status. Any license delinquent for more than 12 consecutive months shall expire. A licensee may not engage in the practice of the licensee's respective profession under a delinquent license. The Council may sanction a delinquent licensee for violations of its rules.
- (d) Restricted Status. Any license that is currently suspended, on probated suspension, or is currently required to fulfill some requirements in an agency order is a restricted license.
- (e) Retirement Status. A licensee who is on active or inactive status may retire the license by notifying the Council in writing prior to the renewal date for the license. A licensee with a delinquent status may also retire the license by notifying the Council in writing prior to the license expiring. However, a licensee with a pending complaint or restricted license may not retire the license. A licensee who retires a license shall be reported to have retired in good standing.
- (f) Resignation Status. A licensee may resign only upon express agreement with the Council.
- (g) Expired Status. A license that has been delinquent for more than 12 consecutive months or any inactive license that is not renewed or reactivated is considered to be expired.
- (h) Revoked Status. A revoked status results from a license being revoked pursuant to an agency order.

882.22. Reinstatement of a License.

- (a) A person whose license has expired or been retired, revoked, or resigned, may apply for reinstatement of the license. A person seeking re-licensure must apply for reinstatement, rather than applying for a new license.
- (b) An application for reinstatement shall be in writing and in the form prescribed by the Council.
- (c) In the case of revocation or resignation, application for reinstatement shall not be made prior to one year after the effective date of the revocation or resignation or prior to any time period specified in the order of revocation or resignation. A person whose license was revoked under §108.053 may apply for reinstatement of the license if the person meets the requirements of §108.055 of the Occupations Code.
- (d) A person seeking reinstatement of a license shall appear ~~in-person~~ before the Council or member board to answer any questions or address any concerns raised by the person's application if requested by a council or board member or the Executive Director. Failure to comply with this paragraph shall constitute grounds for denial of the application for reinstatement.
- (e) The Council may approve or deny an application for reinstatement, and in the case of a denial, the Council may also set a reasonable period that must elapse before another application may be filed. The Council may also impose reasonable terms and conditions that an applicant must satisfy before reinstatement of an unrestricted license.
- (f) An application for reinstatement of an expired, retired, revoked, or resigned license may be granted upon proof of each of the following:
 - (1) payment of the application fee;
 - (2) submission of a self-query report from the National Practitioner Data Bank (NPDB) reflecting any disciplinary history or legal actions taken against the applicant. A self-query report must be submitted to the agency in the sealed envelope in which it was received from the NPDB;
 - (3) a fingerprint based criminal history check which reflects no disqualifying criminal history;
 - (4) passage of any examinations required by a member board;

- (5) documentation of any continuing education required by a member board; and
 - (6) submission of any other documentation or information requested in the application or which the Council or a member board may deem necessary in order to ensure the public's safety.
- (g) The Council will evaluate each of the following criteria when considering reinstatement of an expired, revoked, or resigned license:
 - (1) circumstances surrounding the expiration, revocation, or resignation of the license;
 - (2) conduct of the applicant subsequent to the expiration, revocation, or resignation of the license;
 - (3) lapse of time since the expiration, revocation, or resignation of the license;
 - (4) compliance with all terms and conditions imposed by the Council or a member board in any previous order; and
 - (5) applicant's present qualification to practice the regulated profession based upon the history of related employment, service, education, or training, as well as the applicant's continuing education since the expiration, revocation, or resignation of the license.
- (h) Notwithstanding time limits on original applications and examinations found elsewhere in these rules, an applicant seeking reinstatement of a license must submit all required documentation and information, and successfully pass all required examinations within the period specified by the Council. Failure to do so shall result in the application for reinstatement expiring.

882.23. License Required to Practice.

- (a) A person may not engage in or represent that the person is engaged in the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within this state, unless the person is licensed or otherwise authorized to practice by law.
- (b) A person is engaged in the practice of marriage and family therapy within this state if any of the criteria set out in §502.002(6) of the Occupations Code Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist Act occurs either in whole or in part in this state.
- (c) A person is engaged in the practice of professional counseling within this state if any of the criteria set out in §503.003(a) of the Occupations Code Licensed Professional Counselor Act occurs either in whole or in part in this state.

- (e) A person is engaged in the practice of social work within this state if any of the criteria set out in §505.0025 of the Occupations Code Social Work Practice Act occurs either in whole or in part in this state.

- 882.24. Authorized Practice of Marriage and Family Therapy Without a License.
Notwithstanding Rule §882.23 of this chapter, the activities or services described in §502.004 of the Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist Act are exempt from the Council's jurisdiction and do not require a license.

- 882.25. Authorized Practice of Professional Counseling Without a License.

882.26. Authorized Practice of Psychology Without a License.

- (b) The activity or service of a post-doctoral fellow or resident in psychology is exempt from the Council's jurisdiction pursuant to §501.004(a)(2) of the Psychologists' Licensing Act if all of the following criteria are met:
 - (1) The person is enrolled in a formal post-doctoral program that is:

CHAPTER 882. APPLICATIONS AND LICENSING

SUBCHAPTER C. DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

22 TAC §§882.30-882.36

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §§882.30-882.36, relating to duties and responsibilities. The new sections are adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2655) and will not be republished.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rules are needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Section 507.254 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to issue a license, which must also include the name of the applicable board. These new rules pertain to the duties and responsibilities of applicants going through the application process and licensees once they have obtained a license, which generally prohibit false or deceptive statements or practices.

Summary of comments against the rule.

A commenter is concerned that rule §882.30(b) does not treat all license types equally and requests the rule be a single unified standard for all license types.

A commenter believes rule §882.32(a) requires licensees to be responsible for ensuring adequate record keeping for the agency and believes licensee cannot make sure the agency does the right thing with the information provided.

One commenter requested the addition of the word "must" to rule §882.36(a) for grammatical reasons. Another commenter requested the inclusion of Chapter 104 and 107 of the Texas Family Code in this rule.

Agency Response.

Pursuant to Tex. Occ. Code §§502.261(a) and 503.314(a) a marriage and family therapist and a licensed professional counselor must, respectively, display a copy of their license at their principle place of practice or in an appropriate and public manner. Therefore rule §882.30(b) must provide an exception for those licensed under Chapters 502 and 503 because Texas law will not allow them to provide a patient or client only written notification of a holder's license number along with instructions for verification.

Rule §882.32(a) requires licensee to update their contact information in the Council's online licensing system. A licensee will be responsible for entering the required information into this system, which the licensee will be able to check online. All data entry will be done by the licensee, there is no basis to think that the agency will manipulate, alter, or not use this data.

The addition of the word "must" in rule §882.36(a) would have no effect on this rule, and the agency does not find that this requested change is necessary to clear up any potential public confusion or misunderstanding of this rule. Rule §882.36 provides references to many of the statutes effecting a licensee's practice, but the rule is not intended to be an exhaustive list of every statute that could have an effect on a licensee. Citations to the Texas Family Code, specifically Chapter 107, are included in other rules of practice which a licensee should already be aware of before conducting any practice in the areas governed by the Texas Family Code; therefore the Council declines to add additional statutory references to this rule.

For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rules with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rules are adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

SUBCHAPTER C – DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

882.30. Display of License.

- (a) A licensee must display an official copy of the holder's license in a prominent place in the office, building, complex, or facility where services are delivered. An official copy of a license is the original or a copy issued by the Council bearing the state agency's seal.
- (b) In lieu of subsection (a) of this section, a person licensed under Chapter 501 or 505 may provide to a patient or client written notification of the holder's license number accompanied by instructions for verification of same.

- 882.31. Advertising Restrictions. Licensees may not authorize, use, or make any public statements or advertisements that are false, deceptive, misleading or fraudulent, either because of what they state, convey or suggest or what they omit concerning their own training, experience, supervision status, abilities or competence; their academic degrees; their credentials; their institutional or association affiliations; or their publications or research.

882.32. Duty to Update Name and Address.

- (a) Applicants and licensees must update their name, main address, business address, email address, and phone number in the Council's online licensing system within 30 days of a change. The main address entered by an applicant or licensee must be capable of receiving mail addressed to the applicant or licensee from the agency. It is the responsibility of the individual to ensure the agency has the correct contact information for that individual.
- (b) Official agency correspondence will be sent to an applicant's or licensee's main address, unless otherwise required by law. The street address portion of an applicant's or licensee's main address will not be displayed in results returned from the online licensee search function, but will continue to be publicly available via the Public Information Act. Applicants and licensees may also enter a business address in the agency's online licensing system which will be displayed, without redaction, in public search results.
- (c) A name change request must be accompanied by a copy of a current driver's license, social security card, marriage license, divorce decree or court order reflecting the change of name.

- 882.33. Disclosure of Proprietary Examination Materials or Information Prohibited. It is considered unprofessional conduct and grounds for disciplinary action, including denial of licensure or renewal, for any applicant or licensee to disclose the contents or any proprietary materials or information from the examinations utilized by the Council.

882.34. Filing of False or Misleading Information with the Council.

- (a) Applicants. Applicants are prohibited from providing false or misleading statements, information, or omissions in their applications, documents, and communications with the Council or member boards. For an infraction of this type, the Council may agree to process an application or other document pursuant to an eligibility order. For a serious infraction of this type that could lead to licensure of an unqualified person, the Council may deny licensure.
- (b) Licensees. The Council will open a complaint against a licensee for false or misleading statements, information, or omissions made in connection with an application, renewal, document, or other communication with the Council. For an infraction that led to the licensure or renewal of an unqualified person or a change in license status, the Council may revoke the license or deny any future renewal of the license.

882.35. Required Profile Information. Pursuant to §2054.2606 of the Government Code, all licensed psychologists must establish and maintain a public profile within the profile system maintained by the Council. The licensee's profile must contain all of the following information:

- (1) the name of the license holder and the address and telephone number of the license holder's primary practice location;
- (2) whether the license holder's patient, client, user, customer, or consumer service areas, as applicable, are accessible to disabled persons, as defined by federal law;
- (3) the type of language translating services, including translating services for a person with impairment of hearing, that the license holder provides for patients, clients, users, customers, or consumers, as applicable;
- (4) if applicable, insurance information, including whether the license holder participates in the state child health plan under Chapter 62, Health and Safety Code, or the Medicaid program;
- (5) the education and training received by the license holder, as required by the licensing entity;
- (6) any specialty certification held by the license holder;
- (7) the number of years the person has practiced as a license holder; and
- (8) if applicable, any hospital affiliation of the license holder.

882.36. Compliance with State and Federal Law. Licensees comply with all applicable state and federal laws affecting the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work including, but not limited to:

- (1) Health and Safety Code, Chapter 611, Mental Health Records;
- (2) Family Code:
 - (A) Chapter 32, Consent to Medical, Dental, Psychological and Surgical Treatment,
 - (B) Chapter 153, Rights to Parents and Other Conservators to Consent to Treatment and Access to Child's Records, and
 - (C) Chapter 261, Duty to Report Child Abuse and Neglect;
- (3) Human Resource Code, Chapter 48, Duty to Report Elder Abuse and Neglect;

CHAPTER 882. APPLICATIONS AND LICENSING

SUBCHAPTER D. CRIMINAL HISTORY AND LICENSE ELIGIBILITY

22 TAC §§882.40-882.42

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §§882.40-882.42, relating to criminal history and license eligibility. Except for §882.42, the new sections are adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2658) and will not be republished. In response to non-substantive changes being requested by the Office of the Texas Governor, §882.42 is being changed and adopted as republished below.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rules are needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Section 507.254 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to issue a license, which must also include the name of the applicable board; and §507.156 of the Tex. Occ. Code requires the Executive Council to adopt rules pertaining to the Executive Council's authority to revoke, suspend, or deny a license based upon a criminal conviction. These new rules implement this statutory duty.

Summary of comments against the rule.

A commenter was concerned that subsections (b) and (d) of rule §882.40 contradicted each other and subsection (c) will allow licensees to renew a license by merely being fingerprinted and not completing any other renewal requirement.

One commenter requested the addition of the word "based" to fingerprint criminal history background checks in rule §882.41(d) for consistency reasons.

List of interested groups or associations for the rule.

Summary of comments for the rule.

Agency Response.

Rule §882.40(b) is a standalone requirement, it can apply to any licensee at any time, and does not contradict any other subsection of this rule. Subsection (c) of the rule deals with licensees who have not yet been required to complete a criminal history background check, and it does not waive any requirements for the renewal of a license. Subsection (d) of the rule pertains solely to those applicants who have already completed a criminal history background check and it exempts them from subsection (c).

The addition of the word "based" in rule §882.41(d) to describe the fingerprint criminal history background check would have no effect on this rule, the same term was used in rule §882.60(e), and the agency does not find that this requested change is necessary to clear up any potential public confusion or misunderstanding of this rule.

For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rules with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rules are adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

The Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.156 of the Tex. Occ. Code which requires the Executive Council to adopt rules necessary to comply with Chapter 53 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

SUBCHAPTER D – CRIMINAL HISTORY AND LICENSE ELIGIBILITY

882.40. Criminal History Background Checks.

- (a) Before the Council will issue a license, an applicant must undergo a fingerprint-based criminal history record check.
- (b) The Council may require a licensee to obtain an updated fingerprint-based criminal history record check at any time.
- (c) A licensee who was not required to undergo a fingerprint based criminal history record check as a condition of licensure, must undergo a fingerprint based criminal history check if directed by the Council as a condition for renewal of a license. - (b) A person may request the Council provide a criminal history evaluation letter if the person is planning to enroll or is enrolled in an educational program that prepares the person for a license with this agency and the person has reason to believe that the person may be ineligible for licensure due to a conviction or deferred adjudication for a felony or misdemeanor offense.
- (c) The requestor must submit to the Council a completed application form requesting an evaluation letter, the required fee, and certified copies of court documentation about all convictions, deferred adjudications, or other final dispositions which may form the basis for the person's ineligibility.
- (d) Requestors must obtain a fingerprint criminal history record check after they have submitted an application for a criminal history evaluation letter.
- (e) The Council has the authority to investigate a request for a criminal history evaluation letter and may require the requestor to provide additional information about the convictions and other dispositions.
- (f) The Council will provide a written response to the requestor within 90 days of receipt of the request, unless a more extensive investigation is required or the requestor fails to comply with the Council's investigation.
- (g) In the absence of new evidence known to but not disclosed by the requestor or not reasonably available to the licensing authority at the time the letter is issued, the Council's ruling on the request determines the requestor's eligibility with respect to the grounds for potential ineligibility set out in the letter.

882.42. Ineligibility Due to Criminal History.

- (a) The Council may revoke or suspend a license, disqualify a person from receiving or renewing a license, or deny a person the opportunity to be examined for a license due to a felony or misdemeanor conviction, or a plea of guilty or nolo contendere followed by deferred adjudication, if the offense:
 - ~~(1) — directly relates to the duties and responsibilities of a licensee;~~
 - ~~(1)(2)-~~ is listed in Article 42A.054 of the Code of Criminal Procedure; ~~or~~

 - (3) directly relates to the duties and responsibilities of a licensee.
- (b) In determining whether a criminal conviction directly relates to the duties and responsibilities of a licensee, the agency shall consider the factors listed in §53.022 of the Occupations Code. Each member board shall determine which crimes are directly related to the duties and responsibilities of its licensees.
- (c) If the agency determines that a criminal conviction directly relates to the duties and responsibilities of a licensee, the agency must consider the factors listed in §53.023 of the Occupations Code when determining whether to suspend or revoke a license, disqualify a person from receiving a license, or deny a person the opportunity to take a licensing examination. It shall be the responsibility of the applicant or licensee to provide documentation or explanations concerning each of the factors listed in the law. Any documentation or explanations received will be considered by the agency when deciding whether to suspend or revoke a license, disqualify a person from receiving a license, or deny a person the opportunity to take a licensing examination.
- (d) Notwithstanding any schedule of sanctions adopted by the Council or a member board, the Council shall:
 - (1) revoke a license due to a felony conviction under §35A.02 of the Penal Code, concerning Medicaid fraud, in accordance with §36.132 of the Human Resources Code;
 - (2) revoke or suspend a license for unprofessional conduct in accordance with §105.002 of the Occupations Code; and

- (3) revoke a license due to a license holder's imprisonment following a felony conviction, felony community supervision revocation, revocation of parole, or revocation of mandatory supervision.
- (e) In accordance with Chapter 108 of the Occupations Code, an application for licensure as a psychologist or social worker will be denied if the applicant:

CHAPTER 882. RENEWALS

SUBCHAPTER E. CONTINUING EDUCATION

22 TAC §882.50

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §882.50, relating to continuing education. The new section is adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2660) and will not be republished.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rule is needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Section 507.254 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to issue a license, which must also include the name of the applicable board. In order to maintain and renew a license, each license holder is required to obtain a minimum amount of education per renewal period in order to renew a license. Each applicable board will determine the minimum amount of required education and the Executive Council will ensure compliance. This new rule pertains to the Executive Council's ability to audit license holders for compliance purposes.

Summary of comments against the rule.

A commenter requested the rule reference that inactive status licensees do not have to comply with this rule. Other commenters were concerned that the rule would result in 10% of all licensees being audited every month, which would could result in over auditing and be more burdensome than beneficial to licensees and the agency.

List of interested groups or associations for the rule.

None.

Summary of comments for the rule.

None.

Agency Response.

Rule §882.21(b)(2) already states that inactive licensees do not have to comply with continuing education requirements while the license is inactive, restating the same in §882.50 would be duplicative and unnecessary.

Rule §882.50(a) requires all licensee to complete the minimum amount of continuing education required to renew a license for each renewal period. Rule §882.50(b) allows the agency to conduct audits of licensees to ensure compliance with the continuing education requirements. Every month, a group of licensees will be required to renew their license and under §882.50(b)(1) 10% of these licensees will be subject to an audit, and, as the rule states, they will need to show compliance before their license will be renewed. Therefore, the only licensees that will be subject to the random audits of rule §882.50(b)(1) will be those renewing their license.

For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rule with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rule is adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts this new rule pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

SUBCHAPTER E – CONTINUING EDUCATION

882.50. Continuing Education and Audits.

- (a) All persons issued a license by the Council are obligated to continue their professional education by completing a minimum amount of continuing education during each renewal period that they hold a license from this agency. The specific continuing education requirements for a license holder will be determined by the member board authorized to set those requirements.
- (b) The Council conducts two types of audits regarding continuing education. Licensees shall comply with all agency requests for documentation and information concerning compliance with continuing education requirements.

 - (1) Random audits. Each month, 10% of the licensees will be selected by an automated process for an audit of the licensee's compliance with the agency's continuing education requirements. The agency will notify a licensee of the audit. Upon receipt of an audit notification, a licensee must submit continuing education documentation through the agency's online licensing system, or by fax, email, or regular mail before a license will be renewed.
 - (2) Individualized audits. The Council may also conduct audits of a specific licensee's compliance with its continuing education requirements at any time the agency determines there are grounds to believe that a licensee has not complied with the requirements of this rule. Upon receipt of notification of an individualized audit, the licensee must submit all requested documentation within the time period specified in the notification.

CHAPTER 882. APPLICATIONS AND LICENSING

SUBCHAPTER F. LICENSING PROVISIONS RELATED TO MILITARY SERVICE MEMBERS, VETERANS, AND MILITARY SPOUSES

22 TAC §§882.60-882.61

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §§882.60-882.61, relating to licensing provisions related to military service members, veterans, and military spouses. The new sections are adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2661) and will not be republished.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rules are needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). Section 507.254 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to issue a license, which must also include the name of the applicable board. Chapter 55 of the Tex. Occ. Code requires state agencies that issue a license to adopt rules pertaining to licensing eligibility requirements for military service members, veterans, and spouses. These new rules implement this statutory duty.

Summary of comments for the rule.

One commenter thought the addition of rule 882.61 was an excellent change.

Agency Response.

The addition of the word "based" in rule §882.60(e) to describe the fingerprint criminal history background check would have no effect on this rule, the same term was used in rule §882.41(d), and the agency does not find that this requested change is necessary to clear up any potential public confusion or misunderstanding of this rule. For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested change, and hereby adopts the rule with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rules are adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

The Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.156 of the Tex. Occ. Code which requires the Executive Council to adopt rules necessary to comply with Chapter 53 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

CHAPTER 882. RENEWALS

SUBCHAPTER G. EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

22 TAC §§882.70

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §882.70, relating to emergency temporary license. The new section is adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2663) and will not be republished.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rule is needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Sections 501.263, 502.258, 503.308, and 505.357 of the Tex. Occ. Code require the adoption of rules for the Executive Council to issue a temporary license. This new rule implements this statutory duty.

Summary of comments against the rule.

Commenters have requested rule §882.70, pertaining to emergency temporary license, be amended to allow out-of-state licensees who are not in good standing the ability to apply for and be granted temporary licensure. Additionally, one commenter requested the emergency temporary license be made available for those applicants needing a job but waiting for the agency to process the application.

Summary of comments for the rule.

Agency Response.

To allow out-of-state licensees who are not in good standing, meaning they are subject to a current disciplinary action, to apply for and be granted emergency temporary licenses would be antithetical to the mission of this agency - to protect the public. Once the out-of-state licensee is no longer subject to a disciplinary action then the licensee may apply, but to allow potential bad actors a pathway to temporary licensure will increase the potential for more harm. The purpose for the emergency temporary license is to allow out-of-state licensees to provide services in Texas in response to a disaster, therefore this licensing rule is not something that should be used for the typical or regular licensing process. For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rule with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rule is adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts this new rule pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

The Executive Council adopts this new rule pursuant to the authority found in §§501.263, 502.258, 503.308, and 505.357 of the Tex. Occ. Code which requires the Executive Council to adopt rules for the issuance of temporary licenses.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

SUBCHAPTER G – EMERGENCY TEMPORARY LICENSE

882.70. Emergency Temporary License.

- (a) The Council shall issue an emergency temporary license to practice marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work if:
 - (1) the Governor declares a disaster under §418.014 and issues a proclamation in accordance with Government Code §418.016 suspending regulatory statutes and rules which would prevent, hinder, or delay necessary action in coping with the declared disaster;
 - (2) the Executive Director determines that enacting these emergency licensing provisions are necessary in that disaster area; and
 - (3) the applicant meets the requirements set forth herein below.
- (b) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule will expire thirty (30) days after issuance or upon termination of the state of disaster, whichever occurs first.
- (c) An emergency temporary license issued pursuant to this rule is valid only for the practice of marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work within the disaster area designated by the governor.
- (d) To be eligible for an emergency temporary license, an applicant must:
 - (1) submit an application in the form prescribed by the Council; and
 - (2) submit written verification that the applicant is actively licensed, certified, or registered to practice, marriage and family therapy, professional counseling, psychology, or social work in another jurisdiction and that the licensure, certification, or registration is in good standing.
- (e) For purposes of subsection (d) of this section, the term "good standing" means there is not current disciplinary action on the out-of-state license, certification, or registration.
- (f) An emergency temporary license may be renewed in thirty (30) day increments if the disaster declaration has not expired or been terminated. To renew a license, an individual must submit a renewal application on a board-approved form on or before the license expiration date.

- (g) An individual practicing under an emergency temporary license must:
 - (1) display a copy of the emergency temporary license in a conspicuous location when delivering services, or provide written notification of the license number and instructions on how to verify the status of a license when initiating services with a patient or client;
 - (2) provide notification to the public and the patient or client regarding how a complaint may be filed with the Council; and
 - (3) comply with all other applicable Council rules.
- (h) There is no fee associated with the application, issuance, or renewal of an emergency temporary license.

CHAPTER 883. RENEWALS

SUBCHAPTER A. GENERAL PROVISIONS

22 TAC §§883.1-883.3

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §§883.1-883.3, relating to general provisions for the renewal of a license. The new sections are adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issues of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2665) and will not be republished.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rules are needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Section 507.255 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to renew licenses issued by the Executive Council, which must also include the name of the applicable board, and these new rules implement this statutory duty. Generally, these new rules establish the requirements for the biennial renewal of a license, and this biennial renewal period will be based upon the last day of the license holder's birth month.

A commenter believes rule §883.2 should be amended so it does not conflict with the renewal dates listed in the rules for all license types.

Summary of comments for the rule.

Agency Response.

The rules the commenter is concerned will conflict with rule §883.2 are currently working through the rule amendment process so that in the future a conflict regarding a licensee's renewal date will not exist in the rules. For this reason the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rule with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rules are adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority of §507.255 of the Tex. Occ. Code which authorizes the Executive Council to issue license renewals upon meeting certain criteria.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

SUBCHAPTER A – GENERAL PROVISIONS

883.1. Renewal of a License.

- (a) All licenses subject to the jurisdiction of the Council are renewable on a biennial basis and must be renewed online.
- (b) Renewals are due on the last day of the license holder's birth month, but may be completed up to 60 days in advance.

SUBCHAPTER B. RENEWAL PROVISIONS FOR MILITARY PERSONNEL

22 TAC §§883.10

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §883.10, relating to renewal terms for military personnel on active duty. The new section is adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issues of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2667) and will not be republished.

CHAPTER 884. COMPLAINTS AND ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER A. FILING A COMPLAINT

22 TAC §§884.1-884.6

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §§884.1-884.6, relating to filing a complaint. Except for §884.2, the new sections are adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2668) and will not be republished. In response to non-substantive changes being requested by the Office of the Texas Governor, §884.2 is being changed and adopted as republished below.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rules are needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Sections 507.151 and 507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to administer and enforce Chapters 501, 502, 503, 505, and 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code, as well as adopt rules as necessary to perform the Executive Council's duties and implement Chapter 507. Section 2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures. These new rules are the general framework regarding the Executive Council's procedures for filing a complaint.

The Coalition for Family Court Reform

Summary of comments against the rule.

A commenter requested rule §884.1 be amended so there would be no time limit for complaints alleging sexual misconduct, the commenter wanted to allow child victims as much time as possible to file a complaint. The commenter acknowledges that this would exceed record retention requirements but felt other records or testimony could be used in an investigation of such a complaint.

Commenters requested changes or the deletion of rule §884.3 in its entirety. Some commenters believe the process and requirements outlined in the rule for filing a complaint against a forensic examiner is overly burdensome to complainants and will not help protect to public against bad actors and misconduct. Some commenters believe the intent of the rule is so staff may dismiss complaints without investigating them. Some ask that the rule allow for the filing of a complaint while a family law case is still pending before a court and that there be no requirement for a complainant to provide or include any documentation regarding their complaint. Another commenter was concerned that allowing attorneys to provide opinion letter in support of a complaint will unnecessarily involve attorneys in the complaint process allowing them to opine on how a licensee did or did not follow the Texas Family Code as it relates to testing, which the commenter asserts an attorney has no such expertise to do. The commenter is afraid that attorneys will try to use the complaint process as a litigation tactic in family law cases. Another commenter wants the rule to include language that allows a complainant to file a copy of a court order making a finding that a child custody evaluator's report is defective, deficient, or in violation of a legal standard.

Summary of comments for the rule.

Agency Response.

While the Council is sympathetic to the commenter's concern in rule §884.1 regarding the investigation of sexual abuse allegations perpetrated against children, as a matter of fairness the Council believes that some time limitation must be imposed upon complaints against licensees. In order for licensees to be able to appropriately and fully respond to a complaint a licensee will almost always provide a copy of the records maintained by the licensee pertaining to the alleged victim, which is typically a patient file. Logically, it only makes sense to tie the requirement in this rule to the records retention requirements for each licensee. Additionally, if a criminal statute of limitation has not expired, the alleged victim may file a criminal complaint and if the licensee is convicted of a criminal offense it will most likely also result in a disciplinary action against that individual's license.

Regarding the comments pertaining to §884.3, this agency is charged with the task of fairly regulating its licensees - so that the public is protected and that licensees are fairly investigated and prosecuted. The Council believes this rule will maintain this balance. The purpose behind the rule is to streamline the complaint intake process, the documents or information needed to initiate the complaint are items that will be necessary in virtually every court ordered forensic evaluation. Agency staff currently reviews complaints when they are initially filed for legal sufficiency, such as to determine if the allegation on their face state a violation of the law. The basic documentation and information required by this rule are used to make this determination. If a complaint fails to state a violation of law the complaint will be dismissed and the complainant will be notified why the agency could not investigate the complaint. Agency staff will often contact a complainant for more information or documentation regarding an alleged violation of law that staff is unable to determine if a violation of law has occurred. What this rule does is put complainants on notice of what staff will need to process and start investigations such complaints. Currently attorneys are not prohibited from filing complaints and opinion letters, the rule uses an attorney opinion letter as one example of possible documentation that may aid in the processing of a complaint and this agency does not have statutory authority to prohibit attorneys from filing complaints or letters for or against a complaint. The rule is intended to curtail the use of this agency's complaint process as a litigation tactic by requiring a judgment, final order, or dismissal be entered and provided with the complaint prior to the agency processing the complaint. The rule, as currently drafted, allows a complainant may file a copy of a court order finding a defect in a report or ordering a licensee to correct a defect in a report.

For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rules with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rules are adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

The Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.204 of the Tex. Occ. Code which requires the Executive Council to adopt rules concerning the investigation of a complaint filed with the Executive Council.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

- (e) A complaint that does not substantially comply with subsection (d) shall be dismissed by agency staff. A complaint may be held open for no more than 30 days following notice to the complainant regarding any such deficiency, after which, agency staff shall dismiss the complaint if the deficiency is not cured.

- (f) A complaint subject to this rule shall be dismissed unless the complainant can show:
- (1) The licensee was disqualified or struck as an expert witness by the trial court;
 - (2) The licensee's opinion or inferences (i.e. testimony or report) complained of were ruled inadmissible by the trial court;
 - (3) A curriculum vitae and written report by an expert that provides a fair summary of the expert's opinions regarding the applicable law governing the licensee's expert opinion or report (i.e. standard of care) and the manner in which the licensee failed to meet the requirements of the applicable law. The report must come from an expert qualified to render an expert opinion under Texas law on the relevant subject;

A complaint subject to this rule not in strict compliance with this requirement will be dismissed by agency staff.
- (b) Complaints Involving Standard of Care Issues in Schools:

 - (2) For purposes of this rule, limitations shall not begin to run until all of the administrative remedies referenced in paragraph (1) of this subsection have been exhausted.
 - (3) Notwithstanding paragraph (1) of this subsection, an individual employed or contracted by the same public or private school as the licensee may file a complaint covered by paragraph (1) of this subsection regardless of whether any administrative remedies available under state or federal education law are utilized by the parent or legal guardian of a student. A complaint brought under this provision shall be subject to the rule of limitations.
 - (4) This rule shall not operate to preclude any individual from filing a complaint against a licensee for any matter other than those described in paragraph (1) of this subsection, nor shall it operate to limit the Council's ability to bring a complaint for any matter within the agency's jurisdiction.

CHAPTER 884. COMPLAINTS AND ENFORCEMENT

SUBCHAPTER B. INVESTIGATION AND DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

22 TAC §§884.10-884.12

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §§884.10-884.12, relating to investigation and disposition of complaints. Except for §§884.10 and 884.12, the new sections are adopted without changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2670) and will not be republished. In response to non-substantive changes being requested by the Office of the Texas Governor, §§884.10 and 884.12 are being changed and adopted as republished below.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rules are needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Sections 507.151 and 507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to administer and enforce Chapters 501, 502, 503, 505, and 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code, as well as adopt rules as necessary to perform the Executive Council's duties and implement Chapter 507. Section 2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures. These new rules are the general framework regarding the Executive Council's procedures for investigating and potentially resolving a complaint.

Summary of comments against the rule.

Commenters requested changes to rule §884.12(c). In general commenters requested the rule be changed from allowing members boards to provide input and assistance in enforcement matters and proceedings to requiring it. Some commenters believed §507.306 of the Tex. Occ. Code requires this change.

List of interested groups or associations for the rule.

None.

Summary of comments for the rule.

None.

Agency Response.

The comments all focus on subsection (c) of rule §884.12 but failed to read this subsection in conjunction with the entire rule. Subsection (a) of the rule states, in part: "each member board shall be responsible for reviewing complaints involving the standard of care, ethical guidelines, or scope of practice following a contested case before SOAH and making a recommendation to the Council regarding the final disposition." Then in subsection (c) the Council is allowed to solicit input and request assistance from a member board before entering the final order. Changing subsection (c) to a mandatory requirement, as opposed to permissive one, will only make subsection (c) redundant to the requirements of subsection (a). Therefore rule §884.12 complies with §507.306 of the Tex. Occ. Code; and for these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rule with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rules are adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

The Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §507.204 of the Tex. Occ. Code which requires the Executive Council to adopt rules concerning the investigation of a complaint filed with the Executive Council.

The Executive Council adopts these new rules pursuant to the authority found in §§507.305 and 507.306 of the Tex. Occ. Code which requires the Executive Council to adopt rules concerning informal proceedings to resolve a complaint and assistance in disciplinary proceedings.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

- (f) Complaints that do not state a violation of a law within the jurisdiction of the Council shall be dismissed. If the complaint alleges a violation of a law within the jurisdiction of another agency, the complaint will be referred to that agency as required or allowed by law.

- (g) Complaints that state a violation of a law within the jurisdiction of the Council shall be investigated by an investigator assigned by the Enforcement Division.
- (h) Licensees will receive written notice of any alleged complaint(s), including specific information regarding any violation(s) encountered. Notice to a licensee is effective and service is complete when sent by registered or certified mail to the licensee's address of record at the time of the mailing.
- (i) Following completion of the investigation, an investigation report shall be drafted. This report shall include a recommendation as to whether the investigation has produced sufficient evidence to establish probable cause that a violation has occurred.
- (j) The Enforcement Division Manager (or the manager's designee) and legal counsel shall review the investigation report to determine if there is probable cause that a violation occurred.

884.11. Informal Conferences.

- (a) The purpose of an informal conference shall be to provide the complainant with an opportunity to be heard, the respondent with an opportunity to show compliance with the law, and for the agency staff or Disciplinary Review Panel to make a recommendation regarding the informal disposition of the complaint. An informal disposition may be made of any complaint by stipulation, conditional letter of agreement, agreed or consent order, or dismissal.
- (b) Agency staff may conduct an informal conference if counsel for the agency reasonably believes that expert testimony is not required to prove a violation of a standard of care or the scope of practice for the profession. Agency staff shall exercise reasonable control over the mode and order of the appearance by the parties, the presentation of witnesses and evidence, and the overall order and decorum during the proceedings. Complainants and respondents will be provided an opportunity to be heard by staff, at a time separate and apart from the other.
- (c) A Disciplinary Review Panel shall consist of not more than three board members selected by the member board. The panel shall confer with each other and select a chair for the informal conference. The panel chair shall exercise reasonable control over the mode and order of the appearance by the parties, the presentation of witnesses and evidence, and the overall order and decorum during the proceedings. Complainants and respondents will be provided an opportunity to be heard by the panel, at a time separate and apart from the other.
- (d) Complainants and respondents may appear with legal counsel at informal conferences and shall be provided with an opportunity to present witnesses and any evidence they believe is relevant to a determination of the allegations, including written statements or communications, medical or mental health records, recordings, photographs, or other documentary evidence.
- (e) Complainants and respondents are encouraged to attend informal conferences, but attendance is voluntary.
 - (1) Failure by a respondent to attend an informal conference does not constitute professional misconduct or failure to cooperate with a Council investigation, but a respondent is not entitled to a new or additional informal conference if agency staff or the panel makes a disciplinary recommendation regarding the licensee in absentia.
 - (2) Failure by a complainant to attend an informal conference may result in a recommendation for dismissal of the complaint.

- (f) A complaint which is not dismissed or resolved by agreement following an informal conference, shall be filed as a contested case with the State Office of Administrative Hearings.
- (g) An attorney for the agency must be present at all informal conferences.
- (h) Informal conferences are not open meetings subject to Chapter 551 of the Government Code and no formal record of the proceedings shall be made or maintained.
- (i) The Council finds and declares that informal conferences are part of the confidential complaint and investigation process, and as such, the Disciplinary Review Panel and agency staff shall take any and all steps necessary to ensure the confidentiality of informal conferences in accordance with §507.205 of the Occupations Code.

884.12. Complaint Disposition.

- (a) The Council must approve and enter all final orders following a contested case before SOAH or where no agreement exists between the agency and the respondent regarding the disposition of a contested enforcement related matter. However, each member board shall be responsible for reviewing complaints involving the standard of care, ethical guidelines, or scope of practice following a contested case before SOAH and making a recommendation to the Council regarding the final disposition. A recommendation from a member board must include any recommended modifications to the findings of fact and conclusions of law in the PFD, as well as the recommended sanction. A proposed final order reflecting a member board's recommendations shall satisfy the requirements of this rule.
- (b) The Council shall review recommendations from member boards for anti-competitive impacts, administrative consistency, and good governance concerns. Subchapter C – Disciplinary Guidelines and Schedule of Sanctions 884.20. Disciplinary Guidelines and General Schedule of Sanctions.

- (a) Purpose. These disciplinary sanction guidelines are designed to provide guidance in assessing sanctions for violations of the Occupations Code, Chapter 507, and the Council's rules. The purpose of disciplinary sanctions is to protect the public, deter future violations, offer opportunities for rehabilitation if appropriate, punish violators, and deter others from violations. These guidelines are intended to promote consistent sanctions for similar violations, facilitate timely resolution of cases, and encourage settlements.
 - (1) Single Violation. The standard disciplinary sanctions outlined in the applicable schedule of sanctions shall apply to cases involving a single violation, and in which there are no aggravating or mitigating factors.
 - (2) Multiple Violations. The Council may impose more severe or restrictive sanctions for multiple violations.
 - (3) Aggravating and Mitigating Factors. The Council may impose more or less severe or restrictive sanctions, based on any aggravating and/or mitigating factors that are found to apply in a particular case.
 - (4) The standard and minimum disciplinary sanctions outlined below are applicable to persons who are being sanctioned for the first time. The Council may consider more severe or restrictive sanctions if the persons have had sanctioned assessed against them previously.
 - (5) The maximum disciplinary sanction in all cases is revocation of the license, which may be accompanied by an administrative penalty of up to $5,000 per violation. In accordance with §507.352 of the Occupations Code, each day the violation continues or occurs is a separate violation.
 - (6) Each violation constitutes a separate offense, even if arising out of a single act.
 - (7) Failure to list a specific violation or Council rule in this rule does not prevent the Council from taking disciplinary action for such a violation.

- (8) If a sanction for a violation of state or federal law is not listed in this rule, or specifically stated elsewhere, the sanction shall be a reprimand and administrative penalty.
 - (9) Notwithstanding paragraph (8) of this subsection, the Council will evaluate and determine the appropriate sanction for a licensee with a qualifying criminal conviction in accordance with §53.021 of the Occupations Code.
 - (10) The Council may combine an administrative penalty with another standard disciplinary sanction to protect the public or deter future violations.
- (b) Standard Disciplinary Sanctions. The Council may impose the following disciplinary sanctions which are listed in descending order of severity:
- (1) Revocation;
 - (2) Suspension for a definite period of time;
 - (3) Suspension plus probation of any or all of the suspension period;
 - (4) Probation of the license for a definite period of time;
 - (5) Reprimand; and
 - (6) Administrative penalty.
- (c) The following standard disciplinary sanctions shall apply to violations of:

- (d) Additional Conditions. The Council may impose additional conditions or restrictions upon a license deemed necessary to facilitate the rehabilitation and education of the licensee and to protect the public, including but not limited to:
- (1) Consultation with the licensee on matters of ethics rules, laws and standards of practice by a licensed professional approved by the Council;
 - (2) Restrictions on the licensee's ability to provide certain types of services or to provide services to certain classes of patients;

- (3) Restrictions on the licensee's supervision of others in a particular area of practice;

 - (5) Taking and passing with the minimum required score of any examination required by the Council of a licensee; and
 - (6) Undergoing a psychological or medical evaluation by a qualified professional approved in advance by the Council and undergoing any treatment recommended pursuant to the evaluation.
- (e) Aggravating Factors. Aggravating factors are those which may increase the severity of unprofessional conduct, justifying the imposition of a more severe penalty. Such factors include, but are not limited to the following:
- (1) Physical or emotional harm and the type and severity thereof;
 - (2) Economic harm to any individual or entity and the severity thereof;
 - (3) Increased potential for harm to the public;
 - (4) Attempted concealment of misconduct;
 - (5) Premeditated conduct;
 - (6) Intentional misconduct;
 - (7) Prior written warnings or written admonishments from any supervisor or governmental agency or official regarding statutes or regulations pertaining to the licensee's practice;
 - (8) Prior misconduct of a similar or related nature;
 - (9) Disciplinary history;
 - (10) Likelihood of future misconduct of a similar nature;

- (f) Mitigating Factors. Mitigating factors are those which may reduce the severity of unprofessional conduct. Such factors include, but are not limited to the following:
 - (1) Acceptance of responsibility;
 - (2) Self-reporting of unprofessional conduct;
 - (3) Implementation of remedial measures to correct or mitigate harm arising from the unprofessional conduct;

- 884.21. Assessment of Sanction. The Council, subject to §507.306 of the Occupations Code, has the exclusive authority to assess sanctions against licensees who are found to have violated a law within its jurisdiction. While the Council will consider an ALJ's recommendations as to the sanctions to be imposed, it is not bound by such recommendations. CHAPTER 885. FEES

The Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council adopts new §885.1, relating to Fees.

The new section is adopted with changes to the proposed text as published in the April 24, 2020 issue of the Texas Register (45 TexReg 2685). In response to changes being proposed in 22 Tex. Admin. Code Ch. 681, where the term Licensed Professional Counselor Intern (LPC-I) is being changed to Licensed Professional Counselor Associate (LPC-A), the Council adopts the corresponding name changes in rule §885.1, as a non-substantive change, which is republished below.

Reasoned Justification.

The new rule is needed to implement Tex. H.B. 1501, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019). This legislation created the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council and authorized the Executive Council to regulate marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, psychologists, and social workers. Sections 507.151 and 507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to administer and enforce Chapters 501, 502, 503, 505, and 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code, as well as adopt rules as necessary to perform the Executive Council's duties and implement Chapter 507. Section 507.154 of the Tex. Occ. Code authorizes the Executive Council to set fees necessary to cover the costs of administering Chapters 501, 502, 503, 505, and 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code. The new rule establishes application and renewal fees in the amount necessary to meet the contingency rider found in §18.11 of Art. IX in the General Appropriations Act for 2020-2021, see Tex. H.B. 1, 86th Leg., R.S. (2019).

Summary of comments against the rule.

Commenters voiced their disapproval with the increase in fees, and many asked for a reduction in either the increase of the fees or a reduction in the fees previously charged. Some of the commenters believed licensing's fees were already too high and others requested that the fees stay the same. A group of licensees, psychologists, voiced their disapproval that the fees for their particular licensure application and renewals was substantially higher than others license types, some believed they were paying a disproportionate amount to fund the agency, and requested either a decrease in their fees or that all fees be the same for each license type. Some commenters voiced an opinion that an increase in fees will negatively impact businesses, while others believed businesses will be negatively impacted until the fees for all license types are the same. Some commenters also believed that having different fees for different licenses will reduce competition and put those license types with higher fees at a competitive disadvantage.

Agency Response.

The agency must generate enough revenue to meet the contingency rider found in §18.11 of Art. IX in the General Appropriations Act for 2020-2021. Therefore, in order to meet this obligation, some of the current fees for applications and renewals must be increased.

This adopted rule will increase application fees for the following license types: Licensed Baccalaureate Social Worker (LBSW) and Licensed Master Social Worker (LMSW) applications will increase by $29; Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW) applications will increase by $29; Social Worker supervisor status applications will increase by $30; initial Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist (LMFT) associate applications will increase by $29; LMFT by endorsement applications will increase by $31; LMFT supervisor status applications will increase by $30; Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC), LPC intern, and provisional license applications will increase by $31; and LPC supervisor status applications will decrease by $50.

This adopted rule will increase renewal fees for the following license types: LBSW and LMSW renewal applications will increase by $61; LMSW advanced practitioner and LCSW renewal applications will increase by $63; LMFT and LMFT associate renewal applications will increase by $11; LPC renewal applications will increase by $41; LPC supervisor status renewal applications will decrease by $50; and Licensed Specialist in School Psychology renewal applications will increase by $21. This adopted rule will create a new fee for the renewal of supervisor status for social workers which will be $50.

Those license types not listed will have no increase in application or renewal fees. For example, the application fee for psychologists may appear to have increased but the application process for licensure as a psychologist now includes the prior provisional licensure processes, so the net increase is effectively zero.

In order to equitably distribute the fees among the different license types, the agency started with the current application and renewal fees. In order to meet the legislatively mandated revenue requirement and in effort to implement the smallest possible changes to the current fee structure in place, those fees that were substantially higher than others stayed the same while those fees that were lower were increased modestly as listed above.

Several psychologists commented that by paying higher fees they were paying a disproportionate amount to fund the agency then other license types so they would be paying more and receiving the same benefits as others. This comment is not mathematically correct. According to the 2017 Sunset Commission report there are approximately 4,826 psychologists, if all renew their license under the new renewal fee of $412 it will generate approximately $1,988,312. According to the 2015 Sunset Commission report there are approximately 23,797 social workers, if all renew their license under the new renewal fee of $135 it will generate approximately $3,212,595. As a licensee group, psychologists will not be contributing a larger amount of revenue to the agency, the opposite is actually correct. Additionally, such a comment runs contrary to the intended purpose for the creation of the Executive Council, so that multiple mental health professions could come together, to pool resources, and become a more efficient regulatory body, as opposed to each licensed profession remaining siloed, having little interaction with each other.

Currently all license types are active in the Texas marketplace, and there is no current indication or data to support one license type has a competitive advantage or disadvantage over the other due to the current fee structure. The commenters have provided no empirical data or other information to support any anti-competitive effect the current fee structure has on the Texas marketplace. The commenters assume an increased fee or higher fee directly correlates to an anti-competitive effect, but psychologists have historically paid higher fees than other license types and again there is no current data to demonstrate one mental health profession has a competitive advantage or disadvantage over the other due to the current fees in place.

For these reasons the agency declines to make the requested changes, and hereby adopts the rule with no changes.

Statutory Authority.

The new rule is adopted under Tex. Occ. Code, Title 3, Subtitle I, Chapter 507, which provides the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council with the authority to make all rules, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of this State, which are reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties and regulations of proceedings before it.

Additionally, the Executive Council adopts this new rule pursuant to the authority found in §507.152 of the Tex. Occ. Code which vests the Executive Council with the authority to adopt rules necessary to perform its duties and implement Chapter 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

The Executive Council adopts this new rule pursuant to the authority found in §507.154 of the Tex. Occ. Code which authorizes the Executive Council to set fees necessary to cover the costs of administering Chapters 501, 502, 503, 505, and 507 of the Tex. Occ. Code.

Lastly, the Executive Council adopts these new rules under the authority found in §2001.004 of the Tex. Gov't Code which requires state agencies to adopt rules of practice stating the nature and requirements of all available formal and informal procedures.

The agency certifies that legal counsel has reviewed the adoption and found it to be a valid exercise of the agency's legal authority.

§681.51 Parenting Coordination

(a) In accordance with Texas Family Code, §153.601(3), "parenting coordinator" means an impartial third party:

(B) is not appointed under another statute or a rule of civil procedure.

(b) A licensee who serves as a parenting coordinator has a duty to provide the following information in writing to the parties of the suit about the responsibility of the licensee and the role of the appointed court.

(1) A licensee, who serves as a parenting coordinator, is not acting under the authority of a license issued by the Council and is not engaged in the practice of professional counseling. The services provided by the licensee who serves as a parenting coordinator are not within the jurisdiction of the Council, but rather the jurisdiction of the appointing court.

(2) Records of a licensee serving as a parenting coordinator are confidential under Texas Civil Practice and Remedies Code, §154.073. Licensees serving as a confidential parenting coordinator must comply with the Texas Civil Practice and Remedies Code, Chapter 154, relating to the release of information.

(3) A licensee must not provide professional counseling services to any person while simultaneously providing parenting coordination services. This section does not apply if the court enters a finding that mental health services are not readily available in the location where the parties reside.

(a) In accordance with Texas House Bill 1012, 81st Legislature, 2009, and Family Code, Chapter 153, this section establishes the practice standards for licensees who desire to serve as parenting facilitators.

(b) In accordance with Texas Family Code, §153.601(3-a), a "parenting facilitator" means an impartial third party:

(1) who, regardless of the title by which the person is designated by the court, performs any function described by Texas Family Code, §153.6061, in a suit; and

(B) is not appointed under another statute or a rule of civil procedure.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, licensees who desire to serve as parenting facilitators must comply with all applicable requirements of the Texas Family Code, Chapter 153, and this section. Licensees must also comply with all requirements of this chapter unless a provision is clearly inconsistent with the Texas Family Code, Chapter 153, or this section.

(d) In accordance with Texas Family Code, §153.6102(e), a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator must not provide other professional counseling services to any person while simultaneously providing parent facilitation services. This section does not apply if the court enters a finding that mental health services are not readily available in the location where the parties reside.

(e) In accordance with Texas Family Code, §153.6101(b)(1), a licensed professional counselor associate must not serve as a parenting facilitator.

(f) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator utilizes child-focused alternative dispute resolution processes, assists parents in implementing their parenting plan by facilitating the resolution of disputes in a timely manner, educates parents about children's needs, and engages in other activities as referenced in Texas Family Code, Chapter 153.

(g) A licensee serving as a parent facilitator must assist the parties involved in reducing harmful conflict and in promoting the best interests of the children.

(h) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator functions in four primary areas in providing services.

(1) Conflict management function--The primary role of the parenting facilitator is to assist the parties to work out disagreements regarding the children to minimize conflict. To assist the parents in reducing conflict, the parenting facilitator may monitor the electronic or written exchanges of parent communications and suggest productive forms of communication that limit conflict between the parents.

(2) Assessment function--A parenting facilitator must review applicable court orders, including protective orders, social studies, and other relevant records to analyze the impasses and issues as brought forth by the parties.

(3) Educational function--A parenting facilitator must educate the parties about child development, divorce, the impact of parental behavior on children, parenting skills, and communication and conflict resolution skills.

(4) Coordination/case management function--A parenting facilitator must work with the professionals and systems involved with the family (for example, mental health, health care, social services, education, or legal) as well as with extended family, stepparents, and significant others as necessary.

(i) A licensee, serving as a parenting facilitator, must be alert to the reasonable suspicion of acts of domestic violence directed at a parent, a current partner, or children. The parenting facilitator must adhere to protection orders, if any, and take reasonable measures to ensure the safety of the participants, the children and the parenting facilitator, while understanding that even with appropriate precautions a guarantee that no harm will occur can be neither stated nor implied.

(j) In order to protect the parties and children in domestic violence cases involving power, control and coercion, a parenting facilitator must tailor the techniques used so as to avoid offering the opportunity for further coercion.

(k) A licensee serving as a parent facilitator must be alert to the reasonable suspicion of substance abuse by parents or children, as well as mental health impairment of a parent or child.

(l) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator must not provide legal advice.

(m) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator must serve by written agreement of the parties and/or formal order of the court.

(n) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator must not initiate providing services until the licensee has received and reviewed the fully executed and filed court order or the signed agreement of the parties.

(4) must not intentionally or knowingly misrepresent or omit any material fact, law, or circumstance in the parenting facilitator process; and

(5) must not accept any engagement, provide any service, or perform any act outside the role of parenting facilitation that would compromise the facilitator's integrity or impartiality in the parenting facilitation process.

(q) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator may make referrals to other professionals to work with the family, but must avoid actual or apparent conflicts of interest by referrals. No commissions, rebates, or similar remuneration must be given or received by a licensee for parenting facilitation or other professional referrals.

(r) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator should attempt to bring about resolution of issues by agreement of the parties; however, the parenting facilitator is not acting in a formal mediation role. An effort towards resolving an issue, which may include therapeutic, mediation, education, and negotiation skills, does not disqualify a licensee from making recommendations regarding any issue that remains unresolved after efforts of facilitation.

(s) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator must communicate with all parties, attorneys, children, and the court in a manner which preserves the integrity of the parenting facilitation process and considers the safety of the parents and children.

(t) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator:

(1) may meet individually or jointly with the parties, as deemed appropriate by the parenting facilitator, and may interview the children;

(2) may interview any individuals who provide services to the children to assess the children's needs and wishes; and

(3) may communicate with the parties through face-to-face meetings or electronic communication.

(u) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator must, prior to the beginning of the parenting facilitation process and in writing, inform the parties of:

(1) the limitations on confidentiality in the parenting facilitation process; and

(2) the basis of fees and costs and the method of payment including any fees associated with postponement, cancellation and/or nonappearance, and the parties' pro rata share of the fees and costs as determined by the court order or written agreement of the parties.

(v) Information obtained during the parenting facilitation process must not be shared outside the parenting facilitation process except for professional purposes, as provided by court order, by written agreement of the parties, or as directed by the Council.

(w) In the initial session with each party, a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator must review the nature of the parenting facilitator's role with the parents to ensure that they understand the parenting facilitation process.

(x) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator:

(1) must comply with all mandatory reporting requirements, including but not limited to Texas Family Code Chapter 261, concerning abuse or neglect of minors;

(2) must report to law enforcement or other authorities if they have reason to believe that any participant appears to be at serious risk to harm themselves or a third party;

(3) must maintain records necessary to support charges for services and expenses and must make a detailed accounting of those charges to the parties and their counsel if requested to do so;

(4) must maintain notes regarding all communications with the parties, the children, and other persons with whom they speak about the case; and

(5) must maintain records in a manner that is professional, legible, comprehensive, and inclusive of information and documents that relate to the parenting facilitation process and that support any recommendations made by the licensee.

(y) Records of a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator, are not mental health records and are not subject to the disclosure requirements of Texas Health and Safety Code, Chapter 611. At a minimum, records must be maintained for the period of time described in §681.41(r) of this title (relating to General Ethical Requirements), or as otherwise directed by the court.

(z) Records of a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator must be released on the request of either parent, as directed by the court, or as directed by the Council.

(aa) Charges for parenting facilitation services must be based upon the actual time expended by the parenting facilitator or as directed by the written agreement of the parties and/or formal order of the court.

(bb) All fees and costs must be appropriately divided between the parties as directed by the court order of appointment and/or as noted in the parenting facilitators' written fee disclosure to the parties.

(cc) Fees may be disproportionately divided fees if one parent is disproportionately creating a need for services and if such a division is outlined in the court order of appointment and/or as noted in the parenting facilitators' written fee disclosure to the parties.

(dd) Services and activities for which a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator may charge include time spent interviewing parents, children and collateral sources of information; preparation of agreements, correspondence, and reports; review of records and correspondence; telephone and electronic communication; travel; court preparation; and appearances at hearings, depositions and meetings.

(ee) The minimum training for a licensee serving as a parent facilitator that is required by Texas Family Code, §153.6101(b)(2) is:

(1) eight hours of family violence dynamics training provided by a family violence service provider;

(2) 40 classroom hours of training in dispute resolution techniques in a course conducted by an alternative dispute resolution system or other dispute resolution organization approved by the court;

(3) 24 classroom hours of training in the fields of family dynamics, child development, family law; and

(4) 16 hours of training in the laws and Council rules governing parent coordination and facilitation, and the multiple styles and procedures used in different models of service.

(ff) A licensee serving as a parent facilitator must decline an appointment, withdraw, or request appropriate assistance when the facts and circumstances of the case are beyond the licensee's skill or expertise.

(gg) Since parenting facilitation services are addressed under multiple titles in different jurisdictions nationally, acceptability of training to meet the requirements of subsection (ee) of this section is based on functional skills taught during the training rather than the use of specific titles or names.

§681.53 Child Custody Evaluation, Adoption Evaluation, and Evaluations in Contested Adoptions

(b) A licensee who has completed a doctoral degree and at least 10 court-ordered child custody evaluations under the supervision of an individual qualified by Texas Family Code, Chapter 107 to perform child custody evaluations is qualified to conduct child custody evaluations under Texas Family Code, Chapter 107. All other licensees must comply with qualifications stipulated in Texas Family Code, Chapter 107.

(c) Any complaint relating to the outcome of a child custody evaluation or adoption evaluation conducted by a licensee must be reported to the court that ordered the evaluation, see Council rule 884.3.

(d) Disclosure of confidential information in violation of Texas Family Code, §107.111 or §107.163 is grounds for disciplinary action, up to and including revocation of license, by the Council.

(e) A licensee who provides services concerning a matter which the licensee knows or should know will be utilized in a legal proceeding, such as a divorce, child custody determination, disability claim, or criminal prosecution, must comply with all applicable Council rules regardless of whether the licensee is acting as a factual witness or an expert.

(f) A licensee may not provide therapy and any other type of service, including but not limited to a child custody evaluation or parenting facilitation, in the same case, whether such services are delivered sequentially or simultaneously.

(g) Licensees may not offer an expert opinion or recommendation relating to the conservatorship of or possession of or access to a child unless the licensee has conducted a child custody evaluation relating to the child under Texas Family Code, Subchapter D, Chapter 107.

~~[(b) Remedies available upon default. The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) may proceed in the party's absence and such failure to appear entitles the commission to seek informal disposition as provided by the APA. The ALJ may grant any motion by the commission to remove the case from the contested hearing docket and allow for informal disposition by the commissioner.]]~~

~~[(c) The board may enter a default judgment by issuing an order against the defaulting party in which the factual allegations in the notice of hearing are deemed admitted as true without the requirement of submitting additional proof, if it is established that proper notice was provided to the defaulting party opponent. For purposes of this section, proper notice means notice sufficient to meet the provisions of the Texas Government Code, Chapter 2001, and the State Office of Administrative Hearings Rules of Procedure.]]~~

~~[(d) Motion to set aside and reopen. A timely motion by the respondent to set aside the default order and reopen the record may be granted if the respondent establishes that the failure to attend the hearing was neither intentional nor the result of conscious indifference, and that such failure was due to mistake, accident, or circumstances beyond the respondent's control.]]~~

~~[(1) A motion to set aside the default order and reopen the record must be filed with the board prior to the time that the order of the board becomes final pursuant to the provisions of the Texas Government Code.]]~~

~~[(2) A motion to set aside the default order and reopen the record is not a motion for rehearing and is not to be considered a substitute for a motion for rehearing. The filing of a motion to set aside the default order and reopen has no effect on either the statutory time periods for the~~

~~filing of a motion for rehearing or on the time period for ruling on a motion for rehearing, as provided in the Texas Government Code.]~~

~~[(e) This subsection also applies to cases where service of the notice of hearing on a defaulting party is shown only by proof that the notice was sent to the party's last known address as shown on the commission's records, with no showing of actual receipt by the defaulting party or the defaulting party's agent. In that situation, the default procedures described in subsection (e) of this section may be used if there is credible evidence that the notice of hearing was sent by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, to the defaulting party's last known address.]~~

SUBCHAPTER D [M] SCHEDULE OF SANCTIONS

§681.201 Purpose of Subchapter D [M]

~~This schedule of sanctions is adopted as required by the Act §503.2015(2) [§503.402]. [The schedule is intended to be utilized by the complaints committee as a guide in assessing sanctions for violations of the Act or this chapter. The schedule is also intended to serve as a guide to administrative law judges and as a written statement of applicable rules or policies of the board pursuant to Texas Government Code, §2001.058(e). The failure of an administrative law judge to follow the schedule may serve as a basis to vacate or modify an order pursuant to Texas Government Code, §2001.058(e). This schedule is not intended as a substitute for thoughtful consideration of each individual disciplinary matter. Rather, it should be used as a tool in that effort.]~~

~~[$681.202 Relevant Factors]~~

~~[When a licensee has violated the Act or this chapter, three general factors combine to determine the appropriate sanction which includes: the culpability of the licensee; the harm caused or posed; and the requisite deterrence. It is the responsibility of the licensee to bring exonerating factors to the attention of the complaints committee or the administrative law judge. Specific factors are to be considered as set forth in paragraphs (1) — (5) of this section.]~~

~~[(1) Seriousness of Violation. The following factors are identified:]~~

~~[(A) the nature of the harm caused, or the risk posed, to the health, safety and welfare of the public, such as emotional, physical, or financial;]~~

~~[(B) the extent of the harm caused, or the risk posed, to the health, safety and welfare of the public, such as whether the harm is low, moderate or severe, and the number of persons harmed or exposed to risk; and]~~

~~[(C) the frequency and time periods covered by the violations, such as whether there were multiple violations, or a single violation, and the period of time over which the violations occurred.]~~

~~[(2) Nature of the violation. The following factors are identified:]~~

~~[(A) the relationship between the licensee and the person harmed, or exposed to harm such as a dependent relationship of a client-counselor, or stranger to the licensee;]~~

~~[(B) the vulnerability of the person harmed, or exposed to harm;]~~

~~[(C) the moral culpability of the licensee, such as whether the violation was:]~~

~~[(i) intentional or premeditated;]~~

~~[(ii) due to blatant disregard or gross neglect; or]~~

~~[(iii) resulted from simple error or inadvertence; and]~~

~~[(D) the extent to which the violation evidences lack of character, such as lack integrity, trustworthiness, or honesty.]~~

~~[(3) Personal Accountability. The following factors are identified:]~~

~~[(A) admission or wrong or error, and acceptance of responsibility;]~~

~~[(B) appropriate degree of remorse or concern;]~~

~~[(C) efforts to ameliorate the harm or make restitution;]~~

~~[(D) efforts to ensure future violations do not occur; and]~~

~~[(E) cooperation with any investigation or request for information.]~~

~~[(4) Deterrence. The following factors are identified:]~~

~~[(A) the sanction required to deter future similar violations by the licensee;]~~

~~[(B) sanctions necessary to ensure compliance by the licensee of other provisions of the Act or this chapter; and]~~

~~[(C) sanctions necessary to deter other licensees from such violations.]~~

~~[(5) Miscellaneous Factors. The following factors are identified:]~~

~~[(A) age and experience of the licensee at time of violation;]~~

~~[(B) presence or absence of prior or subsequent violations committed by the licensee;]~~

~~[(C) conduct and work activity prior to and following the violation;]~~

~~[(D) character references; and]~~

~~[(E) any other factors justice may require.]~~

§681.203 Severity Levels for the Schedule of Sanctions ~~[and Sanction Guide]~~

(a) The following are the severity levels for the schedule of sanctions.

~~The following severity levels and sanction guides are based on the relevant factors in §681.202 of this title (relating to Relevant Factors).~~

(1) Level One - revocation of license. These violations evidence intentional or gross misconduct on the part of the licensee and/or cause or pose a high degree of harm to the public and/or require severe punishment as a deterrent to the licensee, or other licensees. The fact that a license is ordered revoked does not necessarily mean the licensee can never regain licensure.

(2) Level Two - extended suspension of license. These violations involve less misconduct, harm, or need for deterrence than Level One violations, but may require termination of licensure for a period of not less than one year.

(3) Level Three - moderate suspension of license. These violations are less serious than Level Two violations, but may require termination of licensure for a period of time less than a year.

(4) Level Four - probated suspension of license. These violations do not involve enough harm, misconduct, or need for deterrence to warrant termination of licensure, yet are severe enough to warrant monitoring of the licensee to ensure future compliance. Probationary terms may be ordered as appropriate.

(5) Level Five - reprimand. These violations involve inadvertent or relatively minor misconduct and/or rule violations.

(b) Licensee who are in violation of a Council rule in this chapter may be subject to an administrative penalty of up to $5,000 per violation, per day of occurrence, and/or be required to refund all or a portion of the fees received from a consumer.

(c) Supervisors who are in violation of a Council rule in this chapter may be subject to an administrative penalty of up to $5,000 per violation, per day of occurrence, and/or be required to refund all or a portion of the fees received by the supervisor to his or her LPC Associate(s).

§681.204 Other Actions

(a) Complaints may be resolved by issuance of a warning letter or a conditional letter of agreement, which does not involve a formal disciplinary action.

(1) Warning letters inform licensees of their duties under the Act, the Council Act, or council rules, and whether the council has a concern about the circumstances surrounding the complaint.

(2) A conditional letter of agreement informs the licensee of the licensee's duties under the Act, the Council Act, or Council rules, whether the conduct or omission complained of appears to violate such duties, and creating Council ordered conditions for the long-term resolution of the issues in the complaint. This conditional letter of agreement specifies the immediate disposition of the complaint. The licensee is issued the conditional letter of agreement by staff; and a signature of agreement by the licensee is required. If the licensee fails to comply with all the Council ordered conditions in the specified time frame outlined in the conditional letter agreement, staff will open a new complaint arising out of non-compliance with the conditional letter agreement or the underlying conduct.

~~[The complaints committee or executive director, as appropriate, may also resolve pending complaints by issuance of formal advisory letters informing licensees of their duties under the Act or this chapter, and whether the conduct or omission complained of appears to violate such duties. Such advisory letters may be introduced as evidence in any subsequent disciplinary action involving acts or omissions after receipt of the advisory letters. The complaints committee or executive director, as appropriate, may also issue informal reminders to licensees regarding compliance with minor licensing matters. The licensee is not entitled to a hearing on the matters set forth in formal advisory letters or informal reminders, but may submit a written response to be included with such letters in the licensing record.]~~

~~(b) Degree Requirements.~~

~~(1) The applicant's transcript must state that the applicant has a doctoral degree that designates a major in psychology. Additionally, the doctoral degree must be from a program accredited by the American Psychological Association or from a regionally accredited institution.~~

Rule: 463.11. Licensed Psychologists.

Action: Proposed Repeal

Comment: The repeal of this rule is necessary to comply with changes made by HB1501 during the 86th Legislative Session. The requirements set forth in this rule are being repealed because they are either no longer necessary or will be promulgated, either in whole or in part, by the Texas Behavioral Health Executive Council in connection with its duties and responsibilities under Occupations Code, Chapter 507.

~~463.11. Licensed Psychologists.~~

~~(a) Application Requirements. An application for licensure as a psychologist includes, in addition to the requirements set forth in Board rule §463.5(1) of this title (relating to Application File Requirements):~~

~~(1) Documentation of active licensure as a provisionally licensed psychologist in good standing.~~

~~(2) Documentation of supervised experience from a licensed psychologist which satisfies the requirements of the Board. The formal internship should be documented by the Director of Internship Training when possible, but may be documented by a licensed psychologist with knowledge of the internship program and the applicant's participation in the internship program if the Director of Internship Training is unavailable.~~

~~(3) Documentation of licensure in other jurisdictions, including information on disciplinary action and pending complaints, sent directly to the Board.~~

~~(b) Degree Requirements. The degree requirements for licensure as a psychologist are the same as for provisional licensure as stated in Board rule §463.10 of this title (relating to Provisionally Licensed Psychologist).~~

~~(1) The applicant must affirm that he or she has received at least 3,000 hours of supervised experience from a licensed psychologist in the jurisdiction where the supervision took place. At least half of those hours (a minimum of 1,500 hours) must have been completed within a formal internship, and the remaining one-half (a minimum~~ of 1,500 hours) must have been completed after the doctoral degree was conferred or completed; and

(2) — The applicant must submit a self query report from the National Practitioner Data Bank (NPDB) reflecting no disciplinary history, other than disciplinary history related to continuing education or professional development. In order to qualify for licensure, an applicant must submit proof of a minimum of 3,500 hours of supervised experience, at least 1,750 of which must have been received after obtaining either provisional trainee status or provisional licensure, and at least 1,750 of which must have been obtained through a formal internship that occurred within the applicant's doctoral degree program. A formal internship completed after the doctoral degree was conferred, but otherwise meeting the requirements of this rule, will be accepted for an applicant who received his or her doctoral degree prior to September 1, 2017. Following the conferral of a doctoral degree, 1,750 hours obtained or completed while employed in the delivery of psychological services in an exempt setting; while licensed or authorized to practice in another jurisdiction; or while practicing as a psychological associate or specialist in school psychology in this state may be substituted for the minimum of 1,750 hours of supervised experience required as a provisional trainee or provisionally licensed psychologist if the experience was obtained or completed under the supervision of a licensed psychologist. Post-doctoral supervised experience obtained prior to September 1, 2016 may also be used to satisfy, either in whole or in part, the post-doctoral supervised experience required by this subsection if the experience was obtained under the supervision of a licensed psychologist.

 - ~~(II) — a gap of more than two years exists between the completion date of an applicant's hours of supervised experience acquired as a provisional trainee or provisionally licensed psychologist, and the date of application.~~
 - ~~(ii) — The Board shall grant a waiver upon a showing of good cause by the applicant. Good cause shall include, but is not limited to:~~

 - ~~(IV) — proof of licensure as a psychologist and continued employment in the delivery of psychological services in another jurisdiction.~~
- ~~(C) — A formal internship with rotations, or one that is part of a consortium within a doctoral program, is considered to be one placement. A consortium is composed of multiple placements that have entered into a written agreement setting forth the responsibilities and financial commitments of each participating member, for the purpose of offering a well-rounded, unified psychology training program~~

~~whereby trainees work at multiple sites, but obtain training from one primary site with some experience at or exposure to aspects of the other sites that the primary site does not offer.~~

- ~~(J) — The supervisee shall be designated by a title that clearly indicates a supervisory licensing status such as "intern," "resident," "trainee," or "fellow." An individual who is a Provisionally Licensed Psychologist or a Licensed Psychological Associate may use his or her title so long as those receiving psychological services are clearly informed that the individual is under the supervision of a licensed psychologist. An individual who is a Licensed Specialist in School Psychology may use his or her title so long as the supervised experience takes place within a school, and those receiving psychological services are clearly informed that the individual is under the supervision of an individual who is licensed as a psychologist and specialist in school psychology. - ~~(vii) — The internship must include a minimum of two hours per week of regularly scheduled formal, face-to-face individual supervision. There must also be at least four additional hours per week in learning activities such as: case conferences involving a case in which the intern was actively involved; seminars dealing with psychology issues; co-therapy with a staff person including discussion; group supervision; additional individual supervision.~~
- ~~(viii) — Training must be post-clerkship, post-practicum and post-externship level.~~
- ~~(ix) — The internship agency must have a minimum of two full-time equivalent interns at the internship level of training during applicant's training period.~~

- ~~(C) — The successful completion of an organized internship program in a school district meeting the following criteria:~~
 - ~~(i) — The internship experience must be provided at or near the end of the formal training period.~~
 - ~~(ii) — The internship experience must require a minimum of 35 hours per week over a period of one academic year, or a minimum of 20 hours per week over a period of two consecutive academic years.~~

~~demonstrate substantial equivalency if the applicant is licensed in a jurisdiction with which the Board has reciprocity.~~

Upon utilization of the full thirty days, or the expiration of one year from the date of licensure, whichever occurs first, the temporary license shall expire.~~
- ~~(f) — A temporary licensee must submit written notification to the Board of the dates he or she intends to deliver psychological services in this state, at least 24 hours prior to the delivery of those services. - (b) Satisfaction of Post-doctoral Supervised Experience with Doctoral Program Hours.
- (1) Applicants who received their doctoral degree from a degree program accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA), the Canadian Psychological Association (CPA), or a substantially equivalent degree program, may count the following hours of supervised experience completed as part of their degree program toward the required post-doctoral supervised experience:

- (B) practicum hours certified by the doctoral program training director (or the director's designee) as meeting the following criteria:

 - (ii) the practicum training is governed by a written training plan between the student, the practicum training site, and the graduate training program. The training plan must describe how the trainee's time is allotted and assure the quality, breadth, and depth of the training experience through specification of the goals and objectives of the practicum, the methods of evaluation of the trainee's performance, and reference to jurisdictional regulations governing the supervisory experience. The plan must also include the nature of supervision, the identities of the supervisors, and the form and frequency of feedback from the agency supervisor to the training faculty.  - (viii) the practicum must consist of a minimum of 15 hours of experience per week.
- (2) Applicants applying for licensure under the substantial equivalence clause must submit an affidavit or unsworn declaration from the program's training director or other designated leader familiar with the degree program, demonstrating the substantial equivalence of the applicant's degree program to an APA or CPA accredited program at the time of the conferral of applicant's degree.
- (3) An applicant and the affiant or declarant shall appear before the agency in person to answer any questions, produce supporting documentation, or address any concerns raised by the application if requested by a council or board member or the Executive Director. Failure to comply with this paragraph shall constitute grounds for denial of substantial equivalency under this rule.
- (c) General Requirements for Supervised Experience. All supervised experience for licensure as a psychologist, including the formal internship, must meet the following requirements:
 - (1) Each period of supervised experience must be obtained in not more than two placements, and in not more than 24 consecutive months.

- (4) The supervised experience required by this rule must be obtained after official enrollment in a doctoral program.
- (5) All supervised experience must be received from a psychologist licensed at the time supervision is received.
- (6) The supervising psychologist must be trained in the area of supervision provided to the supervisee.

- (7) Experience obtained from a psychologist who is related within the second degree of affinity or consanguinity to the supervisee may not be utilized to satisfy the requirements of this rule.

(3) An LSSP who contracts with a school to provide school psychological services must notify the school of any intent or plan to subcontract or assign those services to another provider prior to entering into the agreement. An LSSP subject to this provision shall be responsible for ensuring the school psychological services delivered comply with subsection (b)(3) above.

- ~~(3) Provide guidance for the resolution of potentially contested matters.~~

~~(b) Limitations. The Board shall render the final decision in a contested case and has the responsibility to assess sanctions against licensees who are found to have violated the Act. The Board welcomes recommendations of administrative law judges as to the sanctions to be imposed, but the Board is not bound by such recommendations. A sanction should be consistent with sanctions imposed in other similar cases and should reflect the Board's determination of the seriousness of the violation and the sanction required to deter future violations. A determination of the appropriate sanction is reserved to the Board. The appropriate sanction is not a proper finding of fact or conclusion of law. This chapter shall be construed and applied so as to preserve the Board's discretion in the imposition of sanctions and remedial measures pursuant to the Act's provisions related to methods of discipline and administrative penalties. This chapter shall be further construed and applied so as to be consistent with the Act, and shall be limited to the extent as otherwise proscribed by statute and Board rule.~~

The ultimate purpose of disciplinary sanctions is to protect the public, deter future violations, offer opportunities for rehabilitation if appropriate, punish violators, and deter others from violations. These guidelines are intended to promote consistent sanctions for similar violations, facilitate timely resolution of cases, and encourage settlements.~~

~~(1) Single Violation. The standard sanctions outlined below shall apply to cases involving a single violation of the Act, and in which there are no aggravating or mitigating factors that apply.~~

~~(2) Multiple Violations. The board may impose more restrictive sanctions when there are multiple violations of the Act.~~

~~(7) Failure to list a type of violation or Board Rule in this rule does not prevent the Board from taking disciplinary action for such a violation.~~

~~(8) If a sanction for a violation of Board Rules is not listed in this rule, or specifically stated elsewhere in laws, the default sanction shall be a reprimand.~~

~~(9) Notwithstanding paragraph (8) of this subsection, the Board will evaluate and determine, on a case-by-case basis, the appropriate sanction for an individual with a qualifying conviction under §501.401(2) of the Act, as well as for an individual found to be incompetent under §501.158 of the Act.~~

~~470.23. Aggravating and Mitigating Circumstances.~~

~~(a) Aggravating Circumstances. Aggravating circumstances are those which may increase the severity of a rule violation, justifying the imposition of a more severe penalty. Such circumstances include but are not limited to the following:~~

~~(3) — Implementation of remedial measures to correct or mitigate harm arising from the misconduct;~~

(g) A social worker shall bill clients or third parties for only those services actually rendered or as agreed to by mutual written understanding.

(h) A licensee shall not make any false, misleading, deceptive, fraudulent or exaggerated claim or statement about the effectiveness of the licensee's services; the licensee's qualifications, capabilities, background, training, experience, education, professional

(b) A licensee who serves as a parenting coordinator is not acting under the authority of a license issued by the ~~board~~Council, and is not engaged in the practice of social work. The services provided by the licensee who serves as a parenting coordinator are not within the jurisdiction of the ~~board~~Council, but rather the jurisdiction of the appointing court.

(c) A licensee who serves as a parenting coordinator has a duty to provide the information in subsection (b) of this section to the parties to the suit.

(d) Records of a licensee serving as a parenting coordinator are confidential under the Civil Practices and Remedies Code, §154.073. (a) In accordance with House Bill 1012, 81st Legislature, Regular Session, 2009, and Family Code, Chapter 153, this section establishes the practice standards for licensees who desire to serve as parenting facilitators.

(b) In accordance with the Family Code, §153.601(3-a), a "parenting facilitator" means an impartial third party:

(1) who, regardless of the title by which the person is designated by the court, performs any function described by the Family Code, §153.6061, in a suit; and

(2) who:

(A) is appointed under Family Code, Chapter 153, Subchapter K (relating to Parenting Plan, Parenting Coordinator, and Parenting Facilitator) by the court on its own motion, or on a motion or agreement of the parties, to assist parties in resolving parenting issues through procedures that are not confidential; and

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, licensees who desire to serve as parenting facilitators shall comply with all applicable requirements of the Family Code, Chapter 153, and this section. Licensees shall also comply with all requirements of this chapter unless a provision is clearly inconsistent with the Family Code, Chapter 153, or this section.

(d) In accordance with the Family Code, §153.6102(e), a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall not provide other social work services to any person while simultaneously providing parenting facilitation services. This section shall not apply if the court enters a finding that mental health services are not readily available in the location where the parties reside.

(e) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator utilizes child-focused alternative dispute resolution processes, assists parents in implementing their parenting plan by facilitating the resolution of disputes in a timely manner, educates parents about children's needs, and engages in other activities as referenced in the Family Code, Chapter 153.

(f) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall assist the parties involved in reducing harmful conflict and in promoting the best interests of the children.

(g) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator functions in four primary areas in providing services.

(1) Conflict management function. The primary role of the parenting facilitator is to assist the parties to work out disagreements regarding the children to minimize conflict. To assist the parents in reducing conflict, the parenting facilitator may monitor the electronic or written exchanges of parent communications and suggest productive forms of communication that limit conflict between the parents.

(2) Assessment function. A parenting facilitator shall review applicable court orders, including protective orders, social studies, and other relevant records to analyze the impasses and issues as brought forth by the parties.

(3) Educational function. A parenting facilitator shall educate the parties about child development, divorce, the impact of parental behavior on children, parenting skills, and communication and conflict resolution skills.

(4) Coordination/case management function. A parenting facilitator shall work with the professionals and systems involved with the family (for example, mental health, health care, social services, education, or legal) as well as with extended family, stepparents, and significant others as necessary.

(h) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall be alert to the reasonable suspicion of acts of domestic violence directed at a parent, a current partner, or children. The parenting facilitator shall adhere to protection orders, if any, and take reasonable measures to ensure the safety of the participants, the children and the parenting facilitator, while understanding that even with appropriate precautions a guarantee that no harm will occur can be neither stated nor implied.

(i) In order to protect the parties and children in domestic violence cases involving power, control and coercion, a parenting facilitator shall tailor the techniques used so as to avoid offering the opportunity for further coercion.

(j) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall be alert to the reasonable suspicion of substance abuse by parents or children, as well as mental health impairment of a parent or child.

(k) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall not provide legal advice.

(l) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall serve by written agreement of the parties and/or formal order of the court.

(o) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator:

(1) shall terminate or withdraw services if the licensee determines the licensee cannot act in an impartial or objective manner;

(2) shall not give or accept a gift, favor, loan or other item of value from any party having an interest in the parenting facilitation process;

(3) shall not coerce or improperly influence any party to make a decision;

(4) shall not intentionally or knowingly misrepresent or omit any material fact, law, or circumstance in the parenting facilitator process; and

(5) shall not accept any engagement, provide any service, or perform any act outside the role of parenting facilitation that would compromise the facilitator's integrity or impartiality in the parenting facilitation process.

(p) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator may make referrals to other professionals to work with the family, but shall avoid actual or apparent conflicts of interest by referrals. No commissions, rebates, or similar remuneration shall be given or received by a licensee for parenting facilitation or other professional referrals.

(q) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator should attempt to bring about resolution of issues by agreement of the parties; however, the parenting facilitator is not acting in a formal mediation role. An effort towards resolving an issue, which may include therapeutic, mediation, education, and negotiation skills, does not disqualify a licensee from making recommendations regarding any issue that remains unresolved after efforts of facilitation.

(r) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall communicate with all parties, attorneys, children, and the court in a manner which preserves the integrity of the parenting facilitation process and considers the safety of the parents and children.

(s) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator:

(1) may meet individually or jointly with the parties, as deemed appropriate by the parenting facilitator, and may interview the children;

(2) may interview any individuals who provide services to the children to assess the children's needs and wishes; and

(3) may communicate with the parties through face-to-face meetings or electronic communication.

(t) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall, prior to the beginning of the parenting facilitation process and in writing, inform the parties of:

(1) the limitations on confidentiality in the parenting facilitation process; and

(2) the basis of fees and costs and the method of payment, including any fees associated with postponement, cancellation and/or nonappearance, and the parties' pro rata share of the fees and costs as determined by the court order or written agreement of the parties.

(u) Information obtained during the parenting facilitation process shall not be shared outside the parenting facilitation process except for professional purposes, as provided by court order, by written agreement of the parties, or as directed by the ~~board~~Council.

(v) In the initial session with each party, a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall review the nature of the parenting facilitator's role with the parents to ensure that they understand the parenting facilitation process.

(w) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator:

(1) shall comply with all mandatory reporting requirements, including but not limited to Family Code, Chapter 261, concerning abuse or neglect of minors;

(2) shall report to law enforcement or other authorities if they have reason to believe that any participant appears to be at serious risk to harm themselves or a third party;

(3) shall maintain records necessary to support charges for services and expenses, and shall make a detailed accounting of those charges to the parties and their counsel, if requested to do so;

(4) shall maintain notes regarding all communications with the parties, the children, and other persons with whom they speak about the case; and

(5) shall maintain records in a manner that is professional, legible, comprehensive, and inclusive of information and documents that relate to the parenting facilitation process and that support any recommendations made by the licensee.

(x) Records of a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator are not mental health records and are not subject to the disclosure requirements of Health and Safety Code, Chapter 611. At a minimum, records shall be maintained for the period of time described in §781.209(4) of this title (relating to Client Records and Record Keeping), or as otherwise directed by the court.

(y) Records of a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall be released on the request of either parent, as directed by the court, or as directed by the ~~board~~Council.

(z) Charges for parenting facilitation services shall be based upon the actual time expended by the parenting facilitator, or as directed by the written agreement of the parties, and/or formal order of the court.

(aa) All fees and costs shall be appropriately divided between the parties as directed by the court order of appointment and/or as noted in the parenting facilitators' written fee disclosure to the parties.

(bb) Fees may be disproportionately divided fees if one parent is disproportionately creating a need for services and if such a division is outlined in the court order of appointment and/or as noted in the parenting facilitators' written fee disclosure to the parties.

(cc) Services and activities for which a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator may charge include time spent interviewing parents, children and collateral sources of information; preparation of agreements, correspondence, and reports; review of records and correspondence; telephone and electronic communication; travel; court preparation; and appearances at hearings, depositions and meetings.

(dd) The minimum training for a licensee serving as a parenting facilitator that is required by the Family Code, §153.6101(b), and is determined by the court is:

(1) eight hours of family violence dynamics training provided by a family violence service provider;

(2) 40 classroom hours of training in dispute resolution techniques in a course conducted by an alternative dispute resolution system or other dispute resolution organization approved by the court;

(3) 24 classroom hours of training in the fields of family dynamics, child development, family law; and

(4) 16 hours of training in the laws and ~~board~~Council rules governing parenting coordination and facilitation, and the multiple styles and procedures used in different models of service.

(ee) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator:

(1) shall complete minimum training as required by the Family Code, §153.6101, as determined by the appointing court;

(2) shall have extensive practical experience with high conflict or litigating parents;

(3) shall complete and document upon request advanced training in family dynamics, child maltreatment, co-parenting, and high conflict separation and divorce; and

(4) shall regularly complete continuing education related to co-parenting issues, high-conflict families and the parenting coordination and facilitation process.

(ff) A licensee serving as a parenting facilitator shall decline an appointment, withdraw, or request appropriate assistance when the facts and circumstances of the case are beyond the licensee's skill or expertise.

(gg) Since parenting facilitation services are addressed under multiple titles in different jurisdictions nationally, acceptability of training to meet the requirements of subsection (ddd) of this section is based on functional skills taught during the training rather than the use of specific titles or names.

§781.222322. Child Custody Evaluations.

(a) Licensees shall comply with Texas Family Code, Chapter 107, Subchapters D, E, and F, concerning Child Custody Evaluation, Adoption Evaluation, and Evaluations in Contested Adoptions.

(b) A licensee who has completed a doctoral degree and at least 10 court-ordered child custody evaluations under the supervision of an individual qualified by the Texas Family Code, Chapter 107 to perform child custody evaluations is qualified to conduct child custody evaluations under Texas Family Code, Chapter 107.

All other licensees must comply with the qualification requirements stipulated in Texas Family Code, Chapter 107.

(c) Any complaint relating to the outcome of a child custody evaluation or adoption evaluation conducted by a licensee must be re-reported to the court that ordered the evaluation. ~~The board only reviews complaints regarding forensic evaluations addressing violation of specific board rules.~~

(d) Disclosure of confidential information in violation of Texas Family Code, §107.111 or §107.163 is grounds for disciplinary action, up to and including revocation of license, by the ~~board~~Council.

(e) A licensee who provides services concerning a matter which the licensee knows or should know will be utilized in a legal proceeding, such as a divorce, child custody determination, disability claim, or criminal prosecution, must comply with all applicable ~~board~~Council rules in this chapter regardless of whether the licensee is acting as a factual witness or an expert.

(f) A licensee may not provide therapy and any other type of service, including but not limited to a child custody evaluation or parenting facilitation, in the same case, whether such services are delivered sequentially or simultaneously.

(g) Licensees may not offer an expert opinion or recommendation relating to the conservatorship of or possession of or access to a child unless the licensee has conducted a child custody evaluation relating to the child under Texas Family Code, Chapter 107, Subchapter D.

(h) Licensees providing child custody evaluations or adoption evaluations shall, prior to beginning the evaluation, in writing inform the parties of:

(1) the limitations on confidentiality in the evaluation process; and

(2) the basis of fees and costs and the method of payment, including any fees associated with postponement, cancelation and/or nonappearance, and the parties' pro rata share of the fees and costs as determined by the court order or written agreement of the parties.

(i) A Licensed Baccalaureate Social Worker shall not conduct child custody evaluations or adoption evaluations unless qualified to provide such services by another professional license or otherwise by Texas Family Code, Chapter 107.

§781.223323. Technology in Social Work Practice.

505, as if providing face to face services.

In the absence of new evidence known to, but not disclosed by, the requestor or not reasonably available to the commission at the time the letter is issued, the commission's ruling on the request determines the requestor's eligibility with respect to the grounds for potential ineligibility set out in the letter.

(d) A person who has obtained only the temporary license may not begin supervision until the boardCouncil issues a regular license.

(e) The boardCouncil may use the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) guidelines developed in 1996 to demonstrate whether a professional is an independent contractor or an employee. These guidelines revolve around the control an employer has in an employer-employee relationship, in which the employer has the right to control the "means and details" by which services are performed.

(1) Behavioral control. The employer can control the employee's behavior by giving instructions about how the work gets done rather than simply looking at the end products of work. The more detailed the instructions, the more control the employer exercises. An employer requiring that employees be trained for the job is also an example of behavioral control, though contractors may also go through training.

(2) Financial control. The employer determines the amount and regularity of payments to employees. A contractor is typically paid when he/she completes the work, and the contractor usually sets a timeframe for completing the work. The most important element of financial control is that a contractor has more freedom to make business decisions that affect the profitability of his/her work. A contractor, for instance, may invest in renting an office or buying equipment, while the employee does not. While employees are usually reimbursed for job-related expenses, the contractor may or may not be reimbursed, but lack of reimbursement usually signals that a worker is independent. An independent contractor often makes his or her services available to other potential clients, while an employee does not.

(3) Relationship of the parties. The intent of the relationship is significant. The relationship is usually outlined in the written contract and gives one party more control than the other. If a company gives a worker employee benefits, the worker is an employee. The ability to terminate the relationship is another evidence of control in the relationship. If the employer-employee relationship appears to be permanent, it denotes an employee, not contractor, relationship. If a worker performs activities that are a key aspect of the company's regular business, that denotes an employee status.

(f) An LBSW or LMSW who plans to apply for the specialty recognition of non-clinical independent practice shall follow procedures set out in §781.402 of this title (relating to Clinical Supervision for LCSW and Non-Clinical Supervision for LMSW-AP and Independent Practice Recognition).

(g) An LBSW or LMSW may practice independently when the LMSW or LBSW holds the independent practice specialty recognition, or when under a supervision plan for independent practice that has been approved by the Board Council.

§781.404. Recognition as a Board Council-approved Supervisor and the Supervision Process.

(1) administrative or work-related supervision of an employee, contractor or volunteer that is not related to qualification for licensure, practice specialty recognition, a disciplinary order, or a condition of new or continued licensure;

(2) clinical supervision of a Licensed Master Social Worker in a setting in which the LMSW is providing clinical services; the supervision may be provided by a Licensed Professional Counselor, Licensed Psychologist, Licensed Marriage

~~a board-approved supervisor toward licensure under the AMEC program; or~~

(1) A ~~board~~Council-approved supervisor must be actively licensed in good standing by the ~~board~~Council as an LBSW, an LMSW, an LCSW, or be recognized as an Advanced Practitioner (LMSW-AP), or hold the equivalent social work license in another jurisdiction. ~~An individual whose licensure status is emeritus may not serve as a board-approved supervisor.~~ The person applying for ~~board~~Council-approved status must have practiced at his/her category of licensure for two years. The ~~board~~Council-approved supervisor shall supervise only those supervisees who provide services that fall within the supervisor's own competency.

(B) An LMSW-AP may supervise non-clinical experience toward the Advanced Practitioner specialty recognition; non-clinical experience toward the non-clinical Independent Practice Recognition; ~~a licensee under probationary initial or continued licensure; and~~ boardCouncil-ordered probated suspension for non-clinical practitioners; ~~and probationary license holders under the AMEC program.~~

(C) An LMSW with the Independent Practice Recognition (non-clinical) who is a boardCouncil-approved supervisor may supervise an LBSW's or LMSW's non-clinical experience toward the non-clinical Independent Practice Recognition; ~~an LBSW or LMSW under probationary initial or continued licensure; and~~ an LBSW or LMSW (non-clinical) under boardCouncil-ordered probated suspension; ~~and a probationary license holder under the AMEC program; however, an LMSW who does not hold the independent practice recognition may only supervise probationary license holders under the AMEC program in an employment setting.~~

(D) An LBSW with the non-clinical Independent Practice Recognition who is a boardCouncil-approved supervisor may supervise: an LBSW's non-clinical experience toward the non-clinical

Independent Practice Recognition; ~~an LBSW under probationary initial or continued licensure; and an LBSW under boardCouncil-ordered probated suspension; and a probationary LBSW license holder under the AMEC program; however, an LBSW who does not hold the independent practice recognition may only supervise probationary license holders under the AMEC program in an employment setting.~~

~~(8) On receiving the licensee's application to be a board-approved supervisor, as well as fee and verification of qualifications, the board will issue a letter notifying the licensee that the licensee is a board-approved supervisor.~~

(9) The approved supervisor must renew the approved supervisor status in conjunction with the biennial license renewal. The approved supervisor may surrender supervisory status by documenting the choice on the appropriate boardCouncil renewal form and subtracting the supervisory renewal fee from the renewal payment. If a licensee who has surrendered supervisory status desires to regain supervisory status, the licensee must reapply and meet the current requirements for approved supervisor status.

(10) A supervisor must maintain the qualifications described in this section while he or she is providing supervision.

(11) A boardCouncil-approved supervisor who wishes to provide any form of boardCouncil-approved or boardCouncil-ordered supervision must comply with the following.

(A) The supervisor is obligated to keep legible, accurate, complete, signed supervision notes and must be able to produce such documentation for the boardCouncil if requested. The notes shall document the content, duration, and date of each supervision session.

(C) A boardCouncil-approved supervisor may not charge or collect a fee or anything of value from his or her employee or contract employee for the supervision services provided to the employee or contract employee.

(D) Before entering into a supervisory agreement, the supervisor shall be aware of all conditions of exchange with the clients served by her or his supervisee. The supervisor shall not provide supervision if the supervisee is practicing outside the authorized scope of the license. If the supervisor believes that a social worker is practicing outside the scope of the license, the supervisor shall make a report to the ~~board~~Council.

(E) A supervisor shall not be employed by or under the employment supervision of the person who he or she is supervising.

(F) A supervisor shall not be a family member of the person being supervised.

(G) A supervisee must have a clearly defined job description and responsibilities.

(H) A supervisee who provides client services for payment or reimbursement shall submit billing to the client or third-party payers which clearly indicates the services provided and who provided the services, and specifying the supervisee's licensure category and the fact that the licensee is under supervision.

(I) If either the supervisor or supervisee has an expired license or a license that is revoked or suspended during supervision, supervision hours accumulated during that time will be accepted only if the licensee appeals to and receives approval from the ~~board~~Council.

(J) A licensee must be a current ~~board~~Council-approved supervisor in order to provide professional development supervision toward licensure or specialty recognition, or to provide ~~board~~Council-ordered supervision to a licensee. Providing supervision without having met all requirements for current, valid ~~board~~Council-approved supervisor status may be grounds for disciplinary action against the supervisor.

(K) The supervisor shall ensure that the supervisee knows and adheres to ~~the Subchapter B, Rules of Practice, of this Chapter. Code of Conduct and Professional Standards of Practice of this chapter.~~

(L) The supervisor and supervisee shall avoid forming any relationship with each other that impairs the objective, professional judgment and prudent, ethical behavior of either.

(N) The ~~board~~Council may deny, revoke, or suspend

~~boardCouncil~~-approved supervisory status ~~following a fair hearing~~ for ~~a~~ violation of the Act or rules, ~~according to the commission fair hearing rules~~. Continuing to supervise after the ~~boardCouncil~~ has denied, revoked, or suspended ~~boardCouncil~~-approved supervisor status, or after the supervisor's supervisory status expires, may be grounds for disciplinary action against the supervisor.

(O) If a supervisor's ~~boardCouncil~~-approved status is expired, suspended, or revoked, the supervisor shall refund all supervisory fees the supervisee paid after the date the supervisor ceased to be ~~boardCouncil~~-approved.

(P) A supervisor is responsible for developing a well-conceptualized supervision plan with the supervisee, and for updating that plan whenever there is a change in agency of employment, job function, goals for supervision, or method by which supervision is provided.

(Q) All ~~boardCouncil~~-approved supervisors shall have taken a ~~boardCouncil~~-approved supervision training course by January 1, 2014 in order to renew ~~boardCouncil~~-approved supervisor status. The ~~boardCouncil~~ recognizes that many licensees have had little, if any, formal education about supervision theories, strategies, problem-solving, and accountability, particularly LBSWs who may supervise licensees toward the IPR. Though some supervisors have functioned as employment supervisors for some time and have acquired practical knowledge, their practical supervision skills may be focused in one practice area, and may not include current skills in various supervision methods or familiarity with emerging supervisory theories, strategies, and regulations. Therefore, the ~~boardCouncil~~ values high-quality, contemporary, multi-modality supervision training to ensure that all supervisors have refreshed their supervisory skills and knowledge in order to help supervisees practice safely and effectively.

(12) A ~~boardCouncil~~-approved supervisor who wishes to provide supervision towards licensure as an LCSW or towards specialty recognition in Independent Practice (IPR) or Advanced Practitioner (LMSW-AP), which is supervision for professional growth, must comply with the following.

(A) Supervision toward licensure or specialty recognition may occur in one-on-one sessions, in group sessions, or in a combination of one-on-one and group sessions. Session may transpire in the same geographic location, or via audio, web technology or other electronic supervision techniques that comply with HIPAA and Texas Health and Safety Code, Chapter 611, and/or other applicable state or federal statutes or rules.

(B) Supervision groups shall have no fewer than two members and no more than six.

(C) Supervision shall occur in proportion to the number of actual hours worked, with a base line of one hour of supervision for every 40 hours worked. If the supervisee works full-time, supervision shall occur on average at least twice a month and for no less than four hours per month; if the supervisee works part-time (at least 20 hours per week), supervision shall occur on average at least once a month and no less than two hours per month. Supervisory sessions shall last at least one hour and no more than two hours per session. No more than 10 hours of supervision may be counted in any one month, or 30-day period, as appropriate, towards satisfying minimum requirements for licensure or specialty recognition.

(D) The boardCouncil considers supervision toward licensure or specialty recognition to be supervision which promotes professional growth. Therefore, all supervision formats must encourage clear, accurate communication between the supervisor and the supervisee, including case-based communication that meets standards for confidentiality. Though the boardCouncil favors supervision formats in which the supervisor and supervisee are in the same geographical place for a substantial part of the supervision time, the boardCouncil also recognizes that some current and future technology, such as using reliable, technologically-secure computer cameras and microphones, can allow personal face-to-face, though remote, interaction, and can support professional growth. Supervision formats must be clearly described in the supervision plan, explaining how the supervision strategies and methods of delivery meet the supervisee's professional growth needs and ensure that confidentiality is protected. The plan must be approved by the boardCouncil.

(E) Supervision toward licensure or specialty recognition must extend over a full 3000 hours over a period of not less than 24 full months and a period of not more than 48 full months for LCSW or LMSW-AP or not more than 60 full months for Independent Practice Recognition (IPR). Even if the individual completes the minimum of 3000 hours of supervised experience and minimum of 100 hours of supervision prior to 24 months from the start date of supervision, supervision which meets the boardCouncil's minimum requirements shall extend to a minimum of 24 full months. A month is a 30-day period or the length of the actual calendar month, whichever is longer.

(F) The supervisor and the supervisee bear professional responsibility for the supervisee's professional activities.

(G) If the supervisor determines that the supervisee lacks the professional skills and competence to practice social work under a regular license, the supervisor shall develop and implement a written remediation plan for the supervisee.

(H) BoardCouncil-approved supervised professional experience towards licensure must comply with §781.401 of this title (relating to Qualifications for Licensure) and §781.402 of this title (relating to Clinical Supervision for LCSW and Non-Clinical Supervision for LMSW-AP and Independent Practice Recognition) of this title and all other applicable laws and rules.

(13) A boardCouncil-approved supervisor who wishes to provide supervision required as a result of a boardCouncil order must comply with ~~relevant provisions~~

~~of §781.413 of this title (relating to Alternate Method of Examining Competency (AMEC) Program), §781.610 of this title (relating to Due Process Following Violation of an Order) and §781.806 of this title (relating to Probation) of this title, all other applicable laws and rules, and/or the following.~~

(A) A licensee who is required to be supervised as a condition of initial licensure, continued licensure, or disciplinary action must:

(i) submit one supervisory plan for each practice location to the boardCouncil for approval by the boardCouncil or ~~executive director/its~~ designee within 30 days of initiating supervision;

(ii) submit a current job description from the agency in which the social worker is employed with a verification of authenticity from the agency director or his or her designee on agency letterhead or submit a copy of the contract or appointment under which the licensee intends to work, along with a statement from the potential supervisor that the supervisor has reviewed the contract and is qualified to supervise the licensee in the setting;

(iii) ensure that the supervisor submits reports to the boardCouncil on a schedule determined by the boardCouncil. In each report, the supervisor must address the supervisee's performance, how closely the supervisee adheres to statutes and rules, any special circumstances that led to the imposition of supervision, and recommend whether the supervisee should continue licensure. If the supervisor does not recommend the supervisee for continued licensure, the supervisor must provide specific reasons for not recommending the supervisee. The boardCouncil may consider the supervisor's reservations as it evaluates the supervision verification the supervisee submits; and

(iv) notify the boardCouncil immediately if there is a disruption in the supervisory relationship or change in practice location and submit a new supervisory plan within 30 days of the break or change in practice location.

(B) The supervisor who agrees to provide boardCouncil-ordered supervision of a licensee who is under boardCouncil disciplinary action must understand the boardCouncil order and follow the supervision stipulations outlined in the order. The supervisor must address with the licensee those professional behaviors that led to boardCouncil discipline, and must help to remediate those concerns while assisting the licensee to develop strategies to avoid repeating illegal, substandard, or unethical behaviors.

(C) BoardCouncil-ordered and mandated supervision timeframes are specified in the boardCouncil order.

(c) A licensee who submits one of the following: a Clinical Supervision Plan, a Non-Clinical Supervision Plan, or a BoardCouncil-Ordered Supervision Plan, to the boardCouncil for approval, shall receive a written response from the boardCouncil of either approval or deficiency related to the plan. If no written response is received by the licensee within four weeks of submission of the plan, it is the responsibility of the licensee who has submitted the plan to follow-up with the boardCouncil office related to receipt and/or status of the plan within 60 days of submission. If written approval or deficiency is sent to the last known address of the licensee, a boardCouncil response related to acceptance of the plan shall be considered to have been sent. Supervision and supervised experience hours are not acceptable to meet minimum requirements towards licensure or specialty recognition or to satisfy the terms of a boardCouncil order if not accrued under a boardCouncil-approved plan without explicit authorization from the boardCouncil.

§781.405. Application for Licensure.

(a) A licensure or specialty application must be ~~on the official form designated by and available from the board~~submitted in accordance with Council rules 882.1 and 882.2.

~~(b) The application process begins when the board office receives the completed application form and fee.~~

~~(c) The commission will acknowledge in writing receiving the application and fee within 30 working days of receipt. The letter will include the requested licensing or specialty recognition category; any documented deficiencies in qualifications; and any additional documentation, such as transcripts or supervisory references, required for the examination approval.~~

~~(d) The board will mail a letter approving the applicant to sit for the examination within 30 working days after the board office receives all required documentation.~~

~~(e) If an applicant fails to fully document his or her qualifications and/or fails to pass the examination within 12 months after filing the application, his or her application shall be voided, and the applicant will be required to reapply.~~

~~(f) When the applicant passes the examination, the commission~~

~~shall mail an approval notice stating the initial licensure fee.~~

~~(g) Under no circumstances may a license applicant falsify any application materials. If the board determines that false information has been submitted, the applicant shall be determined unfit for licensure.~~

~~(h) When the applicant has met all other qualifications for licensure or specialty recognition, and when the board office receives the applicant's license fee payment, the board will grant the license or specialty recognition.~~

~~(i) In the event an application is not processed in the time periods stated in this section, the applicant has the right to request, in writing, reimbursement of all fees paid in that particular application process. The applicant shall address the reimbursement request to the executive director, who will respond within 30 days. The director may find that good cause existed for exceeding the time period and may deny the request. In that event, the applicant may appeal in writing to the board chairperson, addressed to the board office. The chairperson shall review the executive director's report of the situation and may approve or deny, in writing, the applicant's request for reimbursement of fees.~~

§781.406. Required Documentation of Qualifications for Licensure.

(a) Application form. An applicant for licensure must submit a completed official application form with all requested information.

(b) Education verification.

(1) The applicant's education must be documented by official college transcripts from social work educational units accredited by CSWE.

(2) Degrees for licensure as an LBSW or LMSW must be from programs accredited or in candidacy for accreditation by CSWE. ~~(Current written verification of a program's CSWE candidacy status must be on file with the boardCouncil.) College or university degrees from outside of the United States and its territories must be from programs judged by the CSWE to be equivalent to a CSWE accredited program in the United States.~~

(c) Experience verification.

(1) An applicant's experience for licensure or for specialty recognition must meet the requirements of §781.401 of this title (relating to Qualifications for Licensure), §781.402 of this title (relating to Clinical Supervision for LCSW and Non-Clinical Supervision for LMSW-AP and Independent Practice Recognition), and §781.404 of this title (relating to Recognition as a ~~Board~~Council-approved Supervisor and the Supervision Process). The applicant must document the names and addresses of supervisors; beginning and ending dates of supervision; job description; and average number of hours of social work activity per week. The applicant must further document the appropriate supervision plan and verification form, both approved by the ~~board~~Council, for each practice location. If any elements described in the supervision plan change, including but not limited to work hours, full- or part-time work status, location of supervision, or name of supervisor, the applicant must submit the appropriate verification form within 30 days of the change or supervision termination. The applicant must submit a new, complete supervision plan for ~~board~~Council approval within 30 days of beginning the new supervision agreement.

(2) The applicant's experience must have been in a position providing social work services, under the supervision of a qualified supervisor, with written evaluations to demonstrate satisfactory performance.

(3) Supervised experience must have occurred within the five calendar years immediately preceding the date of application.

(4) The applicant must maintain and upon request, provide to the boardCouncil documentation of employment status, pay vouchers, or supervisory evaluations.

~~(d) References. An applicant must list on the official application the names and addresses of three individuals familiar with the applicant's professional qualifications. The boardCouncil may contact the references for verification of the applicant's qualifications and fitness.~~

~~(e) Jurisprudence examination. Applicants for a license must complete the boardCouncil's jurisprudence examination and submit proof of completion at the time of application. The jurisprudence examination must have been completed no more than six months prior to the date of application.~~

~~§781.407. Fitness of Applicants for Licensure:~~

~~(a) To determine the applicant's fitness, the board shall consider the applicant's skills and abilities to provide adequate social work services to clients; the applicant's ethical behavior in relationships with other professionals and clients; and the applicant's worthiness of public trust and confidence.~~

~~(b) The board may consider a person, who has committed any act that would have been a violation of the Act or this chapter had the person been licensed at~~

~~the time the act was committed, as unworthy of public trust and confidence.~~

~~(c) Surrender or revocation of a social work license within the previous five years while under investigation or under a board order for professional misconduct shall be considered evidence that the person is unworthy of public trust and confidence.~~

~~(d) In determining fitness, the board may also consider a surrender, revocation, or violation of a board order which occurred more than five years before application.~~

~~§781.408. Materials Considered in Determination of Fitness of Applicants:~~

~~In determining the fitness of applicants, the board shall consider evaluations and assessments of supervisors, employers, instructors, and other individuals who can attest to the applicant's fitness for practice; transcripts or findings from official court, hearing, or investigative proceedings; and other relevant information.~~

~~§781.409. Finding of Non-fitness:~~

~~(a) The board may deny a license, license renewal, or specialty recognition if it substantiates that the applicant lacks the necessary skills and abilities to provide adequate social work services; has misrepresented any materials in~~

~~the licensure application or renewal application, or any materials submitted to the board; has violated any provision of the Act in effect when the applicant applied; or has violated the Code of Conduct, Standards of Practice, or any other section of this chapter which would have applied had the applicant been licensed when he/she committed the violation.~~

~~(b) The board may require an applicant for licensure or licensure renewal to obtain a criminal background check from a board-designated agency and to provide the board an official copy of that report. The board may consider the report in determining the applicant's eligibility for licensure or renewal. Failure to obtain the background check within 30 days of the board's request is grounds for denying the application.~~

~~§781.410. Provisional Licenses.~~

~~The board may grant a provisional social work license to a person who holds, at the time of application, a social work license or certificate issued by another jurisdiction acceptable to the board, and who applies for the provisional license in writing and submits all required academic and experience documentation required for licensure. The applicant must have passed an equivalent licensing test as accepted by the board. If granted a provisional license, the individual must use the appropriate licensing title followed by the word "provisional." If the board deems~~

~~that the applicant meets the requirements for licensure set forth in this Act, the board will issue a regular license. If the board determines that the applicant does not meet this state's licensing requirements, the board will deny the application, and the provisional license will no longer be valid.~~

§781.411. Temporary License.

(a) Prior to examination, a licensure applicant may obtain a temporary social work license as long as the applicant meets all the requirements, except the licensing examination, for the license category the applicant seeks.

(b) A person holding a temporary license must take the designated examination within six months of issuance of the temporary license.

(c) The temporary license is valid until the licensee attempts the appropriate examination or the end of the six-month issuance of the temporary license.

(d) A person holding a temporary license must display the license at the licensee's place of business and must use the appropriate licensed title or initials followed by the word "Temporary" in all professional use of the licensee's name.

(e) Should the applicant take and fail the examination, the temporary license is no longer valid. The applicant must immediately cease and desist from using the temporary license and title, and return the license certificate and certificate card to the boardCouncil.

(f) Should the applicant pass the examination, the boardCouncil will issue the license or specialty recognition ~~in accordance with §781.405(g) of this title (relating to Application for Licensure)~~. A temporary license holder who has passed the licensing examination continues to be temporarily licensed until the boardCouncil issues a regular license or the temporary license expires.

(g) A person who failed the examination and is without a valid temporary license may retake the examination under §781.412 of this title (relating to Examination Requirement).

(h) A temporary license will not be granted to an applicant who has held a temporary license for the same license category previously within his/her lifetime.

(i) An applicant for LCSW or specialty recognition is not eligible for a temporary or provisional license.

(j) Applicants requesting a temporary license must submit the application form and ~~temporary~~ fee required by the boardCouncil.

§781.412. Examination Requirement.

(a) An applicant for licensure or specialty recognition must pass an examination designated by the boardCouncil.

(b) When an applicant passes the examination, the individual has no more than one year from the date of passing the examination to complete the requirements for licensure, completing all documentation and paying all fees or the passing examination score will no longer count towards licensure.

(c) If an applicant fails the examination on the first attempt of his/her lifetime, the individual may retake the examination no more than two additional times. An applicant who has failed the examination on the first, second, and third attempts must ~~request in writing to the board to retake the examination a fourth time.~~ The board may order the applicant to complete one or more social work educational courses as a prerequisite to retaking the examination comply with Council rule 882.6.

~~(d) An applicant who fails the examination must wait the required timeframe between examination administrations. The board or executive director may waive the waiting period if the applicant petitions in writing, justifying the waiver in accordance with board policy.~~

~~(e) If an applicant fails the examination on the fourth attempt, the person's application will be voided. The applicant will not be permitted to reapply for licensure for one year. Each subsequent attempt must be~~

~~approved by the appropriate committee of the board.~~

(f) The ~~board~~Council may waive the examination for an applicant with a valid certificate or license from another state if the certificate or license was issued before January 1, 1986, if petitioned in writing.

(g) On the basis of a verified report from ASWB that an applicant has cheated on the examination, the application shall be denied.

~~§781.413. Alternate Method of Examining Competency (AMEC) Program.~~

~~(a) An applicant who has taken an examination within the previous 12 months and who has failed the examination on two or more occasions by no more than five points may submit a written petition to the board for an LBSW or LMSW license. It is also the applicant's responsibility to contact ASWB and secure the test scores to submit to the board. The applicant must apply, pay the administrative fee, and submit the memorandum of understanding and the findings of facts documentation to the board to be considered for AMEC.~~

~~(b) The board will consider the public interest in reviewing the petition and will issue its written decision after the next full board meeting at which the petition and the applicant's required materials are reviewed.~~

~~(c) The written decision will explain why the board has denied AMEC participation, or outline the terms of participation under which the AMEC license is granted.~~

~~(d) The participant must complete the professional portfolio, quarterly reports and other requirements within the board's required timeframe.~~

~~(e) If the participant is deficient 45 days or more from the due date provided by the commission in submitting the professional portfolio and other requirements, the participant is in default of the program, documents will not be accepted toward completion of the program and the participant will be removed from the program.~~

~~(f) If a participant is removed from the program, the participant must meet the requirements in item (a) of this section before the board will consider allowing the applicant to enter into the AMEC program again.~~

~~(g) If a participant fails to comply with the requirements of the program, or is removed from the program, the participant must wait 1 year before the board will consider readmitting the applicant in to the program.~~

~~(h) The participant must complete the AMEC program in no less than 12 and no more than 24 consecutive calendar months from the date of board's agreed order unless the board gives prior approval.~~

~~(i) An AMEC participant remains under the supervision of a board-approved supervisor until the board has reviewed the required documents and issued a final order regarding the board's issuance of a regular license. The board may require continued supervision reports.~~

~~(j) The board may grant a regular license to an applicant who successfully completes the AMEC participation terms.~~

§781.414. ~~Issuance of~~ License Certificates.

~~_(a) The board issues license certificates and license cards indicating the social work title, whether LBSW, LMSW or LCSW, granted to applicants who have met all of the board's qualifications. The board-issued license cards will indicate the license expiration date. The board shall indicate the new expiration date of a renewed license on the board-issued cards. The license certificate will also include any applicable specialty recognition or supervisory status.~~

(ba) The licensee must include the license title or associated initials in all professional uses of the licensee's name as required by the Act, §505.351, as in Licensed Clinical Social Worker - LCSW; Licensed Master Social Worker - LMSW; or Licensed Baccalaureate Social Worker - LBSW. If the licensee holds a specialty recognition, he or she shall use the specialty recognition initials as well: Licensed Master Social Worker with non-clinical Independent Practice Recognition - LMSW-IPR; Licensed Baccalaureate Social Worker with non-clinical Independent Practice Recognition - LBSW-IPR; or Licensed Master Social Worker with Advanced Practitioner Recognition - LMSW-AP.

~~(e) A licensee shall display an original board-issued license certificate, a current license card, and a copy of the Code of Conduct in a prominent place in all practice locations.~~

~~(d) The board will post its client information brochure on the board's website.~~

~~(e) A licensee who offers social work services on the Internet must include a statement that the licensee is licensed by the State of Texas and provide a copy of the Code of Conduct with the information on how to contact this board by mail or telephone.~~

~~(f) Upon a client's request, a licensee shall provide information regarding his or her license category and how to contact the board.~~

§781.415. ~~Application Denial.~~

~~(a) The board may deny an application if the applicant does not meet all requirements for licensure or specialty recognition.~~

~~(b) A person whose application for licensure or specialty recognition is denied is entitled to a formal hearing as set out in~~

Subchapter G of this chapter
(relating to Formal Hearings).

~~§781.416. Required Reports to the Board.~~

~~(a)~~ A licensee shall make written reports to the board office within 30 days of the following:

- ~~(1)~~ a change of mailing address, place of employment or business or home phone number;
- ~~(2)~~ the licensee's arrest, deferred adjudication, or criminal conviction, other than a Class C misdemeanor traffic offense;
- ~~(3)~~ the filing of a criminal case against the licensee;
- ~~(4)~~ the settlement of or judgment rendered in a civil lawsuit filed against the licensee and relating to the licensee's professional social work practice; or
- ~~(5)~~ complaints, investigations, or actions against the licensee by a governmental agency or by a licensing or certification body.

~~(b)~~ The board may use information received under subsection (a) of this section to determine whether a licensee remains fit to hold a license.

~~(c)~~ Failure to make a report as required by subsection (a) of this section is grounds for disciplinary action by the board.

~~§781.417. Surrender of License.~~

~~(a)~~ Surrender by licensee.

~~(1)~~ A licensee may at anytime voluntarily offer to surrender his or her license for any reason, without compulsion.

~~(2)~~ The license may be delivered to the board office by hand or mail. The licensee must cease practice as a social worker pending action from the board on the surrender of the licensee's license.

~~(3)~~ If there is no complaint pending, the board office may accept the surrender and void the license.

~~(b)~~ Formal disciplinary action.

~~(1)~~ When a licensee has offered the surrender of his or her license after a complaint has been filed, the board shall consider whether to accept the surrender of the license.

~~(2)~~ When the board has accepted such a surrender, the surrender is deemed to be the result of a formal disciplinary action and a board order shall be prepared accepting the surrender.

~~(3)~~ In order to accept a surrender, the board may require the licensee to agree to certain findings of fact and conclusions of law, including admitting to a violation of the Act or this chapter.

~~(4)~~ When the board does not accept an offer of surrender or when the licensee fails to renew the license, the board is not deprived of jurisdiction against

~~the licensee under the Act or any other statute.~~

~~(c) Reinstatement. A license, which has been surrendered by the licensee and accepted by the board, may not be reinstated; however, a person may apply for a new license in accordance with the Act and this chapter.~~

§781.418. Issuance of Licenses to Certain Out-of-State Applicants.

(a) Notwithstanding any other licensing requirement of this chapter or the Act:

(1) The boardCouncil may not require an applicant who is licensed in good standing in another state to retake a licensing examination conducted by the boardCouncil under the Act if the applicant has passed the same examination in another jurisdiction.

(2) The boardCouncil may issue a license to an applicant who is currently licensed in another jurisdiction to independently practice social work if the boardCouncil determines that the applicant demonstrates sufficient experience and competence; has passed the licensing examination appropriate to the category of licensure the applicant seeks; has passed the jurisprudence examination conducted by the boardCouncil under the Texas Occupations Code, §505.3545; and is in good standing with the regulatory body of the licensing jurisdiction at the time the applicant applied in Texas.

(b) When assessing the applicant's experience and competence, the boardCouncil may consider any supervision the applicant received in another jurisdiction if the boardCouncil determines that the supervision would be considered for licensing or certification in the jurisdiction in which the applicant received the supervision.

§781.419. Licensing of Military Service Members, Military Veterans, and Military Spouses

~~_(a) This section sets out licensing procedures for military service members, military veterans, and military spouses required under Texas Occupations Code, Chapter 55 (relating to Licensing of Military Service Members, Military Veterans, and Military Spouses). For purposes of this section:~~

~~—(1) "Active duty" means current full-time military service in the armed forces of the United States or active-duty military service as a member of the Texas military forces, as defined by Texas Government Code, §437.001 or similar military service of another state.~~

~~—(2) "Armed forces of the United States" means the army, navy, air force, coast guard, or marine corps of the United States or a reserve unit of one of those branches of the armed forces.~~

~~—(3) "License" means a license, certificate, registration, permit, or other form of authorization required by law or a state agency rule that must be obtained by an individual to engage in a particular business.~~

~~—(4) "Military service member" means a person who is on active duty.~~

~~—(5) "Military spouse" means a person who is married to a military service member.~~

~~—(6) "Military veteran" means a person who has served on active duty and who was discharged or released from active duty.~~

~~(b) An applicant shall provide documentation of the applicant's status as a military service member, military veteran, or military spouse. Acceptable documentation includes, but is not limited to, copies of official documents such as military service orders, marriage licenses, and military discharge records. The application of a person who fails to provide documentation of his or her status shall not be processed under the requirements of this section.~~

~~(e) Upon request, an applicant shall provide acceptable proof of current licensure issued by another jurisdiction. If the applicant has been licensed in the jurisdiction one year immediately preceding the date of application, the applicant will be deemed to have met the experience requirement under this chapter.~~

~~(d) The board's authority to require an applicant to undergo a criminal history background check, and the timeframes associated with that process, are not affected by the requirements of this section.~~

(a) An applicant applying for licensure under this section must comply with Council rule §882.60.

(b) Licensing requirements that either match or exceed Texas requirements are considered substantially equivalent.

(ec) For an application for a license submitted by a verified military service member or military veteran, the applicant shall receive credit towards any licensing or apprenticeship requirements, except an examination requirement, for verified military service, training, or education that is relevant to the occupation, unless he or she holds a restricted license issued by another jurisdiction or if he or she has an unacceptable criminal history as described by the Act and this chapter.

~~(f) An applicant who is a military service member, military veteran, or military spouse who holds a current, unrestricted, license issued by another jurisdiction that has substantially equivalent licensing requirements shall complete and submit an application form and a supplemental application form for military service member, veteran, or military spouse. As soon as practicable after a complete application under this subsection is filed, the board will process and issue a license to~~

~~an applicant who holds such a license, satisfies the application and supplemental application requirements, and meets the requisite substantial equivalency requirements of the other state, if the applicant has no unresolved allegations or criminal background relevant to the license, and there are no other facts or circumstances providing grounds for denial of the license. The license will have the same term as the applicable license type otherwise issued under the Act and this subchapter. Renewal of the license shall be in accordance with subsection (i) of this section.~~

~~(g) In accordance with Texas Occupations Code, §55.004(c), the executive director may waive any prerequisite to obtaining a license after reviewing the applicant's credentials and determining that the applicant holds a license issued by another jurisdiction that has licensing requirements substantially equivalent to those of this state.~~

~~(h) An applicant who is a military service member, military veteran, or military spouse who held a registration in this state within the preceding year of the application date, and without restriction, shall complete and submit an application form and a supplemental application form for military service member, veteran, or military spouse. As soon as practicable after a complete application under this subsection is filed, the board will process and issue a registration~~

~~to an applicant who held such a registration and who satisfies the application and supplemental application requirements, if there are no unresolved allegations against the applicant or criminal background relevant to the registration, or other facts or circumstances providing grounds for denial of the registration. Renewal of the registration shall be in accordance with subsection (i) of this section.~~

~~(i) If the board issues an initial license to an applicant who is a military service member, military veteran, or military spouse in accordance with subsection (f) of this section, the board shall assess whether the applicant has met all licensing requirements of this state by virtue of the current license issued by another jurisdiction. The board shall provide this assessment in writing to the applicant at the time the license is issued. If the applicant has not met all licensing requirements of this state, the applicant must provide proof of completion at the time of the first application for license renewal. A license shall not be renewed, shall be allowed to expire, and shall become ineffective if the applicant does not provide proof of completion at the time of the first application for licensure renewal.~~

~~(j) Notwithstanding any other law, the board will waive the license application fees paid to the state for an applicant described in paragraph (1) or (2) of this~~ subsection. An applicant shall provide any proof requested by the board that the applicant is:

~~—(1) a military service member or military veteran whose military service, training, or education substantially meets all applicable requirements for the license; or~~

~~—(2) a military service member, military veteran, or military spouse who holds a current license issued by another jurisdiction for one year.~~

~~(k) For license renewal, the board will exempt an individual who holds a license issued by the board from any increased fee or other penalty imposed for failing to renew the license in a timely manner if the individual establishes to the satisfaction of the executive director that the individual failed to renew the license in a timely manner because the individual was serving as a military service member.~~

~~(l) A military service member who holds a license is entitled to two years of additional time beyond the expiration date of the license to complete:~~

~~—(1) any continuing education requirements; and~~

~~—(2) any other requirement related to the renewal of the military service member's licensure.~~

~~SUBCHAPTER E. LICENSE RENEWAL AND CONTINUING EDUCATION.~~

~~§781.501. General.~~

~~(a) A license must be renewed biennially.~~

~~(b) A licensee must have fulfilled any continuing education requirements that this chapter prescribes in order to renew a license.~~

~~(c) Each person who holds a license is responsible for renewing the license and shall not be excused from paying penalty fees for late renewal. Failure to receive notice from the board does not waive payment of penalty fees.~~

~~(d) The board may deny the license renewal of a licensee who is in violation of the Act, or this chapter, at the time of renewal application.~~

~~(e) A person whose license has expired shall not use the terms or titles described in the Act, §505.351. The person shall return his or her license to the board.~~

~~(f) The deadlines established for renewals, late renewals, and penalty fees are based on the postmarked date or electronic submission date by which the licensee submits documentation.~~

~~(g) The board shall deny renewal if required by the Education Code, §57.491 (relating to Defaults on Guaranteed Student Loans).~~

~~(h) The board upon receipt of a final court or attorney general's order will suspend a license due to failure to pay child support per the Family Code, Chapter 232, regarding suspension of licenses. The individual must pay the~~ reinstatement fee set out in §781.316 of this title (relating to Fees).

~~(i) A license must be renewed and in good standing prior to the licensee obtaining a different category of licensure.~~

~~§781.502. Renewal Cycles.~~ The license renewal date is the last day of the month of the licensee's birth month. The first renewal of licensure following issuance of the license will be valid for a period of 13 to 24 months, depending on the licensee's birth month. Subsequent to the first renewal period, licenses must be renewed every two years, and the renewal extends for two years.

~~§781.503. License Renewal.~~

~~(a) At least 45 days prior to the expiration of a license, the board will send the licensee notice of the expiration date, schedule of renewal fees and penalties, and continuing education activities required for renewal. The licensee is responsible for renewing his/her license, regardless of whether or not the licensee receives a notification.~~

~~(b) The board will provide eligible licensees with renewal forms, soliciting the licensee's current address and contact numbers; completed continuing education; information regarding civil lawsuits and criminal complaints; any governmental agency or licensing body's action against the licensee; and a statement of~~

If the licensee claims to have made timely, sufficient application and is otherwise eligible for renewal, the license will remain current until the renewal is issued or until the board office determines that the application was not timely or sufficient.~~

~~(f) A licensee who has been recommended for disciplinary action must file a timely and complete license renewal application, pay all fees, and verify that required continuing education is complete. If he/she fails to do these things, the licensee must cease all social~~ work practice until all renewal requirements are complete.

~~(g)~~ The board may deny a license renewal if the licensee is a party to a formal disciplinary action. A formal action commences when the board mails notice described in §781.602(c) of this title (relating to Disciplinary Action and Notices).

~~(h)~~ A license that is not revoked or suspended as a result of formal proceedings shall be renewed provided that all other requirements are met.

~~(i)~~ In the case of delay in the license renewal process because of formal disciplinary action, penalty fees shall not apply.

~~(j)~~ The board may refuse to renew the license of a person who fails to pay an administrative penalty imposed in accordance with the Act unless the enforcement of the penalty is stayed or a court has ordered that the administrative penalty is not owed.

~~§781.504. Late Renewal.~~

~~(a)~~ A person who fails to meet all the requirements to renew his or her license by the renewal date ceases to be licensed.

from the expiration date may renew within one year of the expiration date by paying the appropriate renewal and penalty fees.

~~(d)~~ A person whose license has expired must document that he/she completed all continuing education requirements in order to renew the license. A licensee who has not completed all required continuing education in the renewal period shall cease practice and must complete all continuing education before the board will allow the individual to renew. In that case, the board may impose late renewal fees and additional fees.

~~(e)~~ On or after one year from the expiration date, a person may no longer renew the license and must reapply by submitting a new application, paying the required fees, and meeting the current requirements for the license including passing the licensure examination.

To be eligible for an active license through reinstatement of an emeritus license, the emeritus licensee shall submit an application for licensure at the appropriate category, as well as proof of completion of the Jurisprudence Exam within six months prior to requesting reactivation, and payment of the licensing fee. Verification of education, supervision, and examination score is not required.

~~(d)~~ An emeritus licensee who reactivates his/her license within 48 months of conversion to emeritus status may not regain board-approved supervisor status upon activation without verification of completion of minimum requirements as a board-approved supervisor in place at the time of reactivation. An emeritus licensee who reactivates his/her license within 48 months may regain other specialty recognition(s) without demonstration of meeting current minimum requirements for that specialty recognition.

~~(e) An emeritus licensee who does not reactivate his/her license within 48 months of conversion to emeritus status may not convert the license to active status except as follows. An emeritus licensee who did not reactivate his/her license within 48 months of conversion must reapply for active licensure and meet all current minimum requirements for licensure, specialty recognition, and board-approved supervisor status in place at the time of application. If all current minimum requirements for licensure are met, upon issuance of a new license and license number, the emeritus license will be null and void.~~

~~(f) A licensee who converts to emeritus status may only reactivate the license to active status once per lifetime.~~

~~§781.507. Active Military Duty.~~

~~(10)~~ engaging in conduct that discredits or tends to discredit the social work profession.

~~(b)~~ Prior to instituting formal disciplinary proceedings against a licensee, the board shall notify the licensee in writing by certified mail, return receipt requested or registered mail. The notice of violation letter will include the facts or conduct alleged to warrant revocation, suspension, or reprimand and the severity level from the sanction guide. The licensee shall be given the opportunity, as described in the notice, to show compliance with all requirements of the Act and this chapter, including the opportunity for an informal conference. A licensee's opportunity for an informal conference under this subsection shall satisfy the requirement of the APA, §2001.054(c).

~~(e)~~ The licensee or applicant must request, in writing, a formal hearing within 10 days of receiving the notice, or the right to a hearing shall be waived and the license or specialty recognition shall be denied, revoked, suspended, probated, or reprimanded.

~~(d)~~ Receipt of a notice under subsection (b) or (c) of this section is presumed to occur on the tenth day after the notice is mailed to the last address known to the board unless another date is reflected on a United States Postal Service return receipt or other official receipt.

~~(e)~~ The licensee will be considered to have received notice of board disciplinary action if the notice is mailed to the last address provided in writing to the board by the licensee.

~~(f)~~ If a notice is mailed to the last known address of the licensee, and the licensee fails to respond to the notice within 10 days from receipt of the notice, the licensee will be considered to have waived his or her right to a hearing in the matter.

~~(g)~~ If it appears to the board that a person who is not licensed under this chapter is violating this chapter, a rule adopted under this chapter, or another state statute or rule relating to social work practice, the board, after notice and opportunity for a hearing as described in this section, may issue a cease and desist letter prohibiting the person from engaging in the activity. A violation of an order under this subsection constitutes grounds for the board to impose an administrative penalty.

~~(g)~~ The review team and counsel for the board will review the complaint's case file, including the investigation report and all evidence, to determine if there is sufficient evidence to demonstrate by a preponderance of the evidence a violation of the Act or board rules occurred.

~~(1)~~ A complaint for which the team and counsel determines the preponderance of the evidence indicates a violation of the Act or board rules occurred will result in the commission issuing a Notice of Violation to the Respondent proposing disciplinary action based on the penalty matrix set by board policy and will be given an opportunity to request an Informal Settlement Conference.

~~(2)~~ A complaint for which staff determines the preponderance of evidence indicates a violation of the Act or board rules did not occur shall be dismissed.

- ~~(d) Commission staff will report on all completed investigations to committee members, including investigation results and a summary of staff recommendations for disposition.~~

~~(e) The committee will determine a complaint's validity based on the evidence and information. The committee may determine that the evidence does or does not support a finding of a violation of licensing law or rules, or the committee may request additional information for later review. If the committee finds that a social worker has violated licensing law or rules, the committee will consider the established policy guidelines and other relevant factors in recommending disciplinary action.~~

~~(f) All parties to a complaint will be notified of the committee's findings and recommendations.~~

~~§781.605. Informal Conferences:~~

- ~~(a) Informal conferences will be scheduled as needed.~~

~~licensure as a social worker because these criminal offenses indicate a tendency to be unable to perform as a social worker: a violation of the Act; failure to report child abuse or neglect; a misdemeanor involving deceptive business practices; a conviction of assault or sexual assault, and the felony offense of theft. Further, the board will also consider other misdemeanors or felonies as possibly indicating an inability to perform appropriately as a social worker.~~

~~(e) An applicant or licensee with a criminal background may provide or be requested to provide documentation of rehabilitation for the board's consideration.~~

~~(d) A person may submit documentation of rehabilitation, including court records and a~~

~~summary of the arresting event and the conditions which led to the arrest. Further, a person may submit documents related to a sentence imposed by the court, a sentence completed, or probation or parole successfully completed. It is also appropriate to submit information attesting to subsequent good behavior, letters from employers or others familiar with the person's accomplishments after being convicted, and any other information related to the applicant's qualifications for licensure.~~

~~(e) The licensee may be referred to the appropriate board committee for review and determination of eligibility or monitoring requirements. Licensees referred to the board are afforded due process under the APA.~~

~~§781.607. Suspension, Revocation, or Non-renewal.~~

~~(a) If the board suspends a license or specialty recognition, the suspension shall remain in effect for the period of time stated in the order or until the board determines that the reason for the suspension no longer exists.~~

~~(b) While on suspension, the licensee shall comply with this chapter's renewal requirements, including paying fees and completing continuing education. However, the suspension remains~~

~~in effect pursuant to subsection (a) of this section.~~

~~(c) Upon revocation, suspension or non-renewal of a license, a licensee shall return his or her license to the board.~~

~~(d) The board may refuse to renew the license of a person who fails to pay an administrative penalty imposed in accordance with the Act unless the enforcement of the penalty is stayed or a court has ordered that the administrative penalty is not owed.~~

~~§781.608. Informal Disposition.~~

~~(a) If a licensee agrees to the disciplinary action proposed by the Ethics Committee or recommended through an informal conference, the board office or board legal counsel shall prepare an agreed order, including agreed findings of fact and conclusions of law, and forward it to the licensee or applicant. An uncontested Notice of Violation executed and signed by the respondent may serve as the basis for a board order.~~

~~(1) The licensee or applicant shall execute the order and return the signed order to the board office within 10 days of receiving the order. If the licensee or applicant fails to return the signed order within 10 days, the inaction shall constitute rejection of the recommendations.~~

~~(2)~~ If the licensee or applicant signs and accepts the recommendations, the agreed order shall be submitted to the entire board for its approval. Placing the agreed order on the board agenda constitutes only a recommendation for board approval.

~~(3)~~ If the licensee or applicant rejects the proposed recommendations, the matter shall be referred to the executive director for appropriate action.

~~(b)~~ The board shall notify the licensee or applicant of the date, time, and place of the board meeting at which the proposed agreed order will be considered. Attendance by the licensee or applicant is voluntary.

~~(c)~~ Upon an affirmative majority vote, the board shall enter an agreed order approving the accepted recommendations. The board may not change the terms of a proposed order but may only approve or disapprove an agreed order unless the licensee or applicant is present at the board meeting and agrees to other terms proposed by the board.

~~(d)~~ If the board does not approve a proposed agreed order, the licensee or applicant and the complainant shall be so informed. The matter shall be referred to the executive director for other appropriate action.

~~(e)~~ A proposed agreed order is not effective until the full board has approved the agreed order.

The order shall then be effective in accordance with the APA.

~~(f)~~ The board may order a license holder to pay the consumer a refund as an informal conference agreement provides, instead of or in addition to imposing an administrative penalty. The amount of refund ordered in an informal conference agreement may not exceed the amount the consumer paid to the license holder for a service regulated by the Act and this title. The board may not require payment of other damages or estimate harm in a refund order.

~~§781.609. Monitoring of Licensees.~~

~~(a)~~ The executive director shall maintain a disciplinary action tracking system.

~~(b)~~ Each licensee who has had disciplinary action taken against his or her license or specialty recognition shall be required to submit regularly scheduled reports.

~~(c)~~ The executive director shall review these monitoring reports resulting from formal disciplinary action and notify the Ethics Committee if the licensee is not meeting the disciplinary requirements. The Ethics Committee may consider more severe disciplinary proceedings if the licensee does not comply.

~~(d)~~ Regardless of whether the board has received a formal complaint, the board may require

~~monitoring of a licensee who may pose a potential threat to public health or safety because of drug or alcohol use, mental or physical health concerns, criminal activity or allegations, and other issues which may adversely affect the public. The board may require a licensee on monitoring status to comply with conditions the board specifies. Though such monitoring is not considered a formal disciplinary action, the licensee must comply fully with the board's order or face possible formal disciplinary action levied by the board.~~

~~(e) Participants of the AMEC program in accordance with §781.411 of this title (relating to Temporary License) shall be considered to be on monitoring status until released by the board and issued a regular license.~~

~~§781.610. Due Process Following Violation of an Order.~~

~~(a) A licensee accused of violating the terms of an Order is not entitled to a formal hearing on the matter, but is entitled to a degree of due process, as follows:~~

~~(b) When it appears that the licensee has violated a term of the Order, the commission will send a Notice of Violation of the Order to the licensee. The Notice shall include:~~

~~(1) a brief statement of the acts or omissions believed to constitute a violation, including information sufficient to apprise~~

~~the licensee about the date and nature of the violation;~~

~~(2) a statement that, within 10 days of receiving the Notice, the licensee must respond in writing to explain why the licensee believes he or she did not violate the Order, or if such violations did occur, why the disciplinary action proposed in the Order should not be imposed; and~~

~~(3) a statement in large bold type that, if the licensee fails to respond, the disciplinary action described in the Order will be imposed, and further that additional disciplinary actions may be taken if the conduct constituting the violation of the Order also violates a board rule or statute: "FAILURE TO RESPOND. YOUR FAILURE TO RESPOND, WILL BE CONSIDERED A WAIVER OF YOUR RIGHT TO A HEARING. THE FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS IN THIS NOTICE WILL BE DEEMED ADMITTED AS TRUE AND THE PROPOSED DISCIPLINARY ACTION WILL BE IMPOSED BY DEFAULT. ADDITIONAL DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS MAY BE TAKEN."~~

~~(c) When the commission receives the licensee's written response, the executive director and board chair will review the response and decide whether there are sufficient grounds to find that the Order was violated and, if so, whether the disciplinary action provided in the Order should be imposed.~~

~~(d)~~ The executive director and the board chair shall write and submit their decision to the board for final action.

~~(e)~~ A decision to impose or to forego imposing disciplinary action under the terms of the Order does not preclude the board from initiating disciplinary action independent of the Order if the alleged conduct may constitute a violation of statute or rules.

~~SUBCHAPTER G. FORMAL HEARINGS.~~

~~§781.701. Purpose.~~ These rules, which cover the hearing procedures and practices available to persons or parties who request formal board hearings, supplement the contested case provisions outlined in the Texas Government Code, Chapter 2001, Administrative Procedure Act (APA), and the hearing procedures of the State Office of Administrative Hearings (Texas Government Code, Chapter 2003, and Rules of Procedure, 1 Texas Administrative Code, Chapter 155).

~~§781.702. Notice.~~

~~(a)~~ Proper notice of contested case proceedings before the State Office of Administrative Hearings, means notice sufficient to meet the provisions of the Texas Government Code, Chapter 2001 and the State Office of Administrative Hearings, Rules of Procedure, 1 Texas Administrative Code, Chapter 155.

~~(b)~~ For purposes of informal conferences, proper notice shall include the name and style of the case, the date, time, and place of the informal conference, and a short statement of the purpose of the conference.

~~(c)~~ The following statement shall be attached to the notice of hearing or notice of informal conference, in bold, capital letters of at least 10 point type: "FAILURE TO APPEAR. YOUR FAILURE TO APPEAR, IN PERSON OR BY REPRESENTATIVE, ON THE ABOVE DATE, TIME, AND PLACE, WILL BE CONSIDERED A WAIVER OF YOUR RIGHT TO A HEARING. THE FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS IN THIS NOTICE WILL BE DEEMED ADMITTED AS TRUE AND THE PROPOSED DISCIPLINARY ACTION WILL BE GRANTED BY DEFAULT."

~~§781.703. Default.~~

~~(a)~~ In this section, "default" means the respondent's failure to appear in person, by legal representative, or by telephone on the day and at the time set for hearing in a contested case or informal conference, or in accordance with the notice of hearing or notice of informal conference.

~~(b)~~ Remedies available upon default in a contested case before the State Office of Administrative Hearings (SOAH). The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) shall proceed in the party's absence and such failure to ~~appear shall entitle the commission to seek informal disposition as provided by the Texas Government Code, Chapter 2001. The ALJ shall grant any motion by the commission to remove the case from the contested hearing docket and allow for informal disposition by the board.~~

~~(c) Remedies available upon default in an informal conference. The board may proceed to make such informal disposition of the case as it deems proper, as if no request for hearing had been received.~~

~~(d) The board may enter a default judgment by issuing an order against the defaulting party in which the factual allegations in the notice of violation or notice of hearing are deemed admitted as true without the requirement of submitting additional proof, upon the offer of proof that proper notice was provided to the defaulting party.~~

~~(e) Motion to set aside and reopen. The respondent's timely motion to set aside the default order and reopen the record may be granted if the respondent establishes that his/her failure to attend the hearing, rather than being intentional or the result of conscious indifference, was in fact due to mistake, accident, or circumstances beyond the respondent's control.~~

~~(1) A motion to set aside the default order and reopen the~~

~~record shall be filed with the board prior to the board's order becoming final, pursuant to the provisions of the Texas Government Code.~~

~~(2) A motion to set aside the default order and reopen the record is not a motion for rehearing and is not considered a substitute for a rehearing motion. Filing a motion to set aside the default order and reopen has no effect on either the statutory time periods for filing a motion for rehearing, or on the time frame for ruling on a rehearing motion, as provided in the Texas Government Code.~~

~~(f) This subsection also applies to cases where proof exists that notice of hearing was served at the defaulting party's last known address as shown on the commission's records, with no evidence that the defaulting party or the defaulting party's agent actually received notice. In that situation, the default procedures described in subsection (c) of this section may be used.~~

~~§781.704. Action after Hearing.~~

~~(a) Reopening a hearing for new evidence. If new evidence is offered which was unobtainable or unavailable at the time of the hearing, and if the board deems that this evidence is necessary to make a fair, proper determination of the case, the board may reopen a hearing, including the new evidence as part of the record. The reopened hearing will~~

~~be limited to only such new evidence. All previously designated parties will be served official notice of the new hearing.~~

~~(b) Final orders or decisions. The board or its designee will render the board's final order or decision, in writing. The decision will state the findings of fact and conclusions required by law, either in the body of the order, by attachment, or by reference to an ALJ's proposal for decision. All final orders will be signed by the board chair, and his/her designee, unless otherwise permitted by statute or by these actions.~~

~~(c) Motion for rehearing. A motion for rehearing shall be governed by the APA or other pertinent statute and shall be filed with the board.~~

~~(d) Appeals. All appeals from final board orders or decisions shall be governed by the APA or other pertinent statute and shall be addressed to the board.~~

SUBCHAPTER HD. Schedule of SANCTIONS-GUIDELINES.

§781.801. Purpose. The schedule of sanctions is adopted by rule pursuant to the Act, §505.2542015(2). ~~The schedule is intended to be used by the Ethics Committee as a guide in assessing sanctions for violations of the Act or this chapter. The schedule is also intended to serve as a guide to administrative law judges, and as a written statement of applicable rules or policies of the board pursuant to the Government~~

~~Code. The failure of an administrative law judge (ALJ) to follow the schedule may serve as a basis to vacate or modify an order pursuant to the Government Code. No two disciplinary cases are the same. This schedule is not intended as a substitute for thoughtful consideration of each individual disciplinary matter.~~

~~§781.802. Relevant Factors:~~

~~(a) When a licensee has violated the Act or this chapter, three general factors combine to determine the appropriate sanction: the licensee's degree of culpability; the harm caused or posed; and appropriate deterrence.~~

~~(b) The board and ALJ may consider special factors, but the licensee is responsible for bringing these exonerating factors to light for the board or ALJ to consider.~~

~~(1) The seriousness of the violation can be a special factor. The board or ALJ may consider the nature and extent of harm caused or risk posed to the public health, safety, or welfare. How frequently the violation occurred and over what time period are also important factors.~~

~~(2) The board and ALJ can also examine the nature of the violation, as determined by the relationship between the licensee and the person harmed or exposed to harm. The vulnerability of the person~~

~~harmful or exposed to harm is an important factor. Determining the licensee's culpability is affected by whether the violation was intentional or premeditated; reflected the licensee's blatant disregard or gross neglect; resulted from error or inadvertence; and/or reflects the licensee's lack of character, integrity, trustworthiness, or honesty.~~

~~(3) Another special set of factors deal with the licensee's personal accountability, including the licensee's capacity to admit wrong-doing and accept responsibility; whether the licensee shows an appropriate degree of remorse or concern; what efforts the licensee has taken to ameliorate harm or make restitution; how the licensee has instituted a plan to ensure that future violations do not occur; and how well the licensee cooperated with any investigations and requests for information.~~

~~(4) How to prevent violations is another set of factors worthy of consideration. Determining the sanction(s) required to deter the licensee from engaging in similar violations and to ensure that the licensee abides by the other provisions of the Act or this chapter; and sanctions which can effectively deter other licensees from making similar violations are considerations that shed light on the appropriate sanction(s).~~

~~(5) Other miscellaneous factors which affect decisions on sanctions include the licensee's professional experience at time of violation; whether the licensee has previously or subsequently violated the law and rules; how the licensee has conducted himself or herself, particularly in the work setting, prior to and following the violation; any character references; and any other factors justice may require.~~

§781.803. Severity Levels and Sanction Guide. The following are severity levels ~~and sanction guides are based on the relevant factors in §781.802 of this title (relating to Relevant Factors) for the schedule of sanctions:~~

(1) Level One--Revocation of license. These violations evidence the licensee's intentional or gross misconduct, cause or pose a high degree of harm to the public, and/or require severe punishment to deter the licensee, or other licensees. The fact that a license is ordered revoked does not necessarily mean the licensee can never regain licensure. The board Council may also impose an administrative penalty of not less than $250 or more than $5,000 for each Level One violation. Each day a violation continues or occurs is a separate violation for the purpose of imposing a financial penalty.

(2) Level Two--Extended suspension of license. These violations involve less misconduct, harm, or need for deterrence than Level One violations, but require termination of licensure for a period of not less than one year. The ~~board~~-Council may also impose an administrative penalty of not less than $250 or more than $4,000 for each Level Two violation. Each day a violation continues or occurs is a separate violation for the purpose of imposing a penalty.

(3) Level Three--Moderate suspension of license. These violations involve less misconduct, harm, or need for deterrence than Level Two violations, but require termination of licensure for some period of time. The ~~board~~-Council may also impose an administrative penalty of not less than $250 or more than $3,000 for each Level Three violation. Each day a violation continues or occurs is a separate violation for the purpose of imposing a penalty.

(4) Level Four--Probated suspension of license. These violations do not involve enough harm, misconduct, or need for deterrence to warrant termination of licensure, yet are severe enough to warrant monitoring of the licensee to ensure future compliance. Possible probationary terms are set out as in §781.806 of this title (relating to Probation) and may be ordered as appropriate. The ~~board~~-Council may also impose an administrative penalty of not less than $250 or more than $2,000 for each Level Four violation. Each day a violation continues or occurs is a separate violation for the purpose of imposing a penalty.

(5) Level Five--Reprimand. These violations involve minor misconduct not directly involving the health, safety or welfare of the particular member of the public at issue. The ~~board~~-Council may also impose an administrative penalty of not less than $250 or more than $1,000 for each Level Five violation. Each day a violation continues or occurs is a separate violation for the purpose of imposing a penalty.

§781.804. Other Disciplinary Actions.

(a) Complaints may be resolved by issuance of a warning letter or a conditional letter of agreement, which does not involve a formal disciplinary action.

(1) Warning letters informing licensees of their duties under the Act or this chapter, and whether the conduct or omission complained of may appear to violate such duties.

(2) A conditional letter of agreement informs the licensee of the licensee's duties under the Act or this chapter, whether the conduct or omission complained of may appear to violate such duties, and creating Council ordered conditions for the resolution of the issues in the complaint. Staff may issue the conditional letter of agreement to the licensee, a signature by the licensee is required, and the letter will specify the disposition of the complaint. If the licensee fails to comply with all the Council ordered conditions in the specified time frame outlined in the conditional letter agreement, staff will open a new complaint arising out of non-compliance with the conditional letter agreement and/or the underlying conduct.

~~The Ethics Committee or executive director, as appropriate, may resolve pending complaints by issuing formal advisory letters to inform licensees of their duties under the Act or this chapter, and whether the conduct or omission relevant to the complaint appears to violate such duties. Advisory letters may be introduced as evidence in any subsequent disciplinary action involving the licensee's acts or omissions after the licensee receives the advisory letters. The Ethics Committee or executive director, as appropriate, may also issue informal reminders to licensees regarding other licensing matters. The licensee is not entitled to a hearing on the matters addressed in the formal advisory letter or informal reminders, but may write a response to be included with such letters in the social worker's licensing records.~~

$781.805 Schedule of Sanctions

The following standard sanctions shall apply to violations of the Act and these rules.

Insert Figure 22 TAC $781.805.

~~$781.805. State Office of Administrative Hearings. In cases requiring a hearing, the Ethics Committee, through the~~ ~~executive director, will issue a notice of violation letter to the licensee, and state the severity level and the recommended sanction, which will reflect the Ethics Committee's judgment based on the information available at that time. The evidence presented at a hearing could indicate a greater or lesser sanction.~~

~~$781.806. Probation. If probation is ordered or agreed to, the following terms may be required:~~

~~(1) General conditions of probation:~~

~~(A) The licensee shall obey all federal, state and local laws and rules governing social work practice in this state.~~

~~(B) Under penalty of perjury, the licensee shall submit periodic reports as the board requests on forms provided by the board, stating whether the licensee has complied with all conditions of probation.~~

~~(C) The licensee shall comply with the board's probation monitoring program.~~

~~(D) The licensee shall appear in person for interviews with the board or its designee at various intervals and with reasonable notice.~~

~~(E) If the licensee leaves this state to reside or to practice outside the state, the licensee must notify the board in writing of the dates of departure and~~ return. Periods of practice outside this state will not count toward the time of this probationary period. The social work licensing authorities of the jurisdiction to which the licensee is moving or has moved must be promptly notified of the licensee's probationary status in this state. The probationary period will resume when the licensee returns to the state to reside or practice.

~~(F)~~ If the licensee violates probation in any respect, the board, after giving formal notice and the opportunity to be heard, may revoke the licensee's license and specialty recognition or take other appropriate disciplinary action. The period of probation shall be extended until the matter is final.

~~(G)~~ The licensee shall promptly notify in writing all settings in which the licensee practices social work of his or her probationary status.

~~(H)~~ While on probation, the licensee shall not act as a supervisor or gain any hours of supervised practice required for any board-issued license.

~~(I)~~ The licensee is responsible for paying the costs of complying with conditions of probation.

~~(J)~~ The licensee shall comply with the renewal requirements in the Act and the board rules.

~~(K)~~ A licensee on probation shall not practice social work except under the conditions described in the probation order.

~~(L)~~ A licensee who is required to be supervised as a condition of initial licensure, continued licensure, or disciplinary action must:

~~(i)~~ submit one supervisory plan for each practice location to the board for approval by the board or executive director/designee within 30 days of initiating supervision;

~~(ii)~~ submit a current job description from the agency in which the social worker is employed with a verification of authenticity from the agency director or his or her designee on agency letterhead or submit a copy of the contract or appointment under which the licensee intends to work, along with a statement from the potential supervisor that the supervisor has reviewed the contract and is qualified to supervise the licensee in the setting;

~~(iii)~~ ensure that the supervisor submits reports to the board on a schedule determined by the board. In each report, the supervisor must address the supervisee's performance, how closely the supervisee adheres to statutes and rules, any special circumstances that led to the imposition of supervision, and recommend whether the supervisee should continue licensure. If the supervisor does not recommend the supervisee for continued licensure, the supervisor must provide specific reasons for not recommending the supervisee. The board may consider the supervisor's reservations as it evaluates the supervision verification the supervisee submits; and

~~(iv)~~ notify the board immediately if there is a disruption in the supervisory relationship or change in practice location and submit a new supervisory plan within 30 days of the break or change in practice location.

~~(2)~~ Special Conditions. At the board's discretion, one or more special conditions of probation may appear in the board's disciplinary order that places a licensee on probation. Those special conditions and example wording are described in the following subparagraphs of this paragraph:

~~(A)~~ Actual Suspension. As part of probation, the license is suspended for a period of (example: one) year beginning the effective date of this order.

~~(B)~~ Drug/Medication Use. The licensee shall abstain completely from using or possessing controlled substances and dangerous drugs as defined by law, or any drugs requiring a prescription except those medications which a licensed physician lawfully prescribes for a bona fide illness or condition.

~~(C)~~ Alcohol. The licensee shall abstain completely from using alcoholic beverages.

~~(D)~~ Body Fluid or Hair Follicle Testing. The licensee shall immediately submit to appropriate testing, at the licensee's cost, upon the board's written request or order.

~~(E)~~ Rehabilitation Program. Within (example: 30) days of the effective date of the order, the licensee shall submit to the board for its prior approval a rehabilitation program in which the licensee shall participate at least weekly for at least (example: 50) weeks of the calendar year for the duration of probation. In the periodic reports to the board, the licensee shall document continuing participation in this program, including the dates of the weekly meetings attended and the address of each meeting. At the end of the required period, the rehabilitation program director shall document to the board that the licensee has completed the program and has made arrangements for appropriate follow-up.

~~(F)~~ Community Service. Within (example: 60) days of the effective date of the order, the licensee shall submit to the board for its prior approval a community service program in which the licensee shall provide ~~free regular social work services to a community or charitable facility or agency for at least (example: 20) hours a month for the first (example: 24) months of probation.~~

~~(G) Medical Evaluation~~

~~Treatment. Within (example: 30) days of the effective date of the order, and periodically thereafter as the board or its designee may require, the licensee shall undergo a medical evaluation by a licensed physician who shall furnish a medical report to the board or its designee. If the board or its designee requires the licensee to undergo medical treatment, the licensee shall, within (example: 30) days of the requirement notice, submit to the board for its prior approval the name and qualifications of a physician of the licensee's choice. Upon the board's approval of the treating physician, the licensee shall undergo and continue medical treatment until further notice from the board. The licensee shall have the treating physician submit periodic reports to the board as the board directs. In cases where the evidence demonstrates that medical illness or disability was a contributing cause of the violations, the licensee shall not engage in the practice of social work until the board notifies the licensee that the board has determined that the licensee is medically fit to practice safely.~~

~~(H)~~

~~Psychosocial/Psychological/Psychiatric Evaluation. Within (example: 30) days of the effective date of the decision, and periodically thereafter as required by the board or its designee, the licensee shall undergo evaluation by a licensed professional (social worker, psychologist, or psychiatrist) selected by the board. The evaluator shall furnish a written report to the board or its designee regarding the licensee's judgment and ability to function independently and safely as a social worker and any other information the board may require. The licensee shall pay all evaluation costs. The licensee shall execute a release of information authorizing the evaluator to release all information to the board. The board will treat the evaluation as confidential. If the evidence demonstrates that physical illness or mental illness was a contributing cause of the violations, the licensee shall not engage in the practice of social work until the board determines that the licensee is medically fit to practice safely and so notifies the licensee.~~

~~(I) Ethics Course.~~

~~Within (example: 60) days of the effective date of the order, the licensee shall select and submit to the board or its designee for prior approval a course in (example: ethics), which the licensee shall take and~~ successfully complete as directed by the board.

~~(J) Supervision of the Licensee's Practice. Within (example: 30) days of the effective date of this order, the licensee shall submit to the board for its prior approval the name and qualifications of three proposed supervisors. Each proposed supervisor shall be licensed in good standing and be a board-approved supervisor with expertise in the licensee's field of practice. The supervisor must review and maintain a copy of the board order and must ensure that the supervisory content relates to the licensee's rehabilitation and fitness for practice. The supervisor shall submit to the board quarterly written reports (or other time periods the board may specify), verifying that the supervisor and supervisee have met together in the same geographical location to engage in required supervision of at least one hour per week (or other time periods the board may specify), in individual face-to-face meetings, and including an evaluation of the licensee's performance. The licensee will bear all supervision costs and is responsible for assuring that the required reports are filed in a timely fashion. The licensee shall give the supervisor access to the licensee's fiscal and client records. The supervisor shall be independent, with no current or prior business, professional or~~

~~personal relationship with the licensee. The licensee shall not practice until the board has approved the designated supervisor and so notified the licensee. If the supervisor ceases supervision, the licensee shall not practice until the board has approved a new supervisor. The supervisor and licensee shall inform the board in writing within 10 business days of supervision termination, or any substantive change to the supervision plan; these changes are subject to the board's approval. Board-ordered supervision shall comply with relevant requirements of §781.404 of this title (relating to Recognition as a Board-approved Supervisor and the Supervision Process) as well as all other laws and rules.~~

~~(K) Psychotherapy. Within (example: 60) days of the effective date of the order, the licensee shall submit to the board for its prior approval the name and qualifications of one or more therapists of the licensee's choice. The therapist shall possess a valid license and shall have had no current or prior business, professional or personal relationship with the licensee. Upon the board's approval, the licensee shall undergo and continue treatment, for which the licensee pays all costs, until the board determines that no further psychotherapy is necessary. The licensee shall execute a release of information~~ authorizing the therapist to divulge information to the board, and will have the treating psychotherapist submit periodic reports as the board requires. If the therapist believes the licensee cannot safely continue to render services, the therapists will notify the board immediately.

~~(L)~~ Education. The licensee shall successfully complete any remedial education the board requires.

~~(M)~~ Take and Pass Licensure Examinations. The licensee shall take and pass the licensure examination currently required of new applicants for the license possessed by the licensee. The licensee shall pay the established examination fee.

~~(N)~~ Peer Assistance Program. Within (example: 30) days of the effective date of the order, the licensee shall participate in a board-approved Peer Assistance Program in which the licensee shall participate at least (example: weekly) for at least (example: 50) weeks of the calendar year for the duration of probation. requirements of this state, the applicant must provide proof of completion at the time of the first application for license renewal. A license may not be renewed, is allowed to expire, and becomes ineffective if the applicant does not provide proof of completion at the time of the first application for license renewal.

~~§801.231 Purpose~~

~~The purpose of this subchapter is to establish the rules governing licensure renewal, late renewal, surrender of license, and inactive status.~~

~~§801.232 General License Renewal~~

~~(a) A licensee must renew the license biennially or by the expiration date, whichever comes first.~~

~~(b) Each licensee is responsible for renewing licensure and paying the renewal fee before the expiration date and may not be excused from paying late renewal fees or renewal penalty fees.~~

~~(c) A licensee must satisfy continuing education requirements prescribed by the board in order to renew licensure.~~

~~(d) A licensee whose license is not renewed due to failure to meet all requirements for licensure renewal must return his or her license certificate to the board and may not advertise or represent himself or herself as an LMFT Associate or LMFT in any manner.~~

~~(e) The board will deny renewal if required by the Texas Education Code, §57.491, relating to default on a guaranteed student loan.~~

~~(f) The board may refuse to renew the license of a person who fails to pay an administrative penalty imposed in accordance with the Act unless the enforcement of the penalty is stayed or a court has ordered that the administrative penalty is not owed.~~

§801.233 Staggered Renewals

The board uses a staggered system for licensure renewals; the renewal date of an LMFT license shall be the last day of the licensee's birth month.

§801.234 Licensure Renewal

(a) At least 30 days before the expiration date of a person's license, the board will send notice to the licensee of the expiration date of the license, the amount of the renewal fee due, and a licensure renewal form which the licensee must complete and return to the board with the required fee. The licensure renewal form may be completed electronically if available. Failure to receive notice does not relieve the licensee from the responsibility to timely renew.

(b) The licensure renewal form will require the licensee to provide current addresses, telephone numbers, and information regarding completion of continuing education requirements.

(c) A license is not renewed until the board receives the completed licensure renewal form and the renewal fee, and the licensee has complied with the continuing education requirements. The board or its designee may grant the licensee additional time to complete continuing education requirements based on extraordinary circumstances, such as medical complications.

(d) The board will issue a renewal card to a licensee who has met all requirements for renewal.

§801.235 Late Renewal

(a) A person who renews a license after the expiration date but on or before 90 days after the expiration date must pay the renewal fee and late renewal fee prescribed in §801.18 of this title (relating to Fees).

(b) A person whose license was not renewed on or before 90 days after the expiration date may renew before one year after the expiration date by paying the renewal fee and late renewal fee prescribed in §801.18 of this title.

(c) A person whose license was not renewed before one year after the expiration date may reapply for a license, submitting to examination and complying with current requirements and procedures for obtaining an original license.

(d) The board may renew without re-examination an expired license of a person who was an LMFT in this state, moved to another state, and is currently licensed as a marriage and family therapist and has been in practice in the other state for the two years preceding application. The person must pay to the board a fee equal to the examination fee for the license.

§801.236 Inactive Status

(a) A licensee may request his or her active license be placed on inactive status by submitting to the board the designated form and fee prescribed in §801.18 of this title (relating to Fees).

(b) A licensee cannot practice while the license is inactive.

~~(c) Board-approved supervisory authority is relinquished upon moving the license to inactive status.~~

~~(d) Inactive licenses remain subject to disciplinary action by the board.~~

~~(e) No continuing education is required while a license is inactive.~~

~~(f) To return an inactive license to active status the licensee must submit:~~

~~(1) the reactivation form designated by the board;~~

~~(2) the reactivation fee as prescribed in §801.18 of this title;~~

~~(3) proof of completion of jurisprudence exam, no more than six months before submitting request for active status; and~~

~~(4) proof of completion of continuing education for the licensee's current two-year renewal period.~~

~~(a) A licensee may at any time voluntarily offer to surrender his or her license for any reason, without compulsion. If there is no complaint pending, board staff may accept the surrender and void the license.~~

~~(b) When a licensee has offered to surrender his or her license after a complaint has been filed which alleges violations of the Act or this chapter, the board may consider whether to accept the license surrender. If the board accepts such a surrender, that surrender is deemed to be the result of a formal disciplinary action and will be reported as a formal disciplinary action. Surrender of a license without acceptance by the board does not deprive the board of jurisdiction over the licensee in accordance with the Act or other law.~~

~~(c) Reinstatement. A license which has been surrendered and accepted may not be reinstated; however, a person may apply for a new license in accordance with the Act and this chapter.]~~

~~[SUBCHAPTER K. CONTINUING EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS.]~~

~~[§801.261 Purpose~~

~~The purpose of this subchapter is to establish the continuing education requirements for the renewal of licensure which a licensee must complete biennially or as appropriate for licensure renewal. These requirements are intended to maintain and improve the quality of professional services in marriage and family therapy provided to the public; and keep the licensee knowledgeable of current research, techniques, and practice; and provide other resources which~~

~~will improve skill and competence in marriage and family therapy. Continuing education hours must be relevant to the practice of marriage and family therapy.]~~

~~[§801.262 Deadlines~~

~~Continuing education requirements for renewal must be fulfilled during board-designated periods beginning on the first day of a licensee's renewal period and ending on the last day of the licensee's renewal period. These renewal periods are generally biennial, but if the renewal is related to the issuance of an initial license, the period may be for a period of 13 to 24 months, depending on the licensee's birth month.]~~

§801.263 Requirements for Continuing Education

~~(B) Complaints that state a violation of the Act or board rules in this chapter will be investigated by board staff.~~

The board may require a licensee on monitoring status to comply with specified conditions set forth by the board. A licensee placed on this type of monitoring is not considered to have formal disciplinary action taken against his or her license, but must comply fully with the board order or face possible formal disciplinary action. Factors that may constitute a potential threat to public health or safety may include reports of chemical abuse by a licensee, mental or physical health concerns, or criminal activity or allegations, whether pending or in final disposition by a court of law.~~

~~(C) ensure that the supervisor submits reports to the board on a schedule determined by the board. In each report, the supervisor must address the supervisee's performance, how closely the supervisee adheres to statutes and rules, any special circumstances that led to the imposition of supervision, and recommend whether the supervisee should continue licensure. If the supervisor does not recommend the supervisee for continued licensure, the supervisor must provide specific reasons for not recommending the supervisee. The board may consider the~~ supervisor's reservations, after giving the licensee formal notice and the opportunity to be heard, as grounds for further disciplinary action; and

(D) notify the board immediately if there is a disruption in the supervisory relationship or change in practice location, and submit a new supervisory plan within 30 days of the break or change in practice location.

~~(2) The supervisor who agrees to provide board-ordered supervision of a licensee who is under board disciplinary action must understand the board order and follow the supervision stipulations outlined in the order. The supervisor must address with the licensee those professional behaviors that led to board discipline, and must help to remediate those concerns while assisting the licensee to develop strategies to avoid repeating illegal, substandard, or unethical behaviors.~~

~~(3) Board-ordered and mandated supervision timeframes are specified in the board order.~~

~~(3) The complaint alleging non-compliance is processed per §801.296 of this title (related to Complaint Procedures) and may result in more severe disciplinary action.~~

~~(4) The licensee must continue supervision and all requirements set forth in the board order, including periodic reports, until the complaint alleging non-compliance is resolved.]~~

~~[§801.298 Default Orders~~

~~(a) If a right to a hearing is waived, the board may consider an order taking disciplinary action as described in the written notice to the respondent.~~

~~(b) The respondent, usually a licensee or applicant, and the complainant will be notified of the date, time, and place of the board meeting at which the default order will be considered. Attendance is voluntary.~~

~~(c) Upon an affirmative majority vote, the board will enter an order imposing appropriate disciplinary action.]~~

~~[§801.299 Administrative Penalties~~

~~(a) The assessment of an administrative penalty is governed by the Act. An administrative penalty may be assessed for any violation, as determined by the Ethics Committee. An administrative penalty may be assessed in lieu of, or in addition to, other disciplinary actions.~~

~~(b) A hearing to assess administrative penalties will be governed by Subchapter O of this chapter (relating to Formal Hearings) except where the subchapter is in conflict with the Act.~~

~~(1) record the suspension of the license in the board's records;~~

~~(2) report the suspension as appropriate; and~~

~~(3) demand surrender of the suspended license.~~

~~(b) The board will implement the terms of a final court or attorney general's order suspending a license without additional review or hearing. The board will provide notice as appropriate to the licensee or to others concerned with the license.~~

~~(c) The board may not modify, remand, reverse, vacate, or stay a court or attorney general's order suspending a license issued under the Texas Family Code, Chapter 232 and may not review, vacate, or reconsider the terms of an order.~~

~~(d) A licensee who is the subject of a final court or attorney general's order suspending his or her license is not entitled to a refund for any fee paid to the board.~~

~~(e) If a suspension overlaps a license renewal period, an individual with a license suspended under this section must comply with the normal renewal procedures in the Act and this chapter; however, the license will not be renewed until subsections (g) and (h) of this section are met.~~

~~(f) An individual who continues to use the titles "Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist," "LMFT," "Provisional Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist," "Provisional LMFT," "Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist Associate," "LMFT Associate," "Provisional Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist Associate," or "Provisional LMFT Associate" after the issuance of a court or attorney general's order suspending the license is liable for the same civil and criminal penalties provided for engaging in the prohibited activity without a license or while a license is suspended as any license holder of the board.~~

~~(g) On receipt of a court or attorney general's order vacating or staying an order suspending a license, the executive director or executive director's designee will issue the affected license to the individual if the individual is otherwise qualified for the license.~~

~~[§801.301 Relevant Factors~~

~~When a licensee has violated the Act or this chapter, three general factors combine to determine the appropriate sanction which include: the culpability of the licensee; the harm caused or posed; and the requisite deterrence. A complaint may be resolved by issuance of a warning letter or a conditional letter of agreement~~[with actions which are not considered formal disciplinary actions. These include: issuance of an advisory notice, warning letter, or informal reminder; issuance of a "Conditional Letter of Agreement;" or other actions as deemed appropriate by the board or the complaint review team. The licensee is not entitled to a hearing on the matters set forth in the notice, letter, reminder, "Conditional Letter of Agreement," or other action but may submit a written response that is included in the complaint record. Such actions may be introduced as evidence in any subsequent disciplinary action involving acts or omissions after receipt of the notice, letter, reminder, "Conditional Letter of Agreement," or other action]~~ which does not involve a formal disciplinary action.

(2) ~~[A "Conditional Letter of Agreement."]~~ A "Conditional Letter of Agreement" informs the licensee of the licensee's ~~[respondent of his or her]~~ duties under the Act, the Council Act, or council rules ~~[or this chapter]~~, whether the conduct or omission complained of appears to violate such duties, and creating council ~~[board]~~-ordered conditions for the long-term resolution of the issues in the complaint. This "Conditional Letter of Agreement" specifies the immediate disposition of the complaint. The licensee ~~[respondent]~~ is issued the "Conditional Letter of Agreement" by staff ~~[as directed by the complaint review team]~~; a signature of agreement by the licensee ~~[respondent]~~ is ~~[not]~~ required. If the licensee ~~[respondent]~~ fails to comply with all the council ~~[board]~~-ordered conditions in the specified time frame outlined in the "Conditional Letter of Agreement," staff will open a new complaint arising out of the ~~[alleging]~~ non-compliance with a "Conditional Letter of Agreement" or the underlying conduct ~~[and the complaint alleging non-compliance is processed per §801.296 (relating to Complaint Procedures). ~~(a) Staff will open a complaint upon receipt of a report of disciplinary action against a licensee by another health licensing board in this state or any other jurisdiction.~~

~~(b) The disciplinary action imposed on a licensee who is disciplined by another health licensing board in this state or any other jurisdiction is the disciplinary action applicable to the same conduct or rule violation under board rules.~~

~~(c) A voluntary surrender of a license in lieu of disciplinary action or during an investigation by another health licensing board in this state or any other jurisdiction constitutes disciplinary action under this rule. Staff will open a complaint and the disciplinary action imposed is the disciplinary action applicable under board rules to the alleged conduct as if proved.]~~

~~[SUBCHAPTER M LICENSING OF PERSONS WITH CRIMINAL BACKGROUNDS]~~

~~[§801.331 Purpose of Criteria for Licensing of Persons with Criminal Backgrounds]~~

~~The purpose of this subchapter is to comply with Texas Occupations Code, Chapter 53 (relating to Consequences of Criminal Conviction) by establishing guidelines and criteria regarding the eligibility of persons with criminal backgrounds to obtain licenses as an LMFT or LMFT Associate.]~~

~~[§801.332 Criminal Conviction]~~

~~(a) The board may suspend or revoke an existing license, disqualify a person from receiving a license, or deny a person the opportunity to be examined for a license because of a person's conviction of a felony or misdemeanor if the crime directly relates to the duties and responsibilities of a licensee or if the crime involves moral turpitude.~~

~~(b) In considering whether a criminal conviction directly relates to the occupation of a licensee, the board will consider:~~

~~(1) the nature and seriousness of the crime;~~

~~(2) the relationship of the crime to the purposes for requiring a license. The following felonies and misdemeanors relate to the license because these criminal offenses indicate an inability, or a tendency to be unable, to perform as a therapist:~~

~~(A) the misdemeanor of knowingly or intentionally acting as a therapist without a license;~~

~~(B) a misdemeanor or a felony offense under various chapters of the Texas Penal Code;~~

- ~~(i) concerning Title 5, which relates to offenses against the person;~~

- ~~(4) the extent to which a license might offer an opportunity to engage in further criminal activity of the same type as that in which the person previously had been involved; and~~
- ~~(5) the relationship of the crime to the ability, capacity, or fitness required to perform the duties and discharge the responsibilities of an LMFT or LMFT Associate. In making this determination, the board will apply the criteria outlined in Texas Occupations Code, Chapter 53.]~~

~~[SUBCHAPTER N INFORMAL SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES]~~

~~[§801.351 Informal Settlement Conference]~~

- ~~(a) Informal disposition of a complaint as prescribed in §801.296 of this title (relating to Complaint Procedures) may be made through an informal settlement conference.~~
- ~~(b) An informal settlement conference is voluntary and is not a prerequisite to a formal hearing.~~
- ~~(c) The executive director will schedule the time, date and place of the informal settlement conference, and provide written notice to the respondent or respondent's attorney.~~
- ~~(1) Notice will be provided no less than ten calendar days before the date of the conference to the last known address of respondent or respondent's attorney by certified or registered mail or by personal delivery. The ten days begin on the date of mailing or delivery. The respondent or respondent's attorney may waive the ten-day notice requirement.~~
- ~~(2) The notice will inform the respondent or respondent's attorney of the name and style of the case, the date, time, and place of the informal settlement conference, and a short statement of the purpose of the informal settlement conference as well as a reference to this section of board rules.~~
- ~~(3) The notice of informal settlement conference includes the following statement in bold, capital letters of at least 10-point type: "Failure to appear. Your failure to appear for the informal settlement conference, in person or by representative, on the above date, at the appointed time and place, will be considered a waiver of your right to an informal settlement~~ conference and a formal hearing. The factual allegations will be deemed admitted as true and the proposed disciplinary action will be imposed by default."

(d) Staff may send notice of the informal settlement conference to the complainant at his or her last known address or by personal delivery. If sent, the notice informs the complainant that he or she may appear and testify or may submit a written statement for consideration at the informal settlement conference.

(e) The respondent's or respondent's attorney's attendance and participation in an informal settlement conference is voluntary.

(f) At least one board member will attend an informal settlement conference.

(g) The board's legal counsel or an attorney from the Office of the Attorney General will attend each informal settlement conference. The board member(s) or staff may ask the attorney for assistance at any time during the informal settlement conference. During periods of consultation between the board member(s), staff, and the board's legal counsel, all other attendees may be asked to leave the room.

(h) The conference is informal and does not follow the procedures established in this chapter for contested cases and formal hearings.

(i) Access to the board's investigative file may be prohibited or limited in accordance with the Public Information Act, the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), and other applicable law.

(j) At the discretion of the board member(s) or executive director, a recording may be made of some or all of the informal settlement conference.

(k) The board member(s), the board's legal counsel, staff, or respondent or respondent's attorney may question witnesses, make relevant statements, present statements of persons not in attendance, and present such other evidence as may be appropriate.

(l) The complainant is not a party in the informal settlement conference but, if attending, will be offered the opportunity to speak. Any written statement submitted by the complainant will be reviewed at the conference.

(m) Subject to the discretion of the board, witnesses or other attendees may be allowed in the meeting only during their testimony.

(n) At the conclusion of the informal settlement conference, the board member(s), the board's legal counsel, or staff may make a proposal for an informal settlement of the complaint.

(o) The respondent or respondent's attorney may either accept or reject the settlement recommendations at the conference.

(1) If the recommendations are accepted, staff will prepare and send an agreed order to the last known address of the respondent or respondent's attorney by certified or registered mail or by personal delivery. The agreed order contains findings of fact and conclusions of law.

~~(A) The respondent must sign and return the order within ten calendar days of his or her receipt of the order. If the respondent or respondent's attorney fails to return the signed order within the stated time period, the inaction will constitute rejection of the settlement recommendations.~~

~~(B) The executive director will place the agreed order on the board agenda; the agreed order constitutes only a recommendation for approval by the informal settlement conference board member(s), board's attorney, or staff.~~

~~(C) Staff will send notice of the board meeting to the last known address of the respondent or respondent's attorney by certified or registered mail or by personal delivery. The meeting notice will include the date, time, and place of the board meeting. Attendance by the respondent or respondent's attorney is voluntary.~~

~~(D) The executive director will present the agreed order with the respondent's signature to the board for review. The board may not change the terms of a proposed order and may only approve or reject an agreed order unless the respondent or respondent's attorney is present at the board meeting and agrees to other terms proposed by the board.~~

~~(i) Upon an affirmative majority vote, the board executes the agreed order approving the accepted settlement recommendations.~~

~~(ii) If the board rejects a proposed agreed order, the matter is referred to the executive director for appropriate action.~~

~~(E) An agreed order is not effective until approved and executed by the board. The order is then effective in accordance with the APA, §2001.054(e).~~

~~(2) If the respondent or respondent's attorney rejects the proposed settlement, the matter will be referred to the executive director for appropriate action.~~

~~(p) A licensee's opportunity for an informal settlement conference under this subchapter satisfies the requirement of the APA, §2001.054(e).~~

~~(q) The board may order a respondent to pay a refund to a consumer as provided in an agreement resulting from an informal settlement conference instead of or in addition to imposing an administrative penalty. The amount of a refund ordered as provided in an agreement resulting from an informal settlement conference may not exceed the amount the consumer paid to the respondent for a service regulated by the Act and this title. The board may not require payment of other damages or estimate harm in a refund order.]~~

~~[SUBCHAPTER O FORMAL HEARINGS]~~

~~[§801.361 Purpose]~~

~~The purpose of this subchapter is to establish rules governing the hearing procedures and practices that are available to persons or parties who request formal hearings from the board. The intended effect of these rules is to supplement the contested case provisions of the Texas Government Code, Chapter 2001, Administrative Procedure Act (APA), the hearing procedures of the State Office of Administrative Hearings (Texas Government Code, Chapter 2003 and~~ Rules of Procedure, 1 Texas Administrative Code, Chapter 155), and to make the public aware of these procedures and practices.]

[§801.362 Proper Notice

(a) For purposes of contested case proceedings before the State Office of Administrative Hearings, proper notice means notice sufficient to meet the provisions of the Texas Government Code, Chapter 2001 and the State Office of Administrative Hearings Rules of Procedure, 1 Texas Administrative Code, Chapter 155.

(b) The notice of formal hearing will include the following statement in bold, capital letters of at least 10-point type:

Attached Graphic]

FAILURE TO APPEAR. YOUR FAILURE TO APPEAR FOR THE FORMAL HEARING, IN PERSON OR BY REPRESENTATIVE, ON THE ABOVE DATE, AT THE APPOINTED TIME AND PLACE, WILL BE CONSIDERED A WAIVER OF YOUR RIGHT TO A HEARING. THE FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS WILL BE DEEMED ADMITTED AS TRUE AND THE PROPOSED DISCIPLINARY ACTION WILL BE IMPOSED BY DEFAULT.

[§801.363 Default

(a) For purposes of this section, default means the failure of the respondent to appear in person, or by legal representative, or by telephone on the day and at the time set for hearing in a contested case or informal settlement conference in accordance with the notice of hearing or notice of informal settlement conference.

(b) Remedies available upon default in a contested case before the State Office of Administrative Hearings (SOAH). The Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) will proceed in the party's absence and such failure to appear entitles the board to seek informal disposition as provided by the Texas Government Code, Chapter 2001. The ALJ will grant any motion by the board to remove the case from the contested hearing docket and allow for informal disposition by the board.

(c) Remedies available upon default in an informal settlement conference. The board may proceed to make such informal disposition of the case as it deems proper, as if no request for hearing had been received.

(d) The board may enter a default judgment by issuing an order against the defaulting party in which the factual allegations in the notice of violation or notice of hearing are deemed admitted as true without the requirement of submitting additional proof, upon the offer of proof that proper notice was provided to the defaulting party.

(e) Motion to set aside and reopen. A timely motion by the respondent to set aside the default order and reopen the record may be granted if the respondent establishes that the failure to attend the hearing was neither intentional nor the result of conscious indifference, and that such failure was due to mistake, accident, or circumstances beyond the respondent's control.

~~(1) The respondent must file a motion to set aside the default order and reopen the record with the board before the time the order of the board becomes final, pursuant to the provisions of the Texas Government Code.~~

~~(2) A motion to set aside the default order and reopen the record is not a motion for rehearing and is not considered a substitute for a motion for rehearing. The filing of a motion to set aside the default order and reopen has no effect on either the statutory time periods for the filing of a motion for rehearing or on the time period for ruling on a motion for rehearing, as provided in the Texas Government Code.~~

~~(f) This subsection also applies to cases where service of the notice of hearing on a defaulting party is shown only by proof that the notice was sent to the party's last known address as shown in the board's records, with no showing of actual receipt by the defaulting party or the defaulting party's agent. In that situation, the default procedures described in subsection (c) of this section may be used if there is credible evidence the notice of hearing was sent by certified or registered mail or personal delivery to the defaulting party's last known address.]~~

~~[§801.364 Action after Hearing~~

~~(a) Reopening of hearing for new evidence.~~

~~(1) The board may reopen a hearing where new evidence is offered which was unobtainable or unavailable at the time of the hearing.~~

~~(2) Staff will reopen a hearing to include such new evidence as part of the record if the board deems such evidence necessary for a proper and fair determination of the case. The reopened hearing will be limited to only such new evidence.~~

Methodology for BHEC Fee Calculations

Council Members:

As a follow-up to our discussions at the March 2nd Executive Council meeting and some discussion had at the April 17th LMFT board meeting about how BHEC's fees were calculated, I wanted to provide a brief explanation of how we arrived at those figures.

Attached is the fee chart that was considered by the Council at its March 2nd meeting. The "Old Fees" column shows the existing fees if those fees differ from the fees proposed by the Council. If the "Old Fees" column is empty that means the Council is not proposing a change to the existing fee. The column entitled "Base" represents the base fee to be adopted by the Council.

In summary, to ensure we generate enough revenue to meet the requirements of our contingency rider, we:

- added $20 to all license applications
- standardized the application fee amounts for supervisory status at $50
- set, or established in the case of Soc. Workers, the renewal fee for supervisory status at $50
- increased renewal fees below $135 to that same amount. The one exception to this was LMSW-AP/LCSW renewals...their renewal fee was increased to $155 because the existing renewal fee for this license is $20 over and above the existing LBSW/LMSW renewal fee and we wanted to maintain this differential by increasing each by the same amount ($55).
- We standardized the miscellaneous fees we were all charging and of course the late fees are governed by statute.

Hopefully this will provide you with greater clarification on how we arrived at the figures in our proposed rule, but if not, please feel free to reach out to Ms. Noack or myself for further explanation.

Lastly, I have attached an Excel spreadsheet that I had Ms. Noack to prepare that will allow you to modify fee amounts as you see fit and then show you whether those modified amounts will generate the revenue required by our contingency rider. The fee chart does not include every fee that BHEC charges, but rather focuses on the major revenue generators for the agency and those generators for which we have good data showing what we can expect in terms of future numbers, e.g. LMFT Assoc. Applications received. Hopefully this spreadsheet will provide some measure of clarification as well.

Sincerely,

Darrel D. Spinks
